LITERARY NOTES.

Claude Lorraine is the subject of the new volume of Mr. Sweetser's "Artist Biographies."

"Dispauperisation" is the term used as title for a popular treatise on Poor-Law evils and their remedies, by J. E. Preyman, announced in England.

The English exportation of books amounted, in 1877, to $96,319; that of France, including books in other languages, to 16,094,602 francs—an increase over the preceding year in both countries.

Dr. Holland has finished a poem extending to five or six pages of Scribner's Monthly, which is likely, from its subject and treatment, to attract considerable attention when it appears in a number of the magazine some months hence.

It is understood that the new house of Houghton, Osgood & Co., in consolidating their list, will offer for sale on the day preceding the regular Spring trade sale, the first week in April, a number of plates and remainders of editions of books issued by one of the amalgamating houses.

Longmans & Co., London, are about to publish "Illyrian Letters," a revised selection of correspondence from the Illyrian provinces of Bosnia, Herzegovina, Montenegro, Albania, Dalmatia, Croatia, and Slavonia, addressed to The Manchester Guardian during the year 1877, by Arthur J. Evans.

By arrangement with Messrs. Macmillan, the proposed American edition of Farrar's "Eternal Hope" will not be issued by them, and the edition of E. P. Dutton & Co. will be the only one in the American market, with the exception of individual copies of the higher priced English edition. This house favors the interests of book buyers by putting the book at the exceptionally low price of $1.

Miss Warner has ready a new book for Sunday-school reading, in which she pleasantly rewrites the story of "The Kingdom of Judah." It was originally intended as an accompaniment to the International Sunday-school lessons for the first part of 1878, which deal chiefly with this subject, but will now be presented on its merits, as a book of general and permanent interest, especially interesting however to those who have already studied the lessons referred to.

Mr. E. A. Freeman's "Historical Course for Schools" reaches its seventh volume in "European Colonies," by E. J. Payne. This has not sufficient importance as a school-book here to be reprinted in this country, as the others have been, but, treating especially of the South American States, including Brazil, and of the island colonies, brings together the facts in a department of history hitherto not in very accessible shape. Macmillan & Co. bring over copies of their English edition.

Mr. E. Steiger announces for early publication three new catalogue enterprises of importance: "A Classified Descriptive Catalogue of American, British, German, French, and other Foreign Publications on Education and General Philology; together with works of Reference, Teachers' Hand-books, etc., exclusive of Text-books;" "Steiger's Educational Directory; A Catalogue of Collegiate and Private Educational Institutions;" and "A Guide to American Literature; A Selected List of American Publications, with Expository Notices for the Guidance of Book-buyers."

The readers of those pleasant books by Aug. J. C. Hare, "Walks in Rome," "Days near Rome," "Cities of Northern and Central Italy," and "Wanderings in Spain," will be glad to know that, returning to England, he has been doing for its capital what he had done so well for "the capital of the world." London furnishes exceptional opportunity for a book on the plan of his Roman work, associating with specific places quotations from the books which have referred to them, and "Walks in London," announced by Messrs. Routledge, will be of peculiar interest. There will be a hundred illustrations.

If English publishers could now be persuaded to deal as fairly by American authors as American publishers treat English writers, our literary men of the day would be much richer than they are. The payments of one American house to a leading English author on a single book have now reached $10,000, and the leading houses here now aim to pay English authors—not only the leading ones, but the generality—a fair equivalent of what they would pay here in copyright. On the other hand, a small honorarium, £100 at the most, is practically the limit of English payments in this country, even for books that sell abroad by the ten thousand, and a leading American author, whose many books are favorites and widely selling abroad, states that his returns from England have never reached a total of $200.

OFFICE OF THE COMMITTEE OF REORGANIZATION OF THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY, No. 11 PINE-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 26, 1878.

THE COMMITTEE has the pleasure to state that by an order of the Supreme Court of the United States made on the twenty-fifth instant, the two appeals now pending in that court (numbers 879 and 1,057) have been advanced on the calendar, and set down for hearing for April 22. As the questions involved in these appeals only relate to the appropriation of a small portion of the proceeds of the sale, and to some incidental questions as to the time and terms of sale, the decision of the court, whatever it may be on the appeal, will be followed by a speedy sale of the property.

The court declined to make the order applied for by Messrs. Ketchum and Moran, to compel the committee to receive additional subscriptions to the plan of reorganization and the time up to which the committee was required by the decree of the Circuit Court, namely, September 1, 1877, to receive subscriptions, having passed, that matter is now within the discretion of the committee.

The committee will be happy to receive from those who have not become subscribers, but who wish to become so, a memorandum of the claims held by such parties, with a written application for admission into the plan, so that all such applications may be passed upon at once.
