CONNECTICUT.

Connecticut will elect a Governor and minor State officers, 4 Congressmen, 10 State Senators and members of the State Legislature. The present delegation in Congress contains one Republican and three Democrats. The new Legislature will elect a United States Senator to succeed William H. Barnum (Dem), whose term expires next March. The last Legislature was Republican by 3 majority in the Senate and 26 in the House. Of the Senators holding over 7 are Republican and 4 Democratic. Of the even-numbered districts in which Senators are to be elected this year, 6 were represented by Republicans in the last Legislature, and 4 by Democrats. The State and Congressional tickets now in the field are given below:

*Including 774 Greenback, 378 Prohibitionist and 36 scattering votes. †Including 1,910 Prohibition and 2,038 Greenback votes. ‡Including 439 scattering votes.

The Republican platform in Connecticut declares that the United States bonds and legal-tender notes "are sacred debts to be paid to the last dollar in the standard money of the world." The platform also extends cordial support to the President "in all his constitutional efforts to secure an honest and efficient public service, and to maintain the financial honor of the Nation." The Democrats urge an honest and just payment of the public debt, but declare that the Resumption Act was an unwise measure. There is nothing new in the Greenback and Prohibition platforms.

ILLINOIS.

Minor State officers, nineteen Congressmen, members of both branches of the Legislature and county officers will be chosen in Illinois. A Constitutional Amendment will also be voted upon. This amendment is for the purpose of changing Section 31, Article IV. of the State Constitution, and gives the Legislature authority to pass laws permitting the owners of lands to construct drains, etc., and levees for agricultural, sanitary or mining purposes, across the lands of others. The present delegation in Congress contains 11 Republicans and 9 Democrats. The new Legislature will elect a United States Senator to succeed Richard J. Oglesby (Rep.), whose term expires next March. In the last Legislature the Democrats had a plurality of 2 in the Senate, and the Republicans had a majority of 8 in the House. The Independents held the balance of power in the Senate and on joint ballot, having five members in the Senate. The State and Congressional tickets of the several parties are given below:

The Republican platform insists that all lawful means shall be taken to insure resumption at the time fixed by the act of 1875, that all paper currency shall be redeemable at will in coin. The platform declares, also, that the party will stand by the President in his efforts to meet his pledges. The Faneuil Hall Democrats believe in a currency redeemable in coin, and receivable at its face value for all public dues. The Worcester Democrats made no reference to the currency, but nominated General Butler, who is also the Greenback candidate for Governor. The other party platform contain no new features.

MINNESOTA.

Minnesota will elect minor State officers, three Congressmen and members of the Legislature. A legislative act will also be voted upon. This act is for the purpose of providing for the recovery and destruction of what are commonly known as Minnesota State Railroad bonds and the payment of certain claims incurred in the building of certain railroads. The bill proposes to use the 500,000 acres of Internal Improvement Lands in paying the bonds, in June, 1877. A somewhat similar proposition, in the form of a Constitutional Amendment, was defeated. The present delegation in Congress is Republican. The tickets in the field are given below:

MISSOURI.

Missouri will elect minor State officers, thirteen Congressmen and a new Legislature. An amendment to the State Constitution, providing for a poll tax for school purposes, will also be voted upon. The State now has 4 Republican and 9 Democratic Congressmen. The Congressional Districts were so rearranged by the last Legislature as to give a Democratic majority in each district, on the basis of the vote for President in 1876. The new Legislature will elect two United States Senators—one to fill the vacany caused by the death of Lewis V. Bogy (Dem.), and one for the term beginning next March. The Democrats had 81 majority on joint ballot in the last Legislature. The State and Congressional tickets this year are given below:
