bracing 1,690,720 tons of coal. The increase in the coal traffic is 267,542 tons, and the whole tonnage of the road exceeds that of last year 847,820 tons—nearly 16 per cent. The results of the year, therefore, show a large increase in the business of the road, both in passengers and freights; but in consequence of reduced rates of freight there is not a corresponding increase in gross revenues, while the continued high prices for labor and materials have prevented any material reduction of expenses.

The profits are chiefly derived from the main line, the Pennsylvania Railroad. The expenses of the Philadelphia and Erie Road exceeded its receipts by $354,352. This loss is explained by the dilapidated condition of the older part of the line and the unfinished condition of the rest; and by the fact that the country traversed by this line produces articles for transportation that can only be moved at low rates of freight. The company now owns or leases the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad, the West Pennsylvania Railroad, the Ebensburg and Cresson Railroad, the Tyrone and Clearfield Railroad, the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad, the Mifflin and Centre County Railroad to Milroy, and the extension of the Broad Top Railroad to Dallas. The aggregate length of these roads is 874 miles; of the main road and its branches, 348 miles; total, 902 miles. The length of the roads owned by the New-York and Erie Company is 726 miles; by the Atlantic and Great Western, 448; by the New-York Central, 512; and by the Baltimore and Ohio, 501.

An evening paper says: Several national bank officers were heard before the Committee on Banking and Currency this morning. Their purpose is the hopeful one of trying to get Congress to authorize further issues of bank notes, without any strict provisions for redemption. As the action contemplated would inflate the currency, impoverish the country, and for the sole benefit of a few national bank shareholders authorize a forced loan in its worst possible form, there is little prospect that these gentlemen will succeed.
