LITERARY NOTES.

Mr. E. W. Gurley has written a book on the making and keeping of scrap books, and the Authors' Publishing Company has it in press.

"Signor Monaldini's Niece," in English dress, is praised by The London World, which says it can claim to be an exciting story of Italian life; also, that Camilla is charming and the story told with verve and delicacy.

In October A. C. Armstrong & Co. will publish a life of Professor Henry Boynton Smith, by his wife, with papers of Recollections by President Seelye, of Amherst, Professor Packard, of Bowdoin, and many others.

Carleton & Co. have in press an illustrated book for boys, entitled "Jack in the Jungle." Mr. P. T. Barnum's name appears on the title page as author, which suggests that he may have been making realistic pen studies in his menagerie.

It is said of the late T. S. Hawks, the oldest bookseller of Buffalo, and a successful business man, that he never asked nor gave credit, never kept a bank account for the transaction of business, and never kept a set of books, not even a cash book.

A letter from Rome states that Bishop Bigina Cosi, "Apostolic Vicar" in the district of Canton, has compiled a new Chinese alphabet, consisting of thirty-three letters, by means of which all the words which are now expressed by many thousands of symbols can be written.

Captain Wilson J. Vance, formerly Secretary Sherman's clerk in charge of appointments in the Treasury, has written a story called "Princes' Favors; a Story of Love, War and Politics." While some of the scenes are laid in Washington, it is not especially a story of Washington life. It will be ready early in October.

Mr. James Spedding once said, while maintaining that Shakespeare corrected his plays in subsequent editions: "The greatest poets whose practice I have had opportunities of knowing have been the most diligent revisers and correctors of their own works—by excisions, additions, transpositions and verbal alterations, many of them minute, many, to my apprehension, immaterial, and some not for the better."

The disagreements of Lord Bulwer-Lytton and his literary spouse are a matter of social history. It is claimed that the Dowager Lady Lytton is the author of "A Blighted Life," recently published, in which her poet son, "Owen Meredith," or, politically speaking, the late Viceroy of India, is described as "a miserable hound," Sir Edward Lytton as "a loathsome brute," and Charles Dickens as "a loud blackguard."

A volume of sermons of the late Dr. John Cole Coghlan, with a biographical sketch, has been published in London. Dr. Coghlan died in his prime, and although he used to say that he had never known a really happy day in his life, he was noted for his humor and occasional outbursts of merriment. There was some rudeness in his wit, as the following will show: When a fellow-curate showed him a plan of a desk he had contrived for the pulpit of the church, adding that it was entirely his own idea, "Yes," said Coghlan, "I believe it is the only idea of yours that ever was in a pulpit." When a gentleman during some discussion said apologetically, "I merely throw out the idea," he replied, "Well, I think that's about the best thing you can do with it." At the time when the revision of the Book of Common Prayer was agitated, Archbishop Trench was speaking one evening at the Palace of the necessity of some new special form of prayer for the opening of the General Synod. "There seems no need, your Grace, for anything new," said Coghlan; "Why cannot you use the Form of Prayer for those at sea?"

MINES AND MINING.

TUESDAY, Sept. 21—P. M.

The mining share markets to-day were unsettled and irregular. In the early dealings the Leadville shares were further depressed, but before the close of business there were sharp recoveries made for them. Chrysolite, with a very large business, declined from 3.95 to 3.65, and later rose to 4.05. Little Chief was 2 cents lower at 78, and then rose to 1. Climax rose from 1.65 to 2@1.90, and Amie, after sales at 57 cents, recovered to 60 cents, and closed unchanged from last night at 59 cents. The Comstock shares were steady—Consolidated Virginia at 3.10, and California at 2.15@2.20. Columbia Consolidated yielded 5 cents to 1.65, and then rose to 1.75, and Battle Creek was ¼ higher, at 2¾. Hukill sold at 1.70@1.55, closing at the lower figure—a final decline of 10 cents. The general list of low-price stocks was lower and weak, even at the close. Gold Placer declined 2 cents to 70 cents; Great Eastern, 3 cents to 58 cents; Buckeye, 2 cents to 19 cents; Silver Nugget, 7 cents to 45@46 cents, and Calaveras fell from 38 to 35 cents, but later again sold at 38 cents. Goodshaw was 10 cents higher at 70 cents, and Moose was steady at yesterday's decline to 28 cents. We note sales of Silver Cliff at 2.65. Best & Belcher at 11⅜@11¼. Ophir at 9¾@9⅝@9⅞. Sierra Nevada at 11@11⅛. Mexican at 11⅝@11½. Union Consolidated at 23@22⅞. Father de Smet at 6. Eureka at 17 and Horn Silver at 16. At the Stock Exchange, Standard was strong at 30¾@30½. At the close the market were excited and unsettled.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—B. B. Minor, well-known among mining operators, has just returned from an inspection of the mines of Southern Arizona. He speaks highly of Contention, Toughnut, Goodenough, Grand Central and Head Centre. The Harshaw Mill is turning out $25,000 per week, with monthly expenses of $20,000. He estimates three years' dividends in sight, or $27 per share. The lowest winze shows ore assaying $100 per ton. The French mine has passed into the hands of Haggin and Tevis, and is being worked energetically. This mine is reported to have produced over $3,000,000 under the old Mexican regime. The Alta, belonging to New-York parties, bids fair to become one of the big bonanzas. The bids fair to become one of the big bonanzas. The Holland furnace at La Novia will start up October 1. The company has 3,000 tons of ore on which to begin work. The Harshaw here shows no material change. Union crosscuts still remain a mystery.

Bullion valued at $23,831 84 was received in this city yesterday from the mines.

The product of the Ontario mill for fourteen days of September amounted to $87,300, an average of over $6,235 per day. Everything is reported as running along smoothly as usual.

The superintendent of the Silver Nugget reports, September 9: "South drift, 90 level, advanced 12 feet and north drift 11 feet. The vein averages over 4 feet between walls, with ore of a fair quality. In sinking the incline shaft, we are going down on the foot-wall side of the vein, and only take out two feet of the ledge. The quartz is constantly improving, and as water is coming in quite rapidly we are liable to make a big development any hour. Our steam pump at the mill has bursted and we have to hang up the stamps until I can procure a new one from San Francisco. Have telegraphed for one."

The Silver Cliff mine shipped 330½ pounds, value about $5,500, on Monday.

For the month of August the north lateral tunnel of the Sutro Tunnel was advanced 243 feet, (total length 4,158 feet), and the south lateral tunnel 59 feet, making the total length 1,567 feet. No progress was made in the main tunnel, and it still continues, as at last report, 20,489 feet to Comstock lode.

The Queen of the West is the name of a new placer claim recently located near the mouth of Pine Creek, about twelve miles form Buena Vista, Col. In three hours and a half the discoverer shovelled surface dirt into his boxes which, it is said, cleaned up between $12 and $15 worth of pure gold dust.

The Tombstone (Arizona) shipped $11,357 on the 11th and 12th of September.

Richer and more of it, is the word from the Rocky Bar mine this week, says The Grass Valley Weekly Tidings. Single specimens of over a hundred pounds weight, and one of these of the value of about $3,000, while the product of a single day's extraction is estimated at from $7,000 to $8,000 in gold, are results which may well, as they do, make stockholders jubilant.

The superintendent of the Union Consolidated (Bodie) reports September 12: Shaft now down 113 feet. The ledge has widened to three feet, with a streak of rich ore on the hanging wall showing free gold, and the balance of the ledge is a good milling ore. It has every indication of forming an immense ledge with the one cut above.
