ported 76,456,185 bushels of wheat and corn, against 67,212,266 from the other ports; this year New-York has exported 94,902,802 bushels, against 85,744,591 bushels from the other ports. New-York gains 18,446,617 bushels, or 24 per cent; the other ports gain 18,532,325 bushels, or 28 per cent. The most notable feature of the comparison, however, is the diversion of the wheat exports from New-York to Baltimore and Philadelphia.

The stock market to-day lapsed into comparative dulness, the total transactions amounting only to 291,112 shares. There was a general shrinkage of values accompanied by an exhibition of considerable feverishness during the greater part of the day. But both the dulness and the feverishness were relieved during the last half hour by activity and a revival of confidence which lifted prices all around, and in some instances more than recovered the decline of the earlier hours. The conspicuous stocks of the day's operations were the coal shares, Lake Shore, Erie and Western Union. The coal stocks early in the day sagged off ¾ to 1 per cent without being particularly weak. Late in the day the speculation in them received the benefit of a report that the Reading, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Lehigh and Wilkesbarre, Lehigh Coal and Navigation and Delaware and Hudson Companies had agreed to advance their prices 25 cents per on Monday next. Of course the advance will be on paper until it is realized, as was the advance that was agreed upon last May. But if the advance is realized, it will move the price of coal some 70 or 75 cents lower than the average of 1878, when the highest prices at which the coal stocks were sold were from 8 per cent for Delaware and Hudson to 27 per cent for Central of New-Jersey lower than the present figures.

The transactions in Erie, which amounted only to 50,200 shares, instead of over 120,000 shares as has been the case lately, were characterized by an undertow of strength throughout, although in early dealings there was a decline to 39. Lake Shore also, after an early decline of ⅝ per cent to 95¾, was steadily strong and finally sold at 96¾. The grangers were dull and lower, but in the late business more than recovered their losses and closed excited. Western Union was active between the figures of 97½ and 99½, ending at the higher figures—a gain of 1⅜ per cent on the last price of yesterday. Pacific Mail recovered to 32⅝ with only a moderate amount of business in the stock and small profits on the company's traffic. The express stocks generally were lower; Adams declining 1¼ and American ¾. United States gaining ¼. The lead rally extended through the whole list, and at the close the market presented an appearance of eagerness to buy and of restored confidence, which perhaps was due to the fact that money, after loaning as high as interest and ½ per cent commission was offered at 4 per cent.

An unusually large business was done in State bonds, with Louisiana consols particularly active and fluctuating, the sales amounting to $145,000 between 46 and 45, the final sale being at the highest figures. Missouri 6s of 1889 sold at 104¼, 6s of 1888 at 105, and funded bonds of 1894 or 1895 at 107¼; South Carolina non-fundables at 4⅜@4¼, 6s of 1873, deferred, at 7½@7¾, and Tennessee 6s, Virginia 6s, deferred, at 7½@7¾, and Tennessee 6s, new, at 31¼@31½. Railroad bonds of the speculative kinds generally were weak, but made a partial recovery in the late dealings in sympathy with the share market. Erie second consols closed at their best price, 84⅝, after having declined from 84¾ to 83¾, but the funded 5s only recovered ¼ in final sales at 81, against 81½ yesterday. Missouri, Kansas and Texas consols declined 1¼ per cent to 82, and seconds ⅜ per cent to 36⅝, later rallying to 37. Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg declined ⅞ to 66⅞, and rallied to 67½. Boston, Hartford and Erie opened at a decline of ¾ at 42¾, and recovered to 43⅞. Lehigh and Wilkesbarre consols were ½ lower at 79; Chesapeake and Ohio firsts, series B, 1¾ lower at 54¾, and C., C. and I. C. firsts, assented, ⅞ lower at 76½. Ohio and Mississippi firsts, Springfield Division, advanced 7½ per cent to 62½. Annexed are the closing quotations:
