HORSE AND CARRIAGE MARKET.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Sept. 17, 1870.

The stormy weather which prevailed throughout the day prevented the market from closing as lively as it has been during the week. Early in the morning a considerable number of Western work-horses were sold; the remainder of the day but little business was transacted. Prices for work-horses and Canadian horses are unchanged; the former bring from $150 to $200, the latter from $125 to $175.

Altogether this week's sales, particularly of carriage and road horses, are much better than generally anticipated, and dealers in fine stock, who during the preceding dull season did not find it necessary to keep a heavy supply on hand, are rapidly filling up their stables.

An auction sale of horses and carriages was held to-day at the New-York Tattersalls, corner of Thirty-ninth-st. and Broadway. Owing to the unfavorable state of the weather, the attendance was less numerous than is usually the case at Messrs. Barker & Hamlin's auction sales. The horses that came under the hammer brought, nevertheless, quite fair prices.

The "Derby Wagon," brought out and patented this Fall by Brewsters of Twenty-fifth-st., is the latest novelty in the carriage line. It is a plain buggy, and from its proportions one is not led to suspect that, by a very simple contrivance—in fact, by a single pull at the back—it can be transformed into an elegant four-seat wagon, without impairing its symmetry.

The employés at the carriage manufactory of Messrs. Brewster & Co. of Broome-st. held to-day their second annual pic-nic, at Lion Park, to which celebration they turned out 200 strong, while all the departments at the factory remained closed.
