LITERARY ITEMS.

Sheldon & Co. have in press and will publish this month "Sunnybank," a new novel by Marion Harland, the first continuous story from the pen of this popular writer since the appearance of "Miriam" in 1862. The many admirers of Marion Harland's first novel, "Alone," will be glad to renew in "Sunnybank" their acquaintance with many of the characters in the former tale. A collection of short stories by the same author is in preparation by Sheldon & Co. as a holiday gift-book. It will be embellished with wood-cuts, printed in tints. The title is "Christmas Holly."

Sheldon & Co. also announce a new volume by Spurgeon, entitled "Morning by Morning, or Daily Bible Readings."

A new candidate for the favor of boys and girls has just appeared in this city in the form of a little magazine entitled "Demorest's Young America," published by W. Jennings Demorest, No. 473 Broadway, at $1 50 a year.

Dr. Edward H. Dixon has in the press of Robert M. DeWitt a volume of selections from The Scalpel, of which he is widely known as the editor. A previous collection of articles from the pages of the same periodical was published ten years ago under the title of "Scenes in the Practice of a New-York Surgeon." The present one is entitled "Back-Bone, Photographed from The Scalpel," and from a cursory reading of some of the proof sheets, we can testify that Dr. Dixon's pen has lost none of its accustomed sharpness. His essays consist of tales and sketches borrowed from his professional experience; pictures of medical celebrities, painted with a free and bold hand; and ringing tirades against what he deems the humbugs and absurdities of orthodox physicians.
