THE COURTS.

THE SUIT AGAINST TWEED.

A STAY DENIED—TWEED TO PLEAD TO-DAY AND A TRIAL OF THE CIVIL SUIT IN NOVEMBER MADE POSSIBLE.

Judge Lawrence, in Supreme Court, Chambers, has denied the motion made on behalf of William M. Tweed to stay proceedings until the decision of the Court of Appeals is made on appeals taken by him from the orders of the General Term refusing to grant him a bill of particulars, or an order that the complaint be amended, and that the order of arrest be modified. Judge Lawrence bases his decision mainly on the ground that the orders appealed from are not appealable to the Court of Appeals, and in part on the ground that the General Term has already passed on the question. After analyzing the motion, Judge Lawrence says:

The granting of the stay of proceedings upon this appeal rests in the discretion of the Court, and the question for determination is whether on the papers before me a proper case is made out for the exercise of the discretionary power. One of the orders appealed from among other matters provides that the plaintiffs shall furnish to the defendant a bill of particulars. The granting of a bill of particulars also rests in the discretion of the Court, and it is settled that orders which rest purely in the discretion of the Court below are not appealable to the Court of Appeals. This has been held in numerous cases, and in the case of Tilton agt. Beecher (48th Howard, 178) the Court of Appeals held expressly that they would not decide whether the Court below, in the exercise of its discretion, should grant or refuse a bill of particulars. The appeal in that case was entertained solely on the ground that the Court below had refused to give the bill for want of power to do so. In the light of this decision it would seem to be improper to grant a stay so far as the appeal relates to the order refusing a bill of particulars, as it is apparent that such an appeal must be nugatory. A portion of the order of Mr. Justice Donohue denied the motion on the part of the defendant to strike out parts of the complaint. As to this part of the order, it would appear from the provisions of the 4th subdivision of the 11th section of the Code of Procedure that there can be no appeal. As it seems clear from the authorities cited that no part of the orders of the 8th of October are reviewable by the Court of Appeals, and that said appeals must be dismissed by that Court, I think that it would be improper for me to grant the stay applied for. An order for a stay in and of an appeal, which the appellate court, in similar cases has frequently declared it would not entertain, would seem to be an unwarrantable exercise of power.

Again the General Term of this department, in the opinion delivered on the settlement of these orders, has expressed its opinion virtually upon the questions submitted for my consideration. It has declared that as there was no stay of proceedings by the order appealed from, the strict legal result of the reversal of that order was that the defendant's time to answer or demur had expired, and after discussion on the settlement of this order the General Term granted to the defendant several days in which to answer, stating that such a provision would leave the plaintiff sufficient time to notice the cause for trial at the November Circuit.

The effect of granting a stay would practically be to set at naught the order of the appellate court, made after a full examination of the case and after hearing the parties. So far as the application for a stay relates to the order affirming the order of Mr. Justice Barrett, I feel myself obliged to deny the motion on the ground that the General Term has, by its opinion and decision above referred to, left me no alternative. As I cannot grant the stay without assuming to qualify or modify conditions deliberately imposed by the General Term after hearing, I am obliged to deny the motion.

An order was thereupon entered denying the motion. The effect of this order is to compel Tweed to serve his answer to-day. The case can then be noticed for trial for November, and having by law a preference can be tried in that month. The case will probably, however, not be actually tried till after the 9th of November, when the Court of Appeals meets.

A LAWYER CERTIFYING TO A FALSEHOOD.

The suit of Henry E. Fletcher agt. Charles H. Clark, tried yesterday in Supreme Court, Special Term, before Judge Van Vorst, is a foreclosure suit. The defense is that the mortgage is void as usurious. Robert N. Waite was counsel and principal witness for the defendant. He testified that Clark being entitled to one-third of an estate, desired to raise $5,000 on his interest. Fletcher's counsel met him and offered to advance $3,000 on mortgages for $3,500 at six months. He (Waite) finally accepted the arrangement on the understanding that if the estate were not settled within six months, further time should be given. Three mortgages, two for $1,000 and one for $1,500, were then given to Wm. E. Brusié, who at once executed assignments to the plaintiff. After this an affidavit was sworn to by Clark that there was no defense of usury, want of consideration, or other ground, and Waite and Brusié appended their certificate that they had read this affidavit, and knew it to be true, and that Clark's title was good. Waite, on cross-examination, said he knew when he signed the certificate that it was false, but that Fletcher also knew it to be false, and that he did not expect there would be any trouble about the mortgage.

Brusié testified that he had considerable negotiation about the matter, and before it was closed told Fletcher that there had been no consideration given for the mortgage. On a sharp cross-examination by Judge Van Vorst, he said that he made the covenant in the assignment guaranteeing the bond and the validity of the mortgage and signed the certificate out of mere friendship to Clark, although he had known him only about a year, and was under no obligations to him. Other evidence confirming Waite's statement was given, but the case was not finished.

INDICTMENTS DISPOSED OF.

In 1872, Victoria C. Woodhull, Tennie C. Claflin, and Col. Blood were indicted in the United States Circuit Court for sending obscene literature through the mail, the literature consisting of certain copies of Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly. The indictment was quashed by Judge Blatchford in June, 1873, on technical grounds, and, pending the argument on the motion to quash, another indictment was found against the same persons, Col. Blood excepted, for a like offence. As this indictment comes within Judge Blatchford's ruling on the former one, it was disposed of yesterday by a nolle prosequi, as were also the following indictments: Joseph H. Purdy, shipping frauds; F. W. Jones, demanding an illegal fee from a pensioner; A. G. Boudet, assaulting an officer when in the discharge of his duty; W. H. Backe, mailing swindling circulars; C. Flood, defrauding the revenue; John Reis and Wm. Just, illicit distillation of whisky; Serapio Serpa, John B. Martinez, and Elias de Blanched, smuggling cigars; Peter Campbell, illicit distillation of whisky; T. B. Brunsen, prosecuting a false claim against the Government. These are old indictments, and the reason given for this disposition of them is that the witnesses in them cannot be found. Reis and Campbell are now serving out terms of imprisonment for the illicit distillation of whisky, having been convicted of that crime on another indictment.

THE NINTH REGIMENT ARMORY.

An appeal in the suit of John S. Welcher, executor of Paran Stevens, against Lucy D. Fisk, the executrix of James Fisk, jr., was submitted yesterday to the Supreme Court, General Term. Paran Stevens was the owner of the building in Twenty-sixth-st. in which the 9th Regiment had its armory, and built on the adjoining four lots for another armory. Fisk suggested to him to make the third and fourth floors of the whole eight lots continuous, to be used for an armory of the 9th Regiment. After some talk, Fisk agreed that if Mr. Stevens would make the necessary alterations, he would obtain the assent of the Supervisors and secure the plaintiff $7,000, and subsequently agreed to secure $2,500 for a new flooring to the enlarged armory. Fisk obtained an order from Tweed to make the alterations at an expense not exceeding $7,600. The actual cost of the alterations was $30,000. The rent of the new armory, which doubled the accommodations of the regiment, was raised from $6,000 to $24,000. The plaintiff only claims in his suit $9,500. The case was referred, and the referee found for the plaintiff. The defendant appealed, and the chief question on the appeal was whether Fisk made himself personally liable for the $9,500, relying on recompensing himself from the county, or merely promised his influence and guaranty that the county should pay it. The Court reserved its decision.

INDICTMENT OF ALLEGED SMUGGLERS.

The only important indictment presented by the United States Circuit Court Grand Jury which recently closed its session was against William J. Pollock and Thomas C. Pollock, importers. It charges them with having, on Nov. 4, 1874, fraudulently effected the entrance into this port of 20 cases of worsted goods, valued at $10,000, by representing them to be silk noils, which are admitted free of duty, while worsted goods are subject to a duty of 30 per cent ad valorem. In March, 1875, William J. Pollock was jointly indicted with Thomas J. McGrath, a truckman, and John Davenport, a watchman, for conspiring to defraud the revenue out of $5,000 by importing jute bags at an undervaluation. That indictment is now on file in the United States Circuit Court, but as yet nothing has been done about it. Bench warrants have been issued for the arrest of William J. Pollock and Thomas C. Pollock on the indictment charging them with fraudulently effecting the entry of worsted goods, but they have not been found. When asked yesterday if the Pollocks were in Canada, Assistant United States District-Attorney Foster said that he had no information as to where they were.

THE VETERINARY COLLEGE.

In the suit of Henry Bergh and others against Busteed and others, brought to decide who are the trustees of the New-York College of Veterinary Surgeons, Judge Van Vorst, in Supreme Court, Special Term, decided a demurrer in favor of the plaintiffs. The suit, which is the fourth or fifth growing out of the same matter, is brought to decide who are the proper trustees of the College, the opposing parties being so nearly balanced that one lawful vote may decide the management. The plaintiffs claim that two defendants have forfeited their trusteeship; the defendants claim that Mr. Bergh is not a lawful trustee. Judge Van Vorst decides that the present suit is in the nature of "a bill of peace," under which the parties can thoroughly fight out the questions between them.

AWARD AGAINST A STREET RAILROAD.

In the suit of Emily Furst against the Second Avenue Railroad Company, tried yesterday before Judge J. F. Daly in the Court of Common Pleas, the jury awarded plaintiff $5,000. The plaintiff is a child about 6 years old, who was run over by a car at Essex-st. and First-ave. and lost an arm. The suit was for $20,000, the plaintiff's parents charging that the accident occurred through the negligence of the driver. The defendants claimed that the negligence was in the child, and in her parents permitting a child then only 4½ years old to be in the streets unattended. Peter Cook and Chauncey Shaffer for plaintiff; J. M. Scribner for defendant.

ADVICE IN STOCK OPERATIONS.

The suit of Henry J. Williams agt. Nelson Abbott was tried yesterday in Supreme Court, Special Term, before Judge Van Vorst. The plaintiff claimed that he agreed with the defendant to furnish information on which the latter might speculate, and was to receive half the profits; that he did furnish such information, and the defendant on it purchased 1,000 shares of Union Pacific stock and made over $11,000, but did not account for plaintiff's half; that subsequently defendant, on similar information, bought 100 shares of the same stock and paid plaintiff $480 60 on account of the profits on that transaction, but plaintiff asks an inquiry into that to see if it was his whole share.

Defendant denies the whole story, except that once he did agree to carry 100 shares of Union Pacific as an act of kindness for the plaintiff, and when the stock rose had it sold for him, and paid him the profit. The only person he consulted in his transactions was his own broker, to whom he gave the largest discretion.

Judge Van Vorst, commenting on the evidence, said it seemed an extraordinary bargain, that one man should risk everything and the other nothing, and rested entirely on plaintiff's statement. The flat contradiction by the defendant left the case in a condition where the evidence was even, and the plaintiff must fail, and there was other evidence for defendant. But he would examine the testimony carefully before giving a final decision.

CIVIL NOTES.

In the suit by the People against Margaret Watson, administratrix of James Watson, covering the same claims that are made against Tweed, Judge Lawrence yesterday, on consent of all parties, made an order referring the issues to Murray Hoffman.

The schedule of Harris Rothstein, whose assignment for the benefit of creditors to Abraham Shenfield has been reported, was filed yesterday with the clerk of the Court of Common Pleas. His liabilities are stated at $37,069 58, his assets at $12,045. His assignee is required to give bonds in $20,000.

In the case of Catharine Daltschmann and nine other similar cases, brought to set aside the action of the Board of Revision and Correction of Assessments, the Corporation Counsel, as previously reported, having obtained decisions in favor of the city, entered judgments yesterday against each of the plaintiffs for $111 29 and costs.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

In the United States Circuit Court yesterday, Henry Marston pleaded guilty to having fraudulently obtained a letter addressed to another person. He was remanded for sentence.

Seventeen indictments were presented yesterday in the Court of General Sessions against persons charged with selling adulterated milk. Of these, 15 persons were arrested and gave bail in $300 each to appear for trial.

The trial of John W. Robinson, an inspector of weights and measures, for extortion of illegal fees, ended yesterday with an acquittal. The charge was that through an agent named Travers he had extorted excessive fees. Travers was a necessary witness, and as he did not appear yesterday the case was incomplete.

The writ of habeas corpus brought on behalf of Michael Finnell, who shot Edward O'Baldwin, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Barrett, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, on an arrangement between Mr. Lyons and the prisoner's counsel, that hereafter an application to admit Finnell to bail should be heard in his absence.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—In the United States Supreme Court today, the following business was transacted:

No. 220—Nichols agt. Eaton et al—Appeal from the Circuit Court for Rhode Island. This suit is brought by Nichols, as assignee in bankruptcy of Eaton, to enforce a claim to certain interests of Eaton in the estate of his mother and which the assignee alleges are now vested in him; and the question is upon the extent of the interest to be derived from her will. The position of the assignee is that the interest in the accumulation of income directed to be made, in default of wife or children, or after the decease of said son, is not vested during or at the end of any specified life or lives in being, or within the certain number of years thereafter, as required by law; nor is it an accumulation of an interest thereby vested, as required by law, by any limitations over, of the same, as no ulterior trusts or other dispositions of such accumulations have been declared or created in the will; and that in the absence of such specific determination of such accumulation, and in the absence of any limitation over, of any interest therein, the interest of Eaton in the income has become vested in the complainants. It is also contended that the principles of law do not permit a debtor to have the use and enjoyment of wealth, to the exclusion of any rights of his creditors in his fortune, and that there is no precedent approving of provisions in a will vesting a discretion in a trustee to continue the use of the trust fund same after bankruptcy as before. The court below sustained the interest of Eaton under the will, and the complainants bring the case here.

Rogers & Bradley for complainant, Payne & Curry for appellants.

No. 14.—Putnam et al. agt. Bill; appeal from the Circuit Court for Indiana.—This is a contest concerning the property of the Louisville, New-Albany, and Chicago Railroad Company between creditors of a bankrupt corporation, and the questions arise upon the decree of the Circuit Court in favor of Bill, as trustee. The allegations are of fraud on the part of the road and others, in defeating certain mortgages on its property. Case submitted without argument. Hoff & McDonald for appellants, Henry Crow for appellees.

No. 482—Upton agt. Nabicock; error to the Circuit Court for Iowa.—The plaintiff in error, as assignee in bankruptcy of the Great Western Insurance Company, sued to recover 80 per cent of 100 shares of $100 each of the capital stock of the Company, subscribed for him. The defense was that the subscription was induced by fraudulent representations made by the agent of the Company, namely: that the note given for 20 per cent of the money was to be transferred to the Company, but would be indefinitely held by it, and that the 80 per cent, for which suit is brought, was to be non-assessable—absolutely uncollectable—all loans to be paid out of the profits of the Company, whereas the note and mortgage given to secure it were transferred by the Company; and it has since been claimed that the 80 per cent is to be paid when demanded. The court charged that if this defense was proved the verdict must be for the defendant. The case comes here upon a writ of error to a judgment for the defendant, the argument being that the representations of the agent did not bind the creditors of the Company, and that any contract made between the Company or its agents and subscribers, limiting the liability of the latter, is void as to the creditors, and as to the assignee representing them. Submitted without argument. C. S. Nourse, for plaintiff in error; Geo. G. Wright, for defendant.

On motion of Mr. P. Phillips, Thomas N. Waul of Galveston, Texas, was admitted to practice as an attorney and counselor of that Court.

No 222—Charles A. Nichols, assignee, appellant, agt. Aunsa M. Eaton et al.—The argument in this case was continued by Mr. Samuel Curry of counsel for the appellant, and concluded by Mr. C. S. Bradley for the appellee.

No. 14—Gideon Putnam et al, appellant, agt. Charles A. Bill, trustee, &c.—Passed.

No. 23—Washington Ford, plaintiff in error, agt. James Burgel.—Passed.

No. 24—Ira Beard, appellant, agt. Mary F. McComb.—Passed.

No. 25.—Francis Dalrese, plaintiff in error, agt. Chas. Hale.—The argument in this case was commenced by Mr. F. P. Cappy of counsel for the plaintiff in error.

The Court adjourned until to-morrow.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—A dispatch received at the Navy Department this morning from Rear Admiral Reynolds, commanding the Asiatic station, dated Flag-ship Tennessee, Bombay, Sept. 10, announces his arrival at that place on the 4th of September, seven days from Aden. The weather at Aden was in fell blast, and there had been a much wet weather that the ship was uncomfortable. The health of officers and crew was good. The authorities at Bombay extended every courtesy to Admiral Reynolds and the officers of the vessel. He intended to sail on Sept. 11 for Colombo, Ceylon, and thence to Pinang Penang and Singapore.

Lieut. F. A. Miller has been detached from the Richmond, South Pacific station, and ordered to return home and report arrival.

"ONE GOOD TURN DESERVES ANOTHER."—Usually indulgent Parent (sadly, to incorrigible, who has secured his third window this week): "You know, Tommy, that it hurts me more than it does you; but—" Tommy: "Well, then, father, if I let you off this time, we shall be even again."—[London Fun.
