THE MONEY MARKET.

In commercial paper the dealings are moderate, and few names pass at better than legal rates. Borrowers are looking for a large supply of money next week, and for lower rates. Against this hope is the fact that the National Banks are obliged on the 7th to make up a statement of their condition for the year, and will naturally desire to make a good showing. As many of them are "out of line" in legal tender, and all of them much expanded, cheap money from their action is not certain.

The year closes with an uneasy feeling among merchants, who find themselves with ample stock of goods for which there is no sale at the large sacrifices they are ready to make in order to get their affairs within safe limits. The collections from the interior are bad, and the report is general that no large demand for goods can be expected, the shelves of country dealers being now supplied beyond the ability of their customers to buy for credit even. The industry of the country is seriously deranged by the continued levy of war taxes, and the blessings of heavy national and local debt are daily less apparent, and people are fast coming to the conclusion that the Rebellion was a luxury of which the chief cost has yet to be paid by sacrifices through a long period of time.

The shrinkage in values shown during the year now closing, which has swept away the fortunes of so many traders, is fully shown by the annexed table of comparative quotations of prices in New-York:

The above table fully explains the anxiety felt in commercial circles, and for which there is no permanent relief except that to be obtained by steadily returning to specie payments and general liquidation by debtors. This process will bear hard upon the paper fortunes made in the earlier stages of the Rebellion, but there is no process known by which it can be averted.

THE MARKETS.

[Carefully reported for THE TRIBUNE.]

FRIDAY, Dec. 28, 1866.

ASHES—The market for Pots is at $8 25, and Pearls at $12@12 25.

BRICKS are without change; we quote Common Hard at $10 50@$13 50, Croton, Haverstraw, and Philadelphia Front, $25.

COTTON—The demand is fair and prices are rather more steady, though without any advance; sales of 1,825 bales at 32c. @34c. for Middling Uplands, and 35c. for do. New-Orleans and Texas.

COFFEE—No movement of importance has taken place to-day, and the market continues in rather a nominal condition. By an overnight arrival in this morning's issue a sale of 2,000 bags Rio ex steamer North America, on private terms; the stock of Rio in first hands today is 61,826 bags.

COPPER—American Ingot is dull and nominal, at 26c. for Portage Lake and Beh. 25c. for Detroit.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The inquiry for Western and State Flour is low, and with limited arrivals of the low and medium grades, these are 5@10c. better. Family brands are firm but not active; the sales are 6,000 bbls. at $8 45@$10 25 for round Superfine; $10 25@$12 25 for round Extra State; $9@$9 25 for round Extra Western low grades; $11 25@$12 25 for Shipping Ohio; $10 75@$14 10 for Trade brands, and $13@$20 50 for St. Louis Extras. We make a good deal more of the "Genesee Valley" City Mills Flour, and sales to some extent have been effected at $14 50. This is a favorite article with shippers, especially those in the South American and West India trade. Canadian Flour is in moderate supply and firm; sales of 200 bbls. at $8 75@$9 25 for Common to fair Extra; 150 barrels at $9 50@$10 50 for Fancy, and for Black Flour there is more activity and it is firmer; the inquiry is in part for shipment; sales of 1,200 bbls. at $11 62½@$11 75 for common to fair Extra Pennsylvania and County, and $12 25@$17 for Trade and Family Extras. Rye Flour is quite firm and in fair demand; sales of 300 bbls. at $6 75@$7 25. Corn Meal is dull and drooping; we hear of sales to some extent but on private terms. Buckwheat Flour is salable at $3 25@$3 75 ⅌ 100 lb.

FAMILY MARKETS.

OR LIVING EXPENSES IN NEW-YORK.

FRIDAY, December 28, 1866.

After a thaw we now have genuine cold weather again, stiffening both poultry and prices. There has been an immense stock of all kinds of poultry on the market, and during the cold weather succeeding Christmas, prices ran down to low figures 12 to 15c. per pound for soft chickens and turkeys, but though the supply is still very large, much of the stock is in a frozen state and bids fair to continue so, while everything will keep if not frozen. Fresh turkeys are now selling at about 25c., still rough and frozen lots at 18@20c. per pound. Choice chickens bring 30@35c., but there are any quantity offering at 15@18c., they have been selling as low as 12c. for poor, broken, soft lots. Venison is very plenty, quail scarce. The rough weather, with high winds, has interfered with the catch of fish, and they are now scarce and prices tending upward. Really fine butter is scarce and higher. Flour unchanged. Native fruits have generally advanced. Fine Greening apples are selling at $6@$8 50 per barrel or 75c. per half peck. Cranberries have an upward look. Lemons are plenty, and frozen or poor ones are selling at 10@12c. per dozen. Meats of all kinds are abundant, and save fine cuts of beef and veal are selling at low rates. Vegetables are advancing with a moderate stock of all kinds, potatoes excepted; these are plenty. Cold weather causes an advance in coal.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

HUDSON CITY, Dec. 23.—There has been the lightest run of cattle and the dullest market at this place for the past week that we have seen for months. Fresh arrivals are only 1,097 head, including 30 offered at One-hundredth-st. last Monday. Several small lots of State cattle not included in the above will swell the total to some 1,200, and about 300 have been received at Communipaw. Still the numbers are very light, but for in excess of the wants of butchers, who are very indifferent as to whether they buy a head or not. Most of them have a few left from previous purchases, and, with largely overstocked dead meat and poultry markets, they cannot be coaxed into buying the few cattle offered. Although the arrivals are expected to be light at One-hundredth-st. next Monday, they do not care, for they are looking for a heavy run of stock detained by storms on the Western roads, and liable to come through any day next week. Fourteen cars are now hourly expected over the Erie Road and detained for this market, but quite likely will have to be taken, with a portion now here, to One-hundredth-st. next Monday, unless they hold them over for sale here during the latter part of next week. The clear, fine, cold weather is favorable for trade, but butchers are not here to buy the cattle. Save one or two small lots of premium cattle sold at 17@18c. ⅌ lb—one lot of 14 extra fine, 16½c.; Indiana steers just sold at L. Tompkins at the bitter price—the most to called the top of the market, and outsiders are scouting of getting for fat steers at 14@16c. Many thought cattle are selling at cost, or about
