STATE FAIR BRINGS MANY WAR TROPHIES.
 Several Carloads of Government Exhibits Coming—German Guns From Battlefield.
 One of the biggest features of the United States government exhibits, to be shown at the State fair October 27-31, will be made up of trophies and other enemy material captured on the battlefields of France by American soldiers. The captured articles, including almost everything from a big trench mortar to a canteen, have just been brought to this country and have never before been on exhibition. With them will be shown military and naval equipment of the American forces, in addition to displays from other departments of the government.
 The character of the display of captured material is indicated by the following partial list:
 Light and heavy machine guns; anti-tank guns, rifles, and carbines, small arms ammunition, grenatenwerfers, trench mortars, hand grenades, helmets of various kinds, sabers, officers' and enlisted men's canteens, shells and cartridge cases of various sizes, trench periscopes, gas shells, smoke hand grenades, smoke pots, anti-gas alarm devices, field telephones and switchboards, signal lamps, breast reels and trench lanterns.
 Visitors to the exhibit will have an opportunity to compare the German equipment with that used by the American fighters. Among the articles furnished by the war department of the United States government are the following:
 Field gun and mount, trench mortar light and heavy machine guns, aircraft gun, rifles, trench helmets, hand and rifle grenades dummy cartridges and drop bombs, complete set of infantry equipment figures wearing different uniforms of the army, including the winter uniform supplied to troops on duty in Russia, live carrier pigeons some of which saw duty on the firing line in France, national and regimental colors, insignia and campaign badges, wireless telephone apparatus and various other equipment from the ordnance department, quartermaster corps, signal corps engineer corps, air service and medical department of the army.
 One of the feature exhibits is a collection of 32 enlarged photographs, selected from 20,000 taken by army photographers in France.

 The navy will exhibit two complete exhibition models of fighting ships, and five small models showing the application of camouflage. Other naval exhibits will be radio telephones, torpedoes and their trucks, machine guns and rifles, guns of the kind that were mounted on submarine chasers, Y guns for launching depth charges, projectiles of various sizes and winter clothing, including a set of the kind worn on submarines. The marine corps also will exhibit a large number of articles of equipment.
 Other exhibits will be shown from the department of commerce and the department of labor. Altogether the government exhibit is expected to be of great aid in bringing the public in closer touch with the activities and achievements of the government. Two freight cars are required to haul the exhibits and 8,000 square feet of floor space in which to set it up.

WILL SPEAK AT UNION SERVICES SUNDAY NIGHT, OCT. 12

Dr. George W. Young, Noted Preacher, Reformer, Soldier, Southern Orator and Gentleman.

Dr. Young comes into this State in the interest of national prohibition, and is a preacher, reformer, orator, soldier and typical Southern gentleman.
 He has been a fighter from his youth up. As a Virginia boy he ran away from home to join the famous Stonewall Jackson brigade in the Southern army. For several years he fought the Northern men, and later turned his attention to the common foe of both North and South—the liquor traffic. For nearly 25 years he has been at the front in many of the great battles for Prohibition, and has helped to capture state after state for the dry forces.
 He has campaigned on the stump for Prohibition, has conferred with legislators, both state and national, and probably knows as much about Prohibition, both general and specific, as any man in America today.

 Dr. Young is a Southern gentleman of the old school. His lank figure and aristocratic features proclaimed his place of residence without any announcement to that effect.
 Though now well along in years, he still speaks with all the vigor and fire of youth. His words are those of one who knows exactly what he is talking about and means every word he says.
 Dr. Young has been connected with the Anti-Saloon League work for a long number of years. He has traveled over the whole of the United States in the interest of the work. Few men in America have had a more prominent part in fighting the liquor traffic. He has had a great deal of experience in the legislative branch of the work and has many Prohibition measures to his credit.
 For seven or eight years Dr. Young was Assistant National Superintendent for the Anti-Saloon League.
 He is profound in thought, original in expression and convincing in logic. He brightens and emphasizes all he says with a homely humor that makes every minute of his address intensely interesting.—Homer W. Tope, Superintendent Philadelphia District Anti-Saloon League.
