THE COURTS.

THREE SUITS OVER A POLICY.

TRYING TO FIND TO WHOM IT SHALL BE PAID.

A. M. Sloan and John H. Sloan, Southern merchants, held an assignment of a policy of insurance made by the Equitable Life Assurance Society, which is now due. John H. Sloan died. John Wood and others obtained a judgment in Savannah, Ga., against A. M. Sloan, and on that judgment brought a suit in this State, in which they attached the policy in the hands of the company. In that suit they obtained judgment, and then began the third suit against the Equitable Society. That company made no defence, except to ask that the Court decide to whom it shall pay the money. The case was referred, and considerable proof was taken, when the administrators of John H. Sloan came in and claimed that they owned a share in the policy, and asked leave to be made parties and put in an answer.

Judge Van Brunt granted the motion, yesterday, on condition that the testimony already taken stand, and that if anything in the answer of the new defendants requires a cross-answer from the company, it may be put in. J. Homer Hildreth appeared for the plaintiffs; W. W. Jenks for the administrators, and C. B. Alexander for the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

A SUCCESSFUL WILL CONTEST.

George P. Gordon, the inventor of the Gordon printing press, died on January 27, leaving an estate valued at $800,000. The greater part of this was bequeathed to his second wife, Leonora M. Gordon, and his daughter, Mary Agnes Gordon. The remainder was given to his sisters, nephew, and other relatives. When the will was offered for probate in Kings County, it was contested by Mary A. Gordon, the daughter, on the ground of incompetency, undue influence, etc. The hearing was had before Surrogate Dalley yesterday. The witnesses to the will, S. R. Farrington and George W. Thorne, were examined. Mr. Farrington testified that as he was passing along the street, Mr. Gordon, to whom he had never spoken in his life, asked him to go up stairs and witness a document. The witness accompanied him to a lawyer's office and signed his name to a paper. He was not told what the paper was, and did not know that it was a will. Nobody was present except the witness and Mr. Gordon. Mr. Thorne, a lawyer, swore that he did not remember having drawn the will or witnessed it. He had made many drafts of wills for Mr. Gordon. The signature was his, but he did not remember that he signed it. Surrogate Dalley said that, such being the state of things, he had no alternative but to reject the will. Letters of administration were then granted to the testator's widow and daughter.

THE REWARD OF OBSTINACY.

James Myers, a Frenchman, some time ago, erected his country residence in a pleasant valley, near Pelhamville, but unfortunately for Mr. Myers, his house encroached on land belonging to Mrs. Julia E. Stevenson. Mr. Myers disregarded a notification of this fact, and a suit was begun against him, which resulted in favor of Mrs. Stevenson. An order was issued to the Sheriff of Westchester County to place Mrs. Stevenson in possession of the land in question. Mrs. Stevenson then offered to sell Mr. Myers the strip of land encroached upon, but the latter declined to purchase; Mrs. Stevenson next offered to lease the ground for one year for $50, but Mr. Myers again refused the offer, whereupon Sheriff Brendase proceeded to the premises of Mr. Myers with four carpenters. Mr. Myers coolly informed the Sheriff that he could go ahead, which he did, cutting a section off the villa seventy feet long, leaving the rooms open and exposed, and the beams without proper support. The work occupied the carpenters three days. Mr. Myers will have to pay the Sheriff's bills, amounting to more than the sum asked for the land, besides the cost of repairs of the house.

ACCUSED OF DEFRAUDING THE REVENUE.

David Anderson and Edward Connall, two employés of Rufus Storey, coffee and spice importer of No. 7 Front-st., was arrested yesterday for alleged fraud in the payment of duty on imported spices. The complaint was made by the uncle of Anderson and alleged that the importing of 1,300 bags of pimento from Jamaica on January 17, the bags in which the spice was contained were so constructed as to deceive the weigher and to defraud the Government of a large proportion of the proper duty. When the accused persons were brought before Commissioner Osborn yesterday, their employer furnished the bail demanded, $5,000 for each.

George W. Kirk, of Westchester County, was rearrested yesterday for alleged complicity in the Lawrence silk smuggling operations. He was released on his old bail, which was found to be still good.

ANNOYANCES AT JEFFERSON MARKET.

The Jefferson Market court-room and the vestibule leading to it have been infested with "runners" or "steerers," as they are called, for certain lawyers doing business around the court. Strict orders have been issued to the court officers not to permit such persons among the people within the court-building. Yesterday afternoon Officer Casey saw James Sands, a "runner," enter the court and try to force his employer's services on some persons who were waiting to see the Justice. The officer told him to desist, when the fellow turned on him and repeatedly insulted him. Sands was arrested, and his employer, in defending him, was summarily interrupted in a tirade against the court officers by Justice Kilbreth, who discharged Sands, with a warning not to [illegible] the rules of the court in future.

ACQUITTED AFTER LONG DELAY.

Philip Engle was tried yesterday before Judge Daniels in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, on a charge of killing Minnie Thiebes, in September, 1876. Engle and the father of Minnie Thiebes got into a quarrel. The girl, who was about fifteen years old, ran between them and received a blow, which, the prosecution claimed, was the cause of her death, as she died about two weeks later from concussion of the brain. The defence was that the prisoner did not strike the blow, or, if he did, it was mere accident. The jury acquitted him. Assistant District-Attorney Herring appeared for the prosecution; John O. Mott for the defence.

APPEALING FROM THE SURROGATE.

Judson Jarvis and others, the executors of Mary C. Monson, passed, last January, their final accounts before the Surrogate. An appeal was taken on behalf of Emily Hoyt and others from the Surrogate's action. A motion to dismiss the appeal was argued, yesterday, before Judge Donohue, in Supreme Court, Chambers, on the ground that after obtaining one extension of time to perfect his appeal, which expired March 11, the appellants' attorney had kept the Surrogate's return in his pocket instead of filing it. The appellant's attorney promised that it should be filed at once. Judge Donohue reserved his decision. R. F. Andrews appeared for Judson Jarvis; A. H. Wagner for the appellants.

A PLEDGE, NOT A LOAN.

John C. Anderson says that he pledged, at various times, a large amount of jewelry to one Julius Metzler. He then offered to redeem all by paying the loans and 10 per cent interest. Metzler claimed that the jewelry was sold to him and he disposed of it. Anderson thereupon sued Metzler. Judge Sanford, in Superior Court, Special Term, holds that the transaction was a pledge, and not a loan, and, unless defendant restores the property, gives the plaintiff $1,000 damages.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

At the Tombs Police Court yesterday, Oscar Sedller, of No. 21 Great Jones-st., was charged with perjury, in having sworn, when tendering himself as security for John Buffle, accused of keeping a disorderly house at No. 71 Park-st., that he was not a bondsman for any other person, and had never forfeited his recognizance. The police court records establish the fact that on February 22, he gave bail for James Smith, who was charged with assault and battery, and that Smith never appeared to answer. The accused man is alleged to be a professional bondsman. He was committed in default of $1,000 bail.

POLICE INDICTMENTS DROPPED.

Judge Daniels, yesterday, directed the entry of orders of nolle prosequi on the indictment against Officers Sparboro and Finken, jointly indicted with Roundsman Sleasson, who was recently tried and acquitted on a charge of clubbing Timothy Lenahan to death. The prosecuting officer admitted that he had no more testimony against them than against Sleasson.

THE GENET BILL OF EXCEPTIONS.

Judge Daniels settled and filed, yesterday, with the Clerk of the Court of Oyer and Terminer the bill of exceptions in the suit of Henry C. Genet. This settlement was refused until Genet, of his own accord, returned to New-York after his escape from the Sheriff while under conviction.

CIVIL NOTES.

Judge Sedgwick has awarded Caroline Seitz the custody of Lena Rueker, her child by a former husband. It was detained from her by her brother, Usvictor Wohlgemuth, on a claim for board.

An order was entered, yesterday, by Judge Sedgwick, in Superior Court, Special Term, denying attorney and counsel fee to the plaintiff in the suit of Emma Elizabeth Arnott against Edward J. Arnott.

In the suit of Patrick Bannon against the executors of John McGrane, for work done to fulfil McGrane's contract for grading Fifth-ave., the jury, in the Superior Court, Trial Term, before Judge Speir, has given the plaintiff a verdict for his full claim, $6,235 60.

In the application of Roundsman Hagerty to have the Police Commissioners committed for contempt, Judge Donohue, yesterday, in Supreme Court, Chambers, said it seemed to him the Commissioners were in contempt, but then, counsel had been absent, adjourned the matter to Tuesday.

Charles Kaufman brought an action against his brother, Solomon, in the Kings County Supreme Court, to recover moneys for which the latter failed to account while in charge of the plaintiff's business during the latter's absence in Europe. Yesterday, a verdict of $7,942 70 was rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

Robert Heller, the magician, was sued, yesterday, in the Marine Court, before Judge McAdam, by W. F. Beetson, pianist, for $180. Beetson claims that he was employed at $12 a week to play at Heller's exhibitions until June, but was discharged in February. Heller claimed that he only employed him week by week. The jury found in favor of Heller.

Judge Donohue, yesterday, granted an order that the Department of Buildings make changes in No. 204 Chatham-st., at the expense of the owner. The upper story is occupied by a Jewish Congregation, and the stairs to it are very narrow. The owner has neglected to comply with previous directions to make egress from the room more safe.

James Smith, of No. 421 West Thirty-seventh-st., and Alexander Distell, of No. 375 Tenth-ave., met in a Tenth-ave. liquor saloon Thursday night, and both being somewhat under the influence of liquor, they renewed an old dispute. Smith hit Distell on the head with a club, and the physicians at the New-York Hospital think that Distell's skull is fractured. Smith was held yesterday to await the result of Distell's injuries.

Francis Harris and Mary Harris applied to Judge Lawrence to compel Mary Ann Madison to surrender their child, William Harris, a boy five years old. They say that Mrs. Madison, the aunt of the boy, lives with him and her mother in a room twelve feet square, without a bed; that the grandmother drinks, and the aunt is of loose habits. Mrs. Madison denies these charges. A reference has been ordered.

Charles H. Mallory, a merchant, of No. 153 Maiden-lane, was arrested, yesterday, by Deputy Marshal Holmes, and brought before United States Commissioner Shields, on a warrant issued by Judge Blatchford, for contempt of court. An injunction was obtained against him in 1874, restraining him from the infringement of a patent for the manufacture of paper bags. By the violation of the injunction Mr. Mallory is liable for the payment of $3,902 90.

An application was made, yesterday, to Judge Donohue, on behalf of Mr. Burroughs, formerly a clerk in the Department of Buildings, for an absolute mandamus to Superintendent Adams to reinstate him. He claims that his discharge was not "for cause" properly stated, according to the charter. In reply it was urged that this could not be decided on mandamus, but only on certiorari. Judge Donohue reserved his decision.

The Supreme Court of this District, it is feared, will be seriously crippled by the sickness of its judges. Judge Barrett has been sick two months, and this has necessarily thrown an unusual strain on his associates, scarcely relieved by the presence of Judge Daniels in the past two weeks. It is now reported that both Judge Davis and Judge Brady have been directed by their physicians to take a long rest, under penalty of a serious sickness, involving some months' incapacity for work.

COURT OF APPEALS.

ALBANY, April 5.—In the Court of Appeals to-day the following business was transacted: No. 155.—Lynch agt. McNally.—Argument resumed and concluded. No. 131.—Hill agt. the Syracuse and C. R. R.; argued by George N. Kennedy for the appellant, and R. A. Stanton for respondent. No. 145.—Jenkins agt. Falvey; argued by John M. Stearns for appellant, and Thos. F. Jackson for respondent. No. 179.—Payne agt. the Troy and C. R. R. Co.—Dismissed on argument. (Note.—In this case the General Term ordered a new trial upon a question of law without passing upon the facts. This Court dismissed the appeal upon the ground that the parties have an absolute right to have the facts passed upon at the General Term, and a new trial is ordered, that course must be followed, as this Court is unable to to say what would have been the action at the General Term had the facts been reviewed); R. A. Parmenter for appellant, and Esek Cowen for respondent. No. 190.—Griffith agt. Mangan; argued by Wm. F. McRae for appellant, and J. H. Arnold for respondent; case still on.

A good old gentleman was recently visited by two elders of the congregation to which he belonged. It so happened that when they arrived at the door of his room the good man was engaged in prayer aloud. Not wishing to disturb his devotions, the two elders waited at the door till he had finished, having heard every word of the fervent prayer. When they entered they complimented him on the ability and fervor of his prayer. "Ah!" he exclaimed; "if I had known you were listening, I would let you hear far better than that."

PERT.—A New-Hartford four-year-old desired to accompany her mother upon a ride, but was told if she would stay at home and not cry she should have something nice. Upon the mother's return the child was rewarded with several gumdrops, which were soon disposed of and more demanded, the demand being denied. After considerable teasing she made use of the following caustic remark: "Mamma, if you don't give me another gumdrop I shall be sorry I didn't cry when you went away."—[Hartford Post.
