THE COURTS.

THE RIGHT TO DISCOUNT NOTES.

The New-York State Loan and Trust Company sued Joseph W. Helmer and another on three promissory notes for about $21,000, made and indorsed by the defendants and discounted by the plaintiff. Helmer, who alone defended, put in an answer that the plaintiff had no right to discount notes, and that the notes were void, and that it was understood when they were given that at maturity they should be renewed. The company demurred, and Judge Donohue gave judgment in its favor on the demurrer. The defendant Helmer appealed, and his appeal was argued yesterday. He claims that the discounting of notes is a banking business as much as the receiving of deposits or issuing bank notes; that the charter of this company does not permit it to discount notes, though it permits it to make advances on property. If its charter permitted discounts, it would be void as contravening the provision in the charter of 1846 forbidding the Legislature to pass an act granting any special charter for banking purposes; that as the notes were mere paper in the defendant's hands, and only acquired validity by a valid contract of some one entitled to take them, they never acquired any element of property on which advances could be made within the sense of the charter.

On the other hand, the company claimed that it was allowed by its charter to receive property and make advances on it, and this was what had been done in this case, and that it did not lie in defendant's mouth, having received the plaintiff's money, to set up such a defense until the money was paid back. The court reserved its decision.

WAREHOUSE LIABILITIES.

Some silks belonging to Horace B. Claflin & Co. were stolen between May 12 and May 15, 1872, from the bonded warehouse of Henry J. Meyer. Claflin & Co. brought suit for their value against Meyer, and this was referred to three referees, John S. Lawrence, Samuel D. Babcock, and Abraham B. Miller. They reported in favor of the plaintiffs for about $15,000. This included the invoice cost, profits, and charges, and interest, and $4,000 duties, which have not yet been paid, but for which the United States has brought suit. From the judgment the defendant appealed, and the appeal was argued yesterday in Supreme Court, General Term. For the defendant it was claimed that it was necessary that the plaintiffs should show affirmatively that the defendant had been negligent, and that they had failed to do this, and that a sum still in dispute between the United States and the plaintiffs should not be included in the damages sustained. On behalf of the plaintiffs it was claimed that as they were compelled to send their goods to the warehouse, and as they had shown their warehouse receipt, it was for the defendant to show that he was not guilty of negligence; also, that the duties for which the plaintiffs, if any one, were liable, formed a proper element in fixing the value of the goods. The court reserved its decision. Wm. Henry Arnoux appeared for the plaintiffs; A. R. Dyett for the defendant.

TAXATION OF A LIBRARY.

The American Geographical Society, by two writs of certiorari argued yesterday before the Supreme Court, General Term, has brought up the question whether its house at No. 11 West Twenty-ninth-st. is subject to taxation. One writ relates to last year's taxes, but is complicated with a side question. The other is as to this year's taxes, and presents the single question. The society claims that this building was taken for its library, and that this library, the chief purpose of its incorporation, is open to the free use of the public, and that it thus comes within the statute exempting from taxation buildings for free public libraries. The Tax Commissioners claim that the charter of the society does not bind it to maintain a library which shall be open to the public. The court reserved its decision.

CIVIL NOTES.

Judge Barrett, in Supreme Court, Chambers, referred yesterday the divorce suit of Enoch Hoyt against Jane Hoyt.

In the divorce suit of Rebecca M. O. Marsh against Arthur L. Marsh, Judge Barrett, in Supreme Court, Chambers, granted yesterday an order for the sequestration of the defendant's salary for non-payment of alimony.

The application of Joseph Miller, a property-owner on Atlantic-ave., Brooklyn, for a permanent injunction against the construction of the proposed steam road through that avenue, was partially argued yesterday before Judge Johnson in the United States Circuit Court by Gen. B. F. Tracy. The argument will be continued to-day.

The trial of the suit of Patrick Nolan against the New-York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company was ended yesterday in Supreme Court, Circuit, before Judge Donohue by the dismissal of the complaint. The plaintiff was walking on the track of the road at night when a train came by the side of the track on a parallel track, which was only to be struck by an opening which did not sound a whistle. It appeared, however, that the company had settled with him for $500, and that he had offered to return it, and Judge Donohue thought it too late to return it now.

John W. Flagler has brought a suit in the Court of Common Pleas against Charles Dupuy for libel. He charges Dupuy with stating he lives to accumulate in the country, speaking ill of his uncle's family, and one who had been compelled to withdraw from their firm of Dupuy & Vordenbach. For six of these libels he asks $17,000 damages. The case comes up before the Superior Term of the Court of Common Pleas yesterday on a demurrer to the complaint. Counsel for the defendant argued that the words complained of were privileged, and that the complaint showed no cause of action. The Court reserved its decision.

Robert Bonynge, having written out the stenographic minutes of the trial of Henry W. Genet from day to day, for the use of counsel, charged Genet and his counsel Nelson, Wardwell $35a, at the rate of 25 cents a folio, and as the bill was unpaid, sued both client and counsel. Mr. Waterbury defended, claiming that 6 cents a folio was the proper price for ordinary stenographic notes, and that he had never employed the plaintiff. It was shown that for the mere night work required in this case 25 cents was the ordinary charge, and the jury found that Mr. Waterbury owed the plaintiff, and gave a verdict for the plaintiff for the full amount claimed. Mr. Waterbury appealed, and the case was argued yesterday before the Supreme Court, General Term, which reserved its decision.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

At the Essex Market Police Court yesterday, Frederick Levy, age 17, was charged by Herbert Whitty, with purloining 48 hair ornaments, No. 155 Eastern-st., on Nov. 25, and stealing jewelry valued at $122. He was bound in $1,000 to Court.

In the Court of General Sessions yesterday, Judge Gildersleeve imposed fines of $50 each upon the following persons convicted of selling lottery tickets: John F. Prince of No. 1 Bowery, Joseph Wagner of Williamsburgh, Adam Koenig of No. 253 Broome-st., and John H. Alpers of No. 19 Forsyth-st.

At the Jefferson Market Police Court, yesterday, Patrick Carney, of No. 161 Perry-st., was charged with having unlawfully sold Gettysburg Stock, a Jefferson Market detective having purchased a share of the fraud with a stockbroker's boy who was sent for to give his testimony. Justice Wheeler held Carney in default of $500 bail. Stock was sent to the House of Detention.

John R. Gledding, one of the old "sawdust" gamblers of Poverty, who has recently carried on business through a Portlander box in Hudson, was brought in yesterday before Judge Benedict, in the United States Circuit Court, Criminal Term, after listening to the evidence of his trading with men and females through the mails, he admitted his guilt in each county, and Assistant District-Attorney Porter asked him to plead to the two counts in the indictment, under which he will escape with a fine not exceeding $500 in amount.

At the Tombs Police Court yesterday, Daniel Quinlan, a woman, charged by James Kelly of West Twenty-second-st., letter-on Ninth and Tenth-aves., with stabbing him in the abdomen with a knife, was held in $1,000 bail. Bridget Quinlan, a respectable woman, for the larceny of a gold watch and chain valued at $40 from Jeremiah O'Connor, of No. 253 East Twenty-ninth-st., was detained in default of $1,000 bail. James McDonald was arraigned on complaint of Policeman Kelly, charged with having in his possession 17 pounds of stolen lead. He was held in default of $500 bail.

John W. Flagler has brought a suit in the Court of Common Pleas against Charles Dupuy for libel. He charges Dupuy with stating he lives to accumulate in the country, speaking ill of his uncle's family, and one who had been compelled to withdraw from their firm of Dupuy & Vordenbach. For six of these libels he asks $17,000 damages. The case comes up before the Superior Term of the Court of Common Pleas yesterday on a demurrer to the complaint. Counsel for the defendant argued that the words complained of were privileged, and that the complaint showed no cause of action. The Court reserved its decision.
