FRIDAY, Nov. 22—P. M.

Gold closed at 139¾. The disposition to buy gold on speculation is not great: with present rates of interest it is carried at high cost, and not, as has so long been the case, at the expense of speculators for a decline, ready to borrow it. The supply will be largely increased in January by the payment of interest; the liquidation of about seven millions of the public debt, then falling due, and probably by the payment on account of the Russian purchase. As matters now appear, the export demand will be small, leaving a heavy addition to the stock of gold to be carried at full legal interest. The clearings at the Gold Exchange Bank were $61,585,000, and the balance $1,591,133 05.

Government stocks generally are steady, with a moderate sale. The 10-40s sold at 101¼, which is lower. In State stocks, Railway bonds, and Bank shares, the dealings were small, at former rates. Western Union Telegraph is stronger. Pacific Mail was very active and lower, selling at 130¼@131 cash. It is stated that the Company's steerage tickets have sold at $60 through, and that the North American Company, for its ship of Monday next, is making equally low rates. The Express stocks are firm, Merchants' Union selling at 34¾ for $35 paid in. The Railway share market is steady, in the face of continued activity in call loans at 7 per cent, with commissions added in many cases. Erie is firm, and at any decline buyers are plenty. North-Western Common is very strong for both issues. For the Preferred there was an active demand at full rates. The hope that a successful attempt will be made to suspend contraction by Congress accounts for the firmness in prices and the desire to buy. The prices of most of the active railway shares would not be called high if gold was at par. Under honest management, with or without specie payments, many of the roads at current prices are as reliable and profitable investments as can be found. After the call prices were firm. At the Second Board the market was irregular. New-York Central was lower. Erie was steady, and North-Western Preferred higher and in demand. Upon reports of a cash dividend of 7 per cent in December, Pacific Mail was lower, and at the decline there was a good deal of buying to cover short sales. After the last Board, on rumors of large failures among mercantile houses, that proved false, a sharp break was made in the market. New-York Central sold at 113; Erie at 70½; North-Western, 56¾; the Preferred, 65¼. Pacific Mail was very weak, and sold down to 129. The opposition party, who purchase the stock for election purposes, found difficulty in carrying their load, and were obliged to sell other stocks to carry this. At the close the market was heavy and dull at quotations: Registered 6 ⅌ cents, 1881, 113@113½; Coupon 5-20s 1862, 108@108½; do. 5-20s 1864, 105@105½; do. do. 1865, 106½@106¾; do. New, 1865, 107½@107¾; do. 1867, 107½@107¾; Registered 10-40s, 101¼@101½; 7.30s, second, 105½@105¾; do. third, 105½@105¾; Tennessee 6s, ex-coupon, 65¼@65½; do. new, 62½@62¾; Missouri 6s, 95@98; Canton, 45½@45¾; Cumberland, 27@28; Western Union, 31¼@32; Quicksilver, 17½@17¾; Pacific Mail, 124@125; Atlantic Mail, 117@117½; New-York Central, 113@113¾; Erie, 70½@70¾; Erie, Preferred, 78@79; Hudson, 123¾@124; Reading, 95¾@95¾; Michigan Central, 109¾@110¼; Michigan Southern, 78¼@79¼; Illinois Central, 129@130; Cleveland and Pittsburgh, 82@82½; North-Western, 56¾@56¾; do. Preferred, 64¼@65; Cleveland and Toledo, 102@103; Rock Island, 95¼@95¾; Fort Wayne, 97@97½.

Money is still active at 7 per cent on call, and extra interest is often paid. Borrowers on call have got used now to high rates and pay them readily. Commercial paper sells more slowly, and the proceeds of maturing bills are being reemployed on call in many cases. More failures are reported in the shipping trade, and high rates fail to tempt money into merchant bills. Best are quoted 7½@9, with exceptions at 7, and 10@12 for bills considered strong.

Exchange is dull at the following rates: London, 60 days, 109¼@109½; do. sight, 109¾@110; Paris, long, 5.16¼; do. short, 5.13¾; Antwerp, 5.20@5.17½; Swiss, 5.20@5.17½; Hamburg, 35½@36; Amsterdam, 40¼@41; Frankfort, 40¼@40½; Bremen, 78¼@78½; Berlin, 71¼@72.

Freights to Liverpool, 7,600 bush. Wheat at 8d., 25 hhds. Tallow at 27s. 6d., 80 tuns Oil Cake at 30s., 400 tcs. Lard at 30s., 90 hhds. Tobacco at 32s. 6d., and per steamer 100 bbls. The Marietta and Cincinatti Road earned the second week in November:

1866	$26,100	1867	$30,294	Inc	$4,194

The Chicago Republican of Tuesday p. m. says:

The money market is moderately active to meet the wants of packers, who are now fairly at work. The outside demand is moderate, and there is but little mercantile paper offering. Grain operators do not require much money, but where advances are made, wide margins are in all cases required. For all legitimate business purposes the market is easy enough, but it is somewhat difficult to negotiate other than first-class securities. The rate of interest is steady at 10 per cent per annum.

Eastern exchange is still scarce and firm, and there is but little making. Between bankers it sold at 30@40c. ⅌ $1,000 premium. Counter rates were quoted at 1-10 discount buying, and 1-10 premium selling.

The Boston Advertiser says:

There was quite an active demand for money to-day, and the call at many of the banks was beyond their ability to supply. Call loans continue in good request, 6 per cent being the minimum rate, with frequent transactions for comparatively small amounts at higher rates. The rate for discounts of good home paper shows little change, bank borrowers in good standing generally getting accommodated at about 7 per cent, although higher rates are frequently charged. In the outside market there is considerable paper that pays 8 to 8½ per cent, and which is rather difficult of negotiation at those rates, although nominally ranking as first-class. Some banks reports offerings of good paper at as high as 9 per cent. The paper most in demand, however, passes under rather than over 8 per cent. New-York funds continue heavy, the banks having increased their line of deposits in New-York quite materially the past week.

The following is the weekly statement of the Boston National Banks, as returned to the Clearing-House:

The books of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company close to-morrow for the dividend which will be paid Dec. 2, as was originally advertised.

Of the British money market The London Economist of the 9th inst. says:

The condition of the trade of the country thoroughly explains the state of the money market, and affords the most conclusive answer to those who fancy, guided by a false analogy from late years, that the minute export of bullion at present indicates a speedy rise in the rate of interest. The facts are very simple; the export trade is in much the same state that it has been for the last three years.

Aggregate exports for the nine months ending 30th September:

1866	£141,936,898	1867	£137,202,497

Which are not figures that would induce us to expect a special result in the money market, and there is no particular change in the items to speak of.

But the import trade is in a curious state: the aggregate import of the year is much less than last.

Aggregate imports for eight months ending 31st August—the last for which the returns are published:

1866	£155,812,883
1867	141,446,055

But the two critical items have curiously changed:

	1866.	1867.
Cotton stands	£58,206,544	£39,752,424
Corn stands	8,192,693	14,680,438

The increase in the corn import has partly counterbalanced the great diminution (as far as value goes) in the cotton import.

It may at the first seem strange that when the imports are falling off there should be an export of bullion, but it is not really strange. Last year there was an export of bullion, which may not improbably be greater than that of this year when we can compare the two; but what is most material is, that any new trade naturally causes a demand for bullion. At first our new creditors take cash, and they gradually spend that cash as they like; every shifting of international demand causes an increased use of the precious metals. But if we contrast our creditor-countries of this year with those of last year, we shall see reason not to expect any greater demand upon our bullion this year than last; perhaps even not so great. The following is our imports of wheat, divided into the countries from which it comes:

WHEAT.

From	1866.	1867.
Russia	£2,263,829	£5,334,125
Denmark	182,637	233,112
Prussia	1,755,895	3,437,432
Schleswig, Holstein, and Lauenburg	72,284	63,098
Mecklenburg	326,064	427,061
Hanse Towns	337,494	541,816
France	1,676,745	361,220
Turkey and Wallachia and Moldavia	150,432	1,036,200
Egypt	5,565	264,344
United States	180,658	1,285,863
British North America	4,156	2,273
Other countries	1,257,024	1,900,880
Total	£8,192,693	£14,680,438

The imports of other sorts of corn, and of wheat, meal, and flour, are not, in the aggregate, very different from those of last year.

The following is our import of cotton:

COTTON, RAW.

From	1866.	1867.
United States	£29,349,669	£22,606,517
Bahamas and Bermudas	46,816	56,437
Mexico	28,591	121
Brazil	3,973,456	2,716,360
Turkey	515,714	273,333
Egypt	6,626,740	6,074,842
British India	16,139,879	6,942,842
China	78,000	29,765
Other countries	1,445,679	1,061,067
Total	£58,204,544	£39,652,424

From these figures it is evident that our largest new creditors are Continental countries, as Russia and Prussia, which do not, as a rule, take much bullion; while there is a very great falling off in our Indian debt for cotton, which has of late years absorbed so much bullion. Upon the whole, therefore, the plain state of the money market is that the capital is most abundant, as is shown by the bill-brokers' rates and the very face of Lombard-st.; and our bullion is not likely to have greater demands on it than last year, if so great, because the new countries from which this year we buy unusual corn have not so great demands upon us as those from which we have of late years bought extraordinary values of cotton, and because India, to which we had last year to pay so much, is a far more bullion-taking country than any other, perhaps more so than all others added together.

FAMILY MARKETS.

OR LIVING EXPENSES IN NEW-YORK.

FRIDAY, Nov. 22, 1867.

Poultry and Mutton are just now competing for the ascendancy, and it is hard telling which has the best of it. For a given amount of substantial food, one's money will go much further on mutton, while good turkeys are not expensive eating in comparison with other things, selling freely at 15@18c. per ⅌. They are somewhat rough in appearance, but will eat well. Fine turkeys with unbroken skin range from 20c. to 22c., and very few fancy birds reach 25c. They are offered as low as 12c. ⅌ ⅌, good at some former period, but uninviting now. Chickens, geese and ducks are selling in proportion, and in the market, outside of the market, on street in the corners, and in peddlers' wagons, everywhere, one encounters heaps of poultry, which the present soft weather is causing to be shoved upon the market. Mutton is low when cut up, but still lower when a whole sheep or lamb is purchased, and a family of ordinary size can dispose of one before there is much danger of its spoiling. Mutton keeps much longer than beef when hung up. Fat sheep are selling to-day at 4c., with good lambs at 5c. ⅌ ⅌, so overstocked are the markets. A pig, too, of 125@150 ⅌, at 9½@10c., will supply a family with pork, sausage, headcheese, and lard for some time, and as the weather becomes a little cooler, a fore-quarter of beef at 8 @9c., or a hind-quarter at about 14c., will be much cheaper than buying a few pounds at a time. The list of fresh fish is being reduced to the ordinary Winter varieties, and these are not abundant just now. In other things we have not many changes to make. Eggs are gradually working up, and there is no prospect of a reduction in butter while firkins are selling at 48c. and even 50c. ⅌ ⅌. Apples and potatoes are a little higher, with a scarcity of good Delaware sweet potatoes. A barrel of such costs $6 @$6 50, while peachblows are selling at $3 50 by the load. A barrel of Rhode Island Greenings can be bought at $4 50. We quote:
