perate gangs of ruffians in the city, and was arrested a few weeks ago for a highway robbery in Fifth-ave. When arrested he denied the charge, but admitted participation in the robbery of Mr. Jackson. The police suspected Egan for some time of a knowledge of the persons concerned in the murder of Mr. Benjamin Nathan, as he is an intimate friend of Kelly, the son of the house-keeper who occupied the late Mr. Nathan's house; but no tangible clue could be obtained. Judge Bedford, in passing sentence, said: I shall take this opportunity of stating that the Recorder and myself have determined to do our utmost to check burglars and robbers in their wicked ways, and in this determination have resolved with the approbation of the District-Attorney to urge on the next Legislature the practical necessity of changing the terms of imprisonment in cases of burglaries and robberies from a term of years to imprisonment for life, holding, as we do, that all burglars and robbers will take life if occasion require it. The law-abiding citizens may rest assured that my colleague, the District-Attorney, and myself, in our endeavors to have this bill passed, will throw our official influence into the matter. If this legal medicine could be possibly administered, the system and character of a certain portion of New-York society would itself be changed. Egan was then sentenced to State Prison for 18 years and 6 months. The two thieves concerned with him in the attack on and robbery of Mr. Jackson are already in State Prison serving a term of 19 years and six months each.
