Justice Joachimsen is to hold Chambers. During July and August, Special Term, Chambers and Part 3 are to be held by the same judge, in the new rooms, but the trials in Part 3 during those months, are to be only of marine cases and cases where persons are in actual custody.

A SEQUEL TO THE BOND FORGERIES OF 1873.

ARREST OF ROBERTS AND GLEASON ON A CIVIL SUIT OF THE NEW-YORK GUARANTY AND INDEMNITY COMPANY.

Valentine Gleason and Andrew Roberts were arrested on Saturday and taken to Ludlow Street Jail in default of $5,000 bail. The arrest was made in a civil suit brought by the New-York Guaranty and Indemnity Company for the recovery of $75,000 advanced to these defendants and others, who are charged to be conspirators with them, on forged bonds of the Buffalo, New-York and Erie Railway Company; $30,000 was advanced on 41 bonds, June 1, 1873, $30,000 on July 7, 1873, on 43 bonds, and $15,000 on August 9, 1873, on 20 bonds. The defendants are Charles Raisden, Andrew L. Roberts, Lydia J. Roberts, Charles Williamson, Valentine Gleason, Horace Corp, Amelia E. Gleason, Godfieb Engel, and Fontaine S. Pettis, alias Spence Pettis. They are the same persons against whom the National Trust Company recovered a judgment for about $30,000 before Judge Sedgwick, in the Supreme Court, last April. In that case the evidence of Spence Pettis, though he is a convicted felon in a Massachusetts prison, was used to show the details of the whole plot. Roberts and Gleason are both under indictment for the forgery of these bonds, and Roberts was tried last Summer, but the jury disagreed.

The order of arrest in this suit was issued by Judge Van Vorst, on the affidavits of F. J. Ogden, the Treasurer of the New-York Guaranty and Indemnity Company, and William W. Heartle, who has been counsel in all the proceedings instituted against Roberts and Gleason. The officers who made the arrest report that Gleason made some resistance to his arrest, and that Roberts's presence in his house was denied until an actual search disclosed him.
