THE COURTS.

CIVIL NOTES.

Absolute divorce was granted in Brooklyn yesterday to Helena Meyer from Otto Meyer.

David H. Mathie recovered yesterday $450 damages for the death of his little boy in an action begun in the Court of Common Pleas against William A. Warwick, the owner of a coal cart, by which the boy was run over and killed.

Thomas McCullough has brought a suit against the receiver of the Rockaway Improvement Company for $20,000. While at work in the fourth story of the big hotel he fell through an elevator passage to the first floor breaking his arm and injuring his spine so that he will always be a sufferer.

Judge J. F. Daly rendered yesterday a decision in the matter of the application of Clarinda Woodruff for the custody of her children, who she claimed had been enticed away from her by Aaron B. Woodruff, her husband. Judge Daly said that he would not remove the children from the custody of the father, as they preferred to remain with him.

George P. Putnam's Sons began recently an action in the Supreme Court against Dr. Leo T. Mayer and others to restrain them from publishing a certain work on anatomy. The plaintiffs claim that the publication was a violation of their rights acquired under a contract to publish the lectures of Dr. Darling and Dr. Rauney. The case was submitted yesterday to Justice Van Vorst at Special Term. The decision was reserved.

The Supreme Court of the United States has rendered a decision as to the validity of the Pilot law of New-York with reference to the Constitution of the United States—a question that never before had been passed upon by that Court. C. A. McNamee, a Sandy Hook pilot, tendered his services to the schooner E. E. Racket when fifty miles from this port. The tender was refused. Action was brought against Alston Wilson, the owner of the vessel, and the judgment in favor of the pilot was sustained by the Court of Appeals. The United States Supreme Court affirms this judgment.

Augustus F. Miller died in this city in January, 1881; his will has been offered for probate and the first hearing upon the contest of it was had yesterday before Surrogate Calvin. The will, which disposes of an estate of about $100,000, was drawn by the testator himself on one side of a single sheet of letter paper. There was no punctuation, no attestation clause, and the names of the witnesses were signed after the word "witnesses." Some time after the making of the will, in April, 1875, Mr. Miller married the first legatee, Charlotte Van Wagener. She is the contestant, contending that it was not properly executed before the witnesses. There are no heirs or next of kin.

COMMISSIONERS AT LOGGERHEADS.

At the meeting of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction of Kings County Wednesday there was a sequel of the altercation between Commissioner Ryan and Warden Green, of the Penitentiary, on Friday of last week, which was described in Sunday's TRIBUNE. Mr. Ryan offered a resolution that Warden Green be dismissed for insolently refusing to give information concerning the Penitentiary to Commissioner Ryan. President Shipman immediately offered a motion to lay the resolution on the table. This was seconded by Commissioner Henry, and by their votes it was carried. Commissioner Ryan then said the gag law was being enforced, and complained of the action of his fellow Commissioners. He afterwad offered a resolution that the heads of the county institutions be required to give to any one of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction information at their command about their departments under penalty of dismissal. Commissioner Henry moved to strike out the clause providing for dismissal, and the resolution lately lauded for general housework at low wages. 155 East 29th-st., C. G. RIMSKOLDS.
