FAMILY MARKETS.
OR LIVING EXPENSES IN NEW-YORK.

FRIDAY, Feb. 12, 1869.

The warm weather begins to give a Spring look to the markets, for in them are found new potatoes, tomatoes, and green peas from Bermuda, and rhubarb from Long Island hothouses. There is not enough Bermuda stuff to quote; peas brought $1 25 ⅝ qt. crate. Spinach is cheaper now that it is growing during the warm days. Poultry continues scarce and high. Eggs are working down, good ones selling at 28@32c. ⅝ dozen, not counting some limed, which were sold at ⅝4 ⅝ bbl. The Winter has been very favorable for the production of eggs. A few quail can still be had at ⅝4@⅝4 50 ⅝ dozen. Pork is declining at wholesale, and is likely to reach the retail markets. Flour is easy.
