NEW MUSIC.

Lieder ohne Worte, by F. MENDELSSOHN BARTHOLDY (Novello, Ewer, & Co.) This is perhaps the handsomest edition of Mendelssohn's delightful "Songs without Words" now before the public. It is printed in fine large and clear type, with a generous page, and rich heavy paper, illustrated with a portrait and pictorial title page, and bound in scarlet cloth with ornaments of black and gold. It includes the recently published Eighth Book, and has been edited with great care.

The octavo editions of standard operas by Novello, Ewer, & Co. include, besides Don Giovanni, to the excellence of which we have already borne testimony, Wagner's Tannhäuser, and will soon be further enriched by the appearance of Lohengrin. These works are prepared for publication by Mrs. Natalia Macfarren, who has superintended the rest of the series. The Tannhäuser seems to have been very thoroughly and intelligently edited, and the composer's directions, metronome marks, &c., have been religiously transferred from the score.

Mother Goose, or National Nursery Rhymes and Nursery Songs, set to original music by J. W. ELLIOTT (Novello, Ewer, & Co.), is one of the happiest of all the efforts we have seen to give elegance and dignity to the homely favorite which in a more modest garb has delighted so many generations of children. The melodies which Mr. Elliott has written for the rhymes are within the reach of children's voices and have been tested, as we are assured, by an infantile jury. Beautifully printed and prettily bound, the volume is rendered still more attractive by excellent woodcuts, engraved by the brothers Dalziel from designs by Griset, A. B. Houghton, Francis Walker, Fraser, Wiegand, and other artists.

Novello, Ewer, & Co. have just added to their popular series of works of the great masters the Passion according to St. John, by J. S. Bach, which was performed this Spring in London. It is fitted with English words by the Rev. J. Troutbeck, but there is no indication of the hand employed to edit the score.—The greater work of the same composer, the Passion according to St. Matthew, is published by the same firm, with English words by Miss H. F. H. Johnston. This edition was prepared about ten years ago by Prof. Sterndale Bennett, who took for its basis the Berlin edition of the vocal score published by Marks in 1830, made some alterations in the piano-forte arrangement under authority of the Leipsic Bach Society's new edition of the full score, and supplied suggestions of his own as to the tempi and emphasis. For the present reimpression of Sir Sterndale Bennett's carefully prepared arrangement, Prof. G. A. Macfarren has supplied an elaborate critical introduction.—The Messiah, forming part of the same octavo series of oratorios in which fall the two works of Bach, is edited by W. T. Best.
