very cheap from Christie. Otto authorized the purchase of the 14 at $160 each, which Christie accepted, two to be sent down at once for examination, and the others on the following Monday. The two were sent down, taken, and paid for, but Otto refused to receive the 12. He was served with papers in this case about a week afterward. He had never used the stencils except the Decker stencils, and those he had a right to use.

The examination was adjourned to Friday next to enable Mr. Decker to produce certain documents.

IMPRISONMENT WITHOUT A COMPLAINT.

An application was made yesterday by Peter Mitchell on behalf of John Elliott to Judge Westbrook, in Supreme Court, Chambers, for the release of Elliott on habeas corpus. The prisoner was tried last Friday on a charge of an attempt to commit grand larceny in a house and was acquitted. On the request of the District-Attorney he was remanded to await an indictment for being in the house with intent to commit a larceny or other felony. Mr. Mitchell on behalf of the prisoner insisted that the prisoner having been acquitted on an indictment which included an intent to steal, could not be held for a retrial of the same offense, but this Judge Westbrook overruled, as the "other felony" might be arson or murder. Mr. Mitchell then insisted that the prisoner could not be held on the mere word of an Assistant District-Attorney. To hold a man in prison more than 24 hours there must be a sworn complaint. Judge Westbrook strongly leaned to this view, but allowed the District-Attorney until this morning to find some law, if there is any, authorizing detention without a complaint.

CIVIL NOTES.

In the matter of Charles Devlin, who, being somewhat careless in keeping his accounts, has demanded information from the Controller's office as to his contracts with the city and the amount due him under them, an attachment has been issued against Deputy Controller Earle for not giving the information.

Justus Rothschild, who is required by the Governor of Missouri on a charge of embezzlement, applied yesterday to Judge Westbrook, in Supreme Court, Chambers, for a release on habeas corpus, on the ground that the money he was charged with embezzling was properly his on certain trusts. Judge Westbrook dismissed the writ, holding that that question must be tried in Missouri.

Suit has been begun in the United States District Court against George S. Denison, formerly Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of Louisiana, to recover $12,000 on his official bond. The suit is brought in this district owing to the fact that the principal sureties on the bond live in this city. They are Thomas Cottman, Benjamin F. Flanders, John D. Whitaker, and John E. A. Fellows.

Judge Donohue, in Supreme Court, Chambers, has allowed Wm. M. Banks, receiver of the Security Savings Bank, to cancel a contract with Gilbert B. Strang for the sale of a house in Williamsburgh on which Strang has paid $300 upon Strang's agreeing to forfeit his past payments. He authorizes the receiver to sell the house at auction, and to sell a $20,000 bond of the Dry Dock, East Broadway and Battery Railroad Company at private sale for 90 per cent and interest.

Rice Quinn, who is in the Tombs on two charges of obtaining money on false pretenses, and is held to bail on one in $2,000, and on the other in $1,500, applied yesterday, by his counsel, William F. Kinsing, for his release by habeas corpus, to Judge Westbrook, in Supreme Court, Chambers. The ground of application was that though he was arrested June 22, the Grand Jury for this month had failed to pass on his case. Judge Westbrook refused to discharge him, but reduced the bail in each case one-half.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

At the Tombs Police Court yesterday Richard Horngan was charged with stabbing John Stephens of No. 466 Pearl-st. with a carving knife on the forehead, and was held in $1,000 bail.

At Essex Market Police Court yesterday, upon complaint of Fritz Gerlock of No. 141 Forsyth-st., Johannah Corthien was held in $500 bail for keeping a disorderly house at No. 93 Canal-st.

At the Yorkville Police Court yesterday William Jewell was released in $2,000 bail to answer for shooting Thomas Early in East Thirtieth-st. on July 4. Jewell, who is a lad of 12 or 14 years, was firing at a tree when a charge entered the knee of Early, who was on the opposite side. John Reilds, a saloon-keeper, of No. 141 East Forty-first-st., complained that William Dunn, in company with other ruffians, entered his place yesterday morning and committed an assault upon him because he refused to give them liquor. Dunn is the leader of a desperate gang. Justice Kassnire committed him for six months in default of $500 bonds for good behavior.

At the Washington Place Police Court, yesterday, William Ferguson, who broke into the rooms of Daniel Crotty, at No. 692 Third-ave., on Tuesday evening, and who fired twice at Officer Delany of the Twenty-ninth Precinct, while the latter was attempting to arrest him, was committed in $5,000 bail. The ruffian shot himself in the foot in the attempt to shoot the officer. Charles W. Conklin was held for examination, charged with embezzling $500 belonging to his employer, Richard Edwards, of No. 139 East Twelfth-st. Jas. Russell was held for examination, charged with swindling. He loitered near the Police Court Tuesday evening, to speak with the notorious Col. Potter, the confederate of the confidence man Rice Quinn. He was recognized by Detectives Ferris as being wanted upon a charge of swindling James Roe, of No. 1,016 Third-ave., out of $28 in June, 1875.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The following are the decisions of the United States Supreme Court in the cases named: Nos. 201 and 202.—The Coastwise Company, claimant of the steamer Alabama, &c., appellant, agt. Nicholas de las Casas; Nicholas de las Casas agt. The steamer Alabama, &c., the Coastwise Company, claimant, and William E. Gladstone, claimant, of the steam-tug Game Cock; appeals from the Circuit Court for the Southern District of New-York.—In the courts below, on the question of blame, the conclusion is that both the Alabama and Game Cock were in fault and contributed to the loss, and that the Ninfa, which was in tow of the Game Cock, and suffered the loss, was not in fault. On this finding arises the question of law which is of principal interest in the case, namely, against whom and in what manner should the damage be adjudged? The Alabama was a large steamer, and was bonded for $100,000, while the Game Cock was a small tug, bonded at the stipulated value of $10,000. The loss was found to be about $80,000. The District Court rendered a decree against both for the whole. The Circuit Court, on appeal, reversed this decree and divided the loss between them, rendering a decree against each for one half the amount. The court adopted this division of liability in obedience to the supposed views of Dr. Lushington in the case of the Milan (1 Lush., 404), which was followed in the case of the steamboat Atlas, both by the District and Circuit Courts of the Southern District of New-York (4 Blatch., 27; 10 Blatch., 459). The theory which underlies these decrees seems to be that the Game Cock and her tow, the Ninfa, being moved by one power, are to be regarded as one vessel, the same as a ship and her cargo, and that the two combined, whatever be their mutual relations to each other, are, as regards the Alabama, affected by the fault of the tug, and that those vessels on the one side and the Alabama on the other, according to the Admiralty rule in collision cases, must each bear half of the damage. It would seem to be just that the owner of the cargo should recover the damage done thereto from those who caused it; and if he cannot recover from either of them such party's due share, he ought to be able to recover it from the other. The safety of navigation requires that if the ships are both in fault, they should bear the damage equally, to make them more careful. But if either is unable to pay his moiety of damage, the owner of the cargo should have his remedy over against the other. We think that the decree of the Circuit Court was erroneous, and that a decree ought to be made against the Alabama and the Game Cock, and their respective stipulations, severally, each for one moiety of the entire damage, interest, and costs, so far as the stipulated value of said vessel shall extend; and any balance of such moiety, over and above such stipulated value of either vessel, or which the libellant shall be unable to collect or enforce, shall be paid by the other vessel or her stipulators to the extent of the stipulated value thereof beyond the moiety due from said vessel. Reversed. Mr. Justice Bradley delivered the opinion.

No. 78.—Charles H. Tyng and Lawrence Hopkins, plaintiffs in error, agt. Moses H. Grinnell; in error to the Circuit Court for the Southern District of New-York.—Certain wrought-iron tubes, of tubular form, intended to be used as to allow the passage through the same of the products of combustion, were imported into the port of New-York by the plaintiffs, and the record shows that the importers, on the 21st of January, 1870, made due entry of the importation, and that they claimed that the articles imported and described in the entry were flues, and that they were subject only to the import duty of 2½ cents per pound; and it appears that the defendant, as the Collector of the port, decided that the articles described in the entry were wrought-iron tubes, and that they were dutiable as such at 3½ cents per pound under the second section of the last-named act of Congress. Duty was collected according to the decision of the Collector, the plaintiffs appealed, and the Secretary of the Treasury reversed the Collector's decision. The duty paid under protest amounted to $173 36, and the plaintiff sued to recover it, the case finally going into the Circuit Court of the United States. Judgment was rendered for the defendant, and the Circuit Judge made a special finding of facts. Certain exceptions were filed by the plaintiffs and they sued out this writ of error. Two errors are assigned by the plaintiffs, as follows: (1.) That the court below erred in deciding that the articles described in the entry were wrought-iron tubes, within the meaning of the amendatory Tariff act, and that they were subject to the duty imposed of 3½ cents per pound. (2.) That the Court below erred in refusing to decide that the articles imported were wrought-iron flues. On these facts it is decided that the question of the commercial character of the article imported was one of fact, and not of construction, and that it was competent for the Court to decide it, a jury having been waived. Also, that the special finding of facts by the Court was a proper substitute for the special verdict of a jury, and cannot be reviewed here on writ of error. Affirmed. Mr. Justice Clifford delivered the opinion.

"Well, how do you like the looks of the varmint?" said a "South-Wester" to a "Down-Easter," who was gazing with round-eyed wonder, and evidently for the first time, at a huge alligator with wide-open jaws, on the muddy banks of the Mississippi. "Wa'al," replied the Yankee, "he ain't what you may call a handsome critter; but he's got a great deal of openness when he smiles."
