ceded ¼ per cent. The general railway list was steady and then heavy at a small decline. The "light weights," Central of New-Jersey and Wabash, were exceptionally strong on a light business. The coal shares were nearly as dull as were the markets for the commodity which they are supposed to represent, but the little that was done was at yielding prices. Western Union looked less rose-colored to-day than yesterday. Outside people seem to take a different view from that of the buyers of yesterday concerning the effect of a course certain to lead to interminable litigations, and with sales of 3,900 shares the price of Western Union fell to 76⅞. United States Express advanced to 51¼ for 20 shares, and closed at that price bid. The other express stocks were steady, without sales. The total transactions aggregated only 36,600 shares, and the market closed feverish.
