THE COURTS.

VERDICT AGAINST AN ATTORNEY.

Marshall Robbins as executor of his deceased wife brought an action in the Superior Court several years ago against Henry F. Pultzs, an attorney, to recover $500 alleged to have been fraudulently obtained by him from Mrs. Robbins. Mrs. Robbins employed Mr. Pultzs to effect a settlement of some estate from which she was entitled to receive about $15,000. Mr. Pultzs began some actions for this purpose, but subsequently negotiated a compromise. He told Mrs. Robbins that he would have to pay the attorney on the other side $500 in order to complete the compromise. Mrs. Robbins gave Mr. Pultzs the $500, but it is alleged that he never paid any money to the opposing lawyer, but wrongfully appropriated the whole sum to his own use. The case was tried and resulted in a verdict for Robbins. Mr. Pultzs obtained a new trial, and the case came on yesterday before Judge Sedwick. Verdict was rendered by the jury for $640, the principal and interest, in favor of Mr. Robbins.

SIMILARITY IN SITUATIONS.

At a hearing yesterday in the case of Bartley Campbell against Charles A. Byrne, of The Dramatic News, who is charged with criminal libel in having published a statement that Mr. Campbell had pilfered the materials of "The Galley Slave," Byrne testified that McKee Rankin told him that once in conversation with Mr. Campbell he cited an incident from a book entitled "Madame Gosselinc," which he thought would form a strong dramatic situation. The incident was used in "The Galley Slave." McKee Rankin testified that in his judgment a situation in "The Galley Slave" was substantially the same as one he had related once to Mr. Campbell. In the course of his testimony Mr. Rankin stated that he owned the play called "The Danites," which was represented as having been written by Joaquin Miller. But as a matter of fact the situations were made by himself and another person, a part of the language only having been written by Mr. Miller.

NOT ALLOWED TO BE A WIDOW.

Surrogate Calvin yesterday admitted the will of Isaac Acheson to probate. Eliza Acheson, a woman claiming to be the decedent's widow, contested the will a few months ago. J. M. Kenna was appointed referee and made a report in which her claim as widow is disallowed. The Surrogate confirmed the report. John C. Acheson, a brother, and Sarah and Mary Campbell, sisters of the deceased, thereafter began a second contest of the will. The objections to the probate were yesterday withdrawn.

FAILING TO PROVE HER CLAIM.

Justice Pratt, in Special Term of the Supreme Court of Kings County, has rendered a decision in the suit of Mary J. Badger against Alfred C. Badger and others for dower. The plaintiff claimed to be the wife Jacob Badger, who dropped dead in Brooklyn last May. She had always been known as Mrs. Mary J. Baker. She produced proof that the deceased man had introduced her as his wife, but only in the obscure neighborhood where she lived, and not in the circles in which he moved; and that they lived together one summer at Isaib, but as Mr. and Mrs. Baker. That mode of life was carried on for over twenty years. Justice Pratt decides that the plaintiff is not the wife of the deceased; that they were never married, and that when he introduced her as his wife it was under a fictitious name.

FESTIVITIES IN FOURTEENTH STREET.

The second annual ball of the Taxpayers Association took place Wednesday evening at Ferrero's Assembly Rooms in Fourteenth-st. The hall was decorated with flags, and with the illuminated motto of the Association. About 2,500 people were present. The ball did not begin until after 10 o'clock, and the festivities were still going on at an early hour in the morning. The music called forth many evidences of the appreciation of the listeners. The efforts of the members of the various committees to make the ball a success were unceasing. The grand march was led by Judge and Mrs. Charles J. Nehrbas.

Among the prominent guests were: Justice and Mrs. J. C. Julius Langbein, George F. Langbein, Deputy Tax Commissioner Peter Gillespie, John H. Friend, Charities Commissioner Hess, School Commissioner Traud, Coroner Gerson N. Hermann, Aldermen Sauer, Finck, Strack, Reilly, Seaman and Kilfoard; Commissioner of Emigration Ulrich, Excise Commissioner Friedsam, ex-School Commissioner Klunzwerth, Judge Gedney, Lieutenant-Colonel A. L. Webber, Captain George Theiss, Lieutenant Adam Anhault, Captain George Stoepple, Major George W. Sauer and Colonel Charles S. Spencer.

Letters of regret were received from Mayor Grace, Chief Justice Charles P. Daly, General Grant, ex-Mayor Cooper, Generals Arthur and Sherman.

It all depends on how you look at these ancestors. One aristocratic girl was yesterday boasting that her forefathers came over with the pilgrims, when another were maiden, whose widowed mother had recently married, said: "Stay, go long with your old duds, I've got a brand new father."—[Oil City Derrick.

A PLEASANT PARISHIONER.—The New Vicar's Wife—"I trust we shall see you at church on Sunday, Mrs. Grubbs. I hear you have not been attending lately." Mrs. Grubbs—"Naw, aw didn't hake last pawson; I never can a-bear hagain." N. Y. W.—"Dear me, Mrs. Grubbs, where did you acquire your knowledge of Latin?"—[Fun.
