UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—No. 60.—New-Jersey Steamboat Company agt. Pleasonton, Collector; error to the Circuit Court for the Southern District of New-York.—In this case the Collector exacted the tax of 2½ per cent on the berth money received by the Company; the tax was paid under protest, and the suit was brought to recover the amount, the Company contending that vessels paying tonnage duties are exempt from the tax on gross receipts imposed by the 103d section of the Internal Revenue act of 1864; and that, in any case, the tax on berth money paid by passengers was not intended; such money was not paid for transportation, and was not legally taxed. The court below sustained the tax, and this court affirms the judgment. Judge Bradley dissented, holding that there was no exemption for the reason alleged, and that the berth money, being a portion of the gross receipts, were to be assessed. Justice Swayne delivered the opinion. Justice Bradley dissented, holding that the act of 1865 provided for the exemption claimed.

No. 72.—Murray agt. the United States; appeal from the Circuit Court for Wisconsin.—The bark Mary Merritt was seized at Milwaukee for an alleged violation of the Free Trade act of 1817, which provided that after September 1, 1818, no foreign importations should be made except in vessels of the United States or in such foreign vessels as wholly belong to the citizens or subjects of the country of which the goods are the growth, production or manufacture, or from which the importations can only be or most usually are first shipped for transportation; provided that the regulation shall not extend to the vessels of any foreign nation which had not adopted or should not adopt a similar regulation. The decree was for the Government in the court below, and forfeiture was the penalty. This Court finds that the act was violated, and that the vessel was not within its proviso, as claimed. Decree affirmed. Justice Hunt delivered the opinion.

No. 66.—Carpenter agt. United States; appeal from the Court of Claims.—This action was brought to recover for the use and occupation of Dutch Island, in Narragansett Bay, from August, 1863, when taken possession of by the Government under an agreement to pay for it $21,000 as a site for the coast defense, until the money was finally paid in 1868, the delay being occasioned by the necessity for an act of Congress authorizing the purchase. This Court affirms the decree below, holding that there was no ground for recovery, as persons dealing with the Government were always aware of the possibility of such delays, and were so supposed to act with reference to them. Justice Strong delivered the opinion.

No. 65.—Steaming Adelia W. Jackson et al.; appeal from the Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. This was the affirmance of a decree against the tug, in a case of collision growing out of her towing a number of canal boats down the Hudson from Albany, and, by grounding, causing the destruction of one of them, the Court holding that the accident was occasioned by her unskillful management. Justice Bradley delivered the opinion.

No. 74.—Steamship E. B. Sonder agt. Pritchard, and No. 75, Same agt. Beatty et al.; appeals from the Circuit Court for the Eastern District of New-York.—These were claims for affreuxes made to the steamship while at Maranham, Brazil, where she had put in for repairs, and the question was whether the facts showed a reliance on the credit of the ship or upon drafts drawn upon the owners. The Court below sustained the claim that the affreuxes were made upon the credit of the ship, and this Court affirms the decree on the authority of a number of cases cited. Justice Field delivered the opinion.

No. 76.—Philp et al. agt. Nock; error to Supreme Court, District of Columbia.—The plaintiff recovered $500 below for an alleged infringement of a patent for an inkstand hinge. The Court reverses the judgment, holding that the instructions to the jury were in these instances too vague and indefinite. Justice Swayne delivered the opinion.

No. 79.—Kidred agt. The Michigan Insurance Bank; error to the Circuit Court for the District of Michigan.—This was a suit upon a promissory note, the defense to which was that recovery had been had on the same instrument in the State Court for Wayne County, the Court having acquired jurisdiction of Kidred by his appearance and plea on the merits. The Court below, as claimed, refused to admit this record in evidence as a bar to the action, because when offering it counsel stated that it was a suit in attachment and in which there was no service of process; and counsel for the bank now insisted that the ruling of the Court being based upon this statement of counsel, there was no error, for a person will not be permitted to take advantage of his own mistatements. The Court, however, reverses the judgment and orders a new trial, holding that the prior judgment merged the note and no other suit could be maintained. Justice Miller delivered the opinion.

No. 86.—Hansen et al. agt. Dodge et al.; error to the Circuit Court for the Eastern District of New-York.—This was an action to restrain the defendants from using during an extended term a machine for sawing thin boards, which they had in use during the original term, as assignees of the patent for Hudson County, N. J. The Court below decided that in virtue of the right of the defendants to use the machine under the original term, it is privileged to be used by them during the extended term under the Patent Act of July, 1836, and also under former decisions of this Court. The decree is here affirmed. Justice Hunt delivered the opinion.

No. 40.—United States agt. Henry; appeal from the Court of Claims.—Affirmed.

No. 155.—Medway agt. United States; appeal from the Court of Claims.—In this case a rule to show cause asked for requiring the Court of Claims to find additional facts was denied; and on counsels of the Attorney-General the judgment was reversed, and the cause remanded for a new hearing.

No. 162.—Shrewsbury agt. United States and No. 5, ex parte United States; appeals from the Court of Claims.—Motions denied.

The Court will not sit on Friday next, but will devote the day to consultation. Motions will be heard on Tuesday.

No. 84.—Lucas agt. Brooks, jr.; error to the District Court of West Virginia.—The case was an action brought by Brooks to recover of Lucas a tract of land in West Virginia. The allegation was that Lucas took title from his father by virtue of a deed, nominally reciting that the purchase money was $15,000, while, in fact, nothing was paid, and the sale was to put the property out of reach of the father's creditors, and was in fraud of their rights. The judgment was for the plaintiff, and it is here sought to have it reversed on the grounds of alleged error in the ruling of the court. Case submitted on the printed points by Allison and Lyons for plaintiff in error, and C. J. Faulkner for defendant.

No. 95.—Amoskeag Manufacturing Company agt. United States; appeal from Court of Claims.—The Court of Claims dismissed the Company's petition filed to recover the price of certain carbines alleged to have been manufactured for the Government in 1863-4. The contract of the Government was to purchase all the carbines, not to exceed 10,000, that the plaintiff could make in six months from April 13, 1863. None were made within the time, but the number required was made and delivered by April 5, 1864, the excuse for the delay being a change in the form of the carbine proposed, as is claimed, by the Ordnance Department. The Government answered that the changes asked by the Department would not have occasioned the delay, but that the changes made of their own motion by the manufacturers occasioned it. The appeal maintains that the delay was occasioned by the orders of the Department, and that there was an extension of time. C. F. Peck and W. W. Cole for the appellant; the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General for the Government.

HORSE and CARRIAGE MARKET

MEETING OF THE CARRIAGE BUILDERS' NATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

NEW-YORK, Wednesday, Nov. 19, 1873.

The second annual meeting of the Carriage Builders' National Association (organized Nov. 19, 1872) was held to-day at the St. Nicholas Hotel. As there exists among some people a belief that this Association was organized with a view of controlling labor, or in some way interfering with the present relations between the employés and employers, it is the desire of the Association to be distinctly understood that such is not the case. There exists no intention to trench during the meetings on the question of labor and capital. The difference between city and country business even in this branch of industry is too marked to afford any opportunity for beneficial legislation at the hands of the association, whose object is simply to protect the interests of the trade as far as possible, and create a bond of amity between its members, that all might be benefited.

The meeting was called to order at 11 o'clock by the President, the Hon. C. P. Kimball of Portland, Maine. Some 60 gentlemen were present, embracing representatives of the carriage trade from almost every State of the Union, including members of leading firms from New-York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Portland, and other manufacturing centers. After the usual routine business was disposed of the election of officers took place, resulting in the unanimous return of the Hon. C. P. Kimball to the presidential chair, and the reelection of Mr. Clement Studebaker of South Bend, Ind., for Vice-President, and Mr. Wilder H. Pray for Secretary and Treasurer.

Among the more important questions which came before the Convention were the establishment of a uniform track, the subject of the guarantee of carriages, and a suggestion to memorialize Congress to protect manufacturers against the importation of foreign carriages at lower rate of duty than is charged to builders here on materials used by them, and to take measures to prevent the now frequent importation of new carriages under the pretext of having already been in use. Considering that this branch of industry represents 14,000 carriage makers, building 1,000,000 vehicles per annum, worth $100,000,000, sustaining 70,000 laborers, and thus directly controlling an immense vote, such petition could hardly fail to be favorably acted on.

Having accepted an invitation to visit in a body the Newark Industrial Exhibition, the Convention adjourned at 6 o'clock to meet again at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The local horse trade of the day was very quiet, and there was no special feature to note.
