THE COURTS.

TWO HUSBANDS AND ONE WIFE.

Emma J. Squier applied on Saturday to Judge Smith, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, for a warrant against her first husband, John E. Knapp, for abandoning his youngest daughter, Nellie. According to her account, she ran away from boarding-school in 1855 to marry Knapp, and her father disinherited her. They had five children. When her father died, in 1869, Knapp deserted her, and she went to Indiana and got a divorce September 2, 1873. In December, 1973, she married Charles Y. Squier, but first, by an application to the Commissioners of Charities and Correction, compelled Knapp to support the child Nellie. In 1876, she says, Knapp offered to pay for his child's support if she would take it, and she agreed. She says he paid nothing, but she kept the child until her second husband left her, when she made this application. Meanwhile, in 1876, Knapp obtained a divorce from her at Haverstraw, the Indiana divorce being disregarded. Three months ago her second husband left her, and has begun a suit to annul his marriage. Knapp's story is that five years ago his wife left him. He took charge of four children, she of the fifth. He learned that she was about to marry again, and heard she was neglecting the child, and took charge of his daughter. Then she tried to kidnap her child, and now that she had recovered it was using it as a means of annoyance to him. Justice Smith allowed him to go on his parole. In the afternoon Mr. Squier appeared before the Justice and asked to be released from paying his wife $5 a week. She had procured an order against him for abandonment, but he claimed had deceived him into the belief that her first husband was dead. Justice Smith declined to interfere.

A DISORDERLY FAMILY.

William Carney, of No. 650 East Ninth-st., and his two sons, John and William, were arrested for disorderly conduct yesterday morning by Officers Caler and Noble, of the Eleventh Precinct. William, the son, turned on Officer Noble, and fired a shot at him from a revolver, which he threw in the street. The officers then clubbed him into submission, and made extra charges against him of felonious assault and unlawfully carrying a pistol. The three prisoners were severely beaten by the officers. When arraigned at the Essex Market Police Court, their heads were wrapped up in bandages, and their shirts were saturated with blood. Alderman Keenan came to interpose his friendly offices in their behalf. William Carney, jr., was granted an examination, because he complained of his inability to explain the affair owing to his injuries. The two other persons were required to furnish bail each in $500 to keep the peace for six months, or to stand committed each for one month.

DRAWING A PISTOL IN COURT.

Catharine Green, of No. 112 Thompson-st., attempted to shoot Caroline Avricks, of No. 220 South Fifth-ave., yesterday, in the Jefferson Market Court-room. She drew a single-barreled pistol, and presenting it at Miss Avricks, said: "I will put seven balls in you before you leave this court." Officer Jolly disarmed Miss Green and then preferred a charge against her. She used the most filthy and abusive language in court and was sent to Blackwell's Island for six months. The woman Avricks then appeared as complainant against a colored man named David Green, whom she charged with assaulting her. This charge was the cause of the assault by Miss Green, who, although a white woman, lives with and supports Green. The latter was sent to the Island for twelve months.

A CAUTION TO LANDLADIES.

Philip Pearson, a confidence operator, has been arrested by the police. Pearson and his confederate would call at a house and profess to be in search of rooms. While the landlady showed the confederate over the house, Pearson, who affected lameness and remained in the parlor, stole whatever he could find. They visited the house of Mrs. Harriet L. Beek, of No. 7 East Twelfth-st., on Saturday, but a boy in the house saw Pearson at work and gave the alarm. He was caught after a long chase, but his companion escaped over the rear fence. Pearson was yesterday held in $1,500 bail by Justice Smith.

CIVIL NOTES.

In supplementary proceedings on a judgment obtained by Wm. T. Riggs against Leonard Grover, for $1,557 41, Mr. Poole, one of the lessees of the Grand Opera House, testified that Mr. Grover had no interest in the play "Our Boarding House," written by him, but that he, Poole, and his partner, owned the play and all properties connected with it.

Counsel in the case of Mary Grogan against the New-York and Harlem Railroad Company, already reported, has obtained from Judge Sanford a stay of thirty days to make out a case on appeal to the General Term of the Superior Court. Judge Nelson, Lyttleton G. Garrettson and Robert L. Garrettson appear for the appellant, and Elliot F. Shepard and Mr. Hillier for the respondents.

The suit between Mrs. Elizabeth McCall and James Lorimer Graham has been amicably settled. She received from the estate of her husband, John H. McCall, about $65,000, which in 1869 was valued at over $69,000. She left it in the charge of her cousin, Mr. Graham, and recently charged that nothing was left but a house on Ninth-st. She caused his arrest in a civil suit, making these charges, and he gave bail in $59,000. He claimed that the losses resulted from unfortunate investments. The case has been settled and the bail released.

An examination into the mental condition of Mrs. Diana Bamelster was made on Saturday before a commission composed of Robert Dodge, Dr. Frederick Danne and Charles H. Haswell, and a sheriff's jury. Mrs. Bameister is very deaf, but was placed on the stand. Her answers, if not incoherent, were decidedly wild. She pointed out several persons, strangers to her, as those who had wronged her, and said she had not trusted her money to any bank since Sherman's bank broke, but had buried some of it. Her doctors thought there was no insanity, though perhaps some softening of the brain, and other persons denied that she was insane. The matter was adjourned to next Saturday.

PROBABLE INFANTICIDE AT PEEKSKILL.

Coroner Foshay, of Peekskill, recently held an inquest upon the body of a male infant found floating in the Hudson River. Dr. Knight testified that the infant was about three weeks old, and the jury rendered a verdict of death from cause unknown. Last week, Mrs. Philip Travis stated to Justice Couch that a child was born in her house on April 28, and that she suspected it was the infant found in the river. She declared she could identify it by a "crumpled" ear. The body was accordingly exhumed, and the babe with its ear malformed as described was fully identified. Mrs. Travis then stated that Alice Haight, age eighteen, daughter of John Haight, a respectable farmer living at South Highlands, Putnam County, was the mother of the child. The woman was arrested and taken before Justice Couch. She declared that the father of the dead child was Lewis Chase, a peddler, who travels with a wagon. Miss Haight added that she gave the child to an Irish woman for temporary care, and the latter told her that it had died and was buried.

ARMY ORDERS.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Major C. B. Comstock, Corps of Engineers, upon the expiration of his present leave of absence, is ordered to resume charge of the Lake survey and Mississippi River surveys, and his duties in connection with the South Pass improvements. Leave of absence for six months, on surgeon's certificate of disability, is granted Captain William Prince, Ordnance Department. The resignation of First-Lieutenant Bernard Reilly, jr., 5th Cavalry, has been accepted by the President.

IN SEARCH OF THE FRANKLIN RECORDS.

Captain S. O. Buddington, who commanded the Polaris in the Arctic Expedition, after Captain Hall's death, visited the schooner Eothen, now lying at the foot of North Sixth-st., Williamburg, recently, and approved of the preparations for her cruise in search of the records of the Franklin Expedition. Captain D. L. Braine, who commanded the Juniata in the Polaris Search Expedition in 1873, has taken much interest in the fitting out of the vessel, and offered many suggestions. The Eothen will start to-day, and will be accompanied down the bay by Chief-Justice Daly, Rear-Admiral Gore Jones, of the British Legation; Captain Braine, Captain Buddington, General Hancock and many others. George Cabot Ward, treasurer of the Geographical Society, has sent circulars to many merchants downtown, inviting subscriptions to insure the pecuniary success of the expedition.
