THE MONEY MARKET.

SUNDAY, Jan. 23—P. M.

The exports and imports of merchandise at New-York since January 1, make a favorable comparison with the same time in 1880; the value of the exports this year being $1,874,810 more than last year, and the value of the imports $4,975,943 less than for the same time in 1880—a change in favor of the port of $6,850,753. The imports of specie this year to date amount to $3,679,000 against $724,790 in 1880, and the exports of specie (principally silver bullion) to $528,225 against $658,302 in 1880.

The weekly bank statement that was issued yesterday shows a departure from the conservative course which the preceding statement indicated was to be the policy of the banks. The loans are reported expanded $4,975,300, raising that item to $307,889,600. The gain in specie and legal-tenders amounts to $1,731,100, which, added to the increase in loans, is about $150,000 more than the increase in deposits, indicating that there were no receipts of National bank notes. The total average reserves for the week—specie and legal-tenders—are reported at $82,879,700, or $13,904,000 more than the amount held at the same date in 1880; but an increase of $27,771,000 in loans raises the deposits so that now the 25 per cent rule requires a reserve of $74,732,975 against $64,370,925, the sum required a year ago. The week's movement results in a gain of $92,325 to the surplus reserve, and leaves it at $8,146,725 against $4,604,775 at the same date of 1880. The following are the comparative totals of the statements of January 15 and January 22:

	Jan. 15.	Jan. 22.	Differences.
Loans	$302,884,300	$307,889,600	Inc. $4,975,300
Specie	65,462,500	66,484,100	Inc. 1,021,600
Legal-tenders	15,686,100	16,395,600	Inc. 709,500
Deposits	292,376,800	293,911,000	Inc. 1,535,100
Circulation	18,425,000	18,345,500	Dec. 79,500

The following shows the relation between the total reserve and the total deposit liabilities:

	Jan. 15.	Jan. 22.	Changes.
Specie	$65,462,500	$66,484,100	Inc. $1,021,600
Legal-tenders	15,686,100	16,395,600	Inc. 709,500
Total reserve	81,148,600	82,879,700	Inc. 1,731,100
Reserve req'red against dep'sits.	73,094,200	74,732,975	Inc. 1,638,775
Surplus reserve	8,054,400	8,146,725	Inc. 92,325

Compared with that of the corresponding date of 1880, the present statement shows: Loans increased, $27,771,000; specie increased, $14,651,900; legal-tenders decreased, $747,000; deposits increased, $41,488,200; circulation decreased, $3,317,400. The total reserve ($82,879,700) now is 27.76 per cent of the total deposits, against 27.75 last week and 26.77 for January 24, 1880.

The local money market worked easily during the week, and 5 per cent for call loans is a fair average of the business done. This undoubtedly was due to the liberal disposition of the banks as shown by the weekly statement. The foreign exchanges were excessively dull, but rates were steady. As to domestic exchanges, the tendency of rates at interior points has been favorable to New-York up to Thursday, and since then all telegraphic communications have been cut off.

At the Stock Exchange, the speculation which made the preceding week memorable made last week more noteworthy than all preceding weeks. It is undeniable that the speculative interest has shown a wonderful growth. A confidence never before seen is exhibited; and, no matter how great may be the advances recorded, they do not deter buyers at still higher prices. With most prices already higher than the most sanguine "bull" of three months ago expected to see them during the year 1881, the predictions of further advances, even greater than those already made, are indulged in with a confidence that never was equalled. Sellers of privileges—called "spreads"—to deliver stocks at one price or call at another price, name the delivery price 5@6 per cent below the market and the call price 10@15 per cent above the market price, and find eager buyers of such "spreads" having sixty days to run. That fact illustrates the temper of the average speculator, and on it the work of steadily advancing prices has proceeded with little or no reactions that are worthy of the name.

Government bonds were dull the week through, and the total transactions at the Boards amounted only to $187,000, against $420,500 for the preceding week. The old issues held firm at last week's prices, but the 4½s and 4s show declines of ¼ per cent each. No one expects the Refunding bill to pass the Senate in the shape in which it has left the House, and the difficulties in the way encouraged to believe that no practical bill will become a law at this session. State bonds were steady, with only a moderate amount of business. The special features of the dealings in railroad bonds were the sharp advances in the prices of junior securities of certain properties, which are believed to be making rapid progress toward becoming earners of interest on their income bonds, and the weakness of Erie second consolidated, which, if regarded as trustworthy 6 per cent investments, are selling lower than any other bond on the list. The business done in first-class bonds was small, not from a lack of demand, but because of the prices which present holders demand.

The business done in stocks last week was not as large as that for the preceding week, having been 3,288,372 shares against 3,307,552. But, except for the total suspension of telegraphic communication during the last two days, it is probable that the transactions last week would have largely exceeded those of the previous week. While there were numerous reactions in the prices of nearly all stocks, and a few stocks that show final small declines, there was hardly one stock that at some time in the week did not sell higher than in the preceding week. Erie, Central Pacific, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and C., C. and I. C. are the notable exceptions in showing any important declines for the week; and Central Pacific was influenced by a probably unfounded report that its declared dividend was not to be paid. The stocks showing the greatest advances are—St. Paul and Omaha preferred, 9¾; Canada Southern, 4¾; Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, 9⅞; Delaware and Hudson, 8½; Illinois Central, 6⅝; Lake Erie and Western, 5⅝; Ontario and Western, 4⅜; Ohio Central, 3; Peoria, Decatur and Evansville, 4¾; and Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg, 7½. The great speculative event of the week, outside of the Stock Exchange, was the ratification by the respective Boards of Directors, subject to a vote of stockholders, of the agreement (whatever that may be) for a consolidation of the Western Union, American Union and Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Companies. The fact that so much progress was made, the general public expression of indignation at the project, and the talk about the immediate establishment of new and independent telegraph lines, gave particular zest to the speculation in telegraph stocks, and their prices fluctuated widely and frequently; but at the end Western Union shows an advance for the week of 7¼. American Union of 4¾, and Atlantic and Pacific of 4 per cent. The week probably has presented the widest speculation ever known, although for the advance of some of the stocks there seems to be a foundation of merit, present or well assured as prospective. But there are no indications of abatement in the fever, and a more confident closing than that of last night never was made.

The Treasurer now holds $359,892,250 in United States bonds to secure bank circulation. United States bonds deposited for circulation for the week, $1,664,900; United States bonds held for circulation withdrawn for the week, $1,648,200. National bank circulation outstanding: Currency notes, $343,307,653; gold notes, $1,135,260. The customs receipts at Washington yesterday amounted to $342,583, and the internal revenue receipts to $486,804. The Treasurer received $248,000 in National bank notes for redemption; the totals of such receipts for the week, compared with the same week of 1880, being as follows:

	1880.	1881.
New-York	$1,035,000	$759,000

The suspension of telegraphic communication since Friday morning makes our usual weekly record of the movement of flour and grain one day short for this year. Otherwise the following comparisons are correct.

The total movements for the week ended January 21, 1881, and since January 1, for years 1880 and 1881, were as follows:
