cross between the Cotswald, Leicester and Native Sheep; were rather large and a little coarse boned, but were well fattened and made a handsome show as they stood in the pens at the 60th-st. yards. Mr. J. H. Hume sold them to Mr. A. Vandebock and it is understood that the larger part are for Messrs. W. Ottman & Co., of Fulton Market. The car load sold late yesterday by Messrs. Hallenbeck & Davis were fed by Mr. M. Mull at Granger, Medina County, Ohio, who is unmistakably one of the best feeders in this country. With an average weight of 268 lb. a medium size, but unusually well-built body, and possessing nearly all the fine points that please the eye of a lover of handsome stock, they were models of beauty. Not a blemish worth noticing in the entire car-load, running even in size and weight, with as fine pelts as a wool-puller ever handled, it is no wonder that the veteran salesman said he never sold as fine a load of sheep. They were a mixture of Cotswald and Merino, nearly all three-year olds, and probably represent Mr. Mull's best endeavor in the feeding business. Mr. D. Harrington purchased them at a cost of 8c. per lb. but they are intended to supply Messrs. Bonesow & Co.'s Christmas trade. It will be seen by the figures given above that prices for this grade of sheep are lower than a year ago.
