NOTES ON EDUCATION.

A permanent fund of $100,000 is to be raised for the benefit of the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

Colored children in Washington are not yet admitted to the public schools, separate schools being provided for them.

The University of Sydney recently opened its classes and degrees to women, and has just received a gift of $25,000 for the endowment of scholarships tenable by either young men or women.

London last year provided additional school accommodation for 25 000 children, and now instructs at the Board Schools and at the voluntary schools over 500,000 pupils. Last year the cost per capita was $3 18.

An Educational Commission is to meet at Calcutta next winter to consider, among other things, the question of the education of the masses in India, and the encouragement of higher education by private enterprise.

The total expenses of the Boston public schools for the past financial year amounted to $1,559,677 50. Of this sum $30,324 29 was devoted to the maintenance of the evening high and elementary schools.

The movement in favor of the higher education of women in France, is, says a writer in The Pall Mall Gazette, regarded by earnest men as one of deepest political moment. "When the Frenchwoman," he adds, "is educated, when justice has been done to her intelligence and her sympathetic faculties, France need no longer fear any more a 16th of May or other form of reactionary conspiracy. For up to this time the strength of the reactionary party has lain in its hold on women through the confessional, and when the women are won over to the other side there will be no abiding ground left."

Committees have been appointed in Pittsburg to establish in connection with the Western University of Pennsylvania a college of law and political science in memory of President Garfield. They will immediately begin to collect funds for the purpose. The sum of $1,500 is to be applied to the maintenance of an oratorical foundation which shall provide each year on the birthday of Garfield an oration from some eminent American. It is proposed that the Pittsburg College of Physicians be connected with the Western University as its medical department, thus making Pittsburg a second centre for medical instruction in Pennsylvania.

It is said that public opinion in Italy respecting the superior education of women is gradually undergoing a great change. The Italian journals are full of praises of the two young women who recently won the highest degrees at the Roman University, and those female students who undertake Latin and Greek, Euclid and algebra are no longer laughed at. Women's mental development has long been neglected in Italy, to the great injury of the nation. Florence and Rome now have excellent Normal Schools, and in Florence there is also a commercial school, wherein women learn the general routine of a commercial education, and qualify themselves for employment in mercantile houses.

The Hartford School Board last winter prohibited the detention as punishment of pupils after the regular hours of the public schools. Teachers who at first objected to the abolition of this method of discipline have become converted to it by experience. They have found that the need of discipline has not been so great, and that pupils study with the intention of accomplishment rather than for smooth recitation merely. The School Board has done another wise thing in emphatically recommending that the pay of the primary teachers be increased. They declare that there is no reason why these teachers should not receive salaries equal to those now given to instructors in higher grades.

At the opening of the term at Amherst, President Seelye proposed to the students that instead of the faculty passing judgment on cases of discipline, as is now the custom, the matter be left to a great extent in the hands of the students themselves, who are to elect a representative board of ten men, four being from the senior, three from the junior, two from the sophomore and one from the freshman classes, with a member of the faculty as presiding officer. The duties of the board are to receive evidence in case a student has disobeyed the laws of the college, watch it carefully, and render a decision, which of course is liable to be overruled by the faculty, but will stand as the judgment of the students themselves. The students are now considering this proposal, which is the natural result of the scheme of self government which has been put in force successfully during the past year.

That age is not essential to successful teaching is the reasonable declaration of The Student, the educational journal of the Society of Friends. "Horace Mann," it continues, "thought some of the girl teachers whom he knew, with a wealth of vim and energy and patience, coupled with an aptitude for the work, to be second in efficiency to none in the profession. Such teachers should be prized, wherever they show themselves. Let them know that they are appreciated. Let there be a difference made between them and those who do not show such aptitude. It is not necessary that they be promoted to other and more responsible positions. But let them be made comfortable as to salary and surroundings in their positions. They are the salt of their class of workers." It is a pity that it should be necessary to say these things. Even the average school trustee ought to see the value of the teacher who is born and not made. Her methods do not, perhaps, result in any more "marks" than those of her inferiors, but the spirit and intelligence of her pupils always show the impress of the force that makes them think rather than gabble.

Superintendent Cooper, of Evansville, Ind., gives these simple and judicious instructions to the teachers under his charge: "Let your explanations be suited to the capacity of your pupils. In order to do this endeavor to put yourself in the place of the pupil, at his age, or when you were doing the same work, and do unto him as you would like to have been done by under like circumstances. Unless we are careful much of our teaching is worthless because it is above the capacity of the pupils—as some one has truthfully said: 'We shoot over their heads.' Never proceed with instruction without the undivided attention of your pupils. Train them to hear correctly and reproduce in thought and good language what you have told them. Remember that the most important work of the teacher's instruction is to make the pupil think—not to think for him; to make him talk—not to talk for him; to draw out his powers—not display those of the teacher. Encourage your pupils to ask questions, but do not answer them yourself until you have given them an opportunity to answer. Allow slow pupils time to think and speak. The readiest pupils are not always the best thinkers. If a question is properly stated it should seldom be repeated. The attention should be such that a repetition is not necessary. Have something interesting and instructive to say to your pupils at every recitation. If you can keep your pupils at work you will have but little trouble about order. Secure and hold the attention of every pupil of the class during recitation. A lesson has never been given unless it has been received.

THE SOUTH OF TO-DAY.

TRIBUNE EXTRA NO. 81.

IN DIXIE'S LAND; OR, THE SOUTH OF TO-DAY.

A SERIES OF GRAPHIC LETTERS BY AN UNPREJUDICED OBSERVER.

From The Nation of September 22.

"No one can read these letters without speedily discovering that their writer possesses unusual qualifications as an observer, that he unites quick and well-trained faculties with sound and balanced judgment; that he is well equipped for his work by previous study of social questions and reflection upon them; that his candor is conspicuous, and that he is free from any particular prejudice or personal prepossessions which might warp the statement of his conclusions. We have seldom read a record of travels that gave evidence of more absolute trustworthiness. And this is not the result of simply a dry and cold intelligence, for the letters are full of strong but reserved feeling, and frequently display a shrewd wit and cheerful humor. From a merely literary point of view they are excellent; they are free from newspaper slang and written in direct and often vigorous English, though they exhibit not infrequently the marks of haste in composition and lack of opportunity of revision."

Price, postpaid, 10 cents. Address THE TRIBUNE, New-York.

MINES AND MINING.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 19—P. M.

The principal and only attractive feature at the Mining Stock Boards to-day was the large dealings in and advance for Robinson Consolidated. The stock yesterday sold down to 12¼, and to-day it rose to 13¾ to 13½. Chrysolite was dull and steady at 6½, and Iron Silver was a shade easier at 2.05. The State Lines were not as active as usual, but 2 and 3 fluctuated between 4 and 3.90, closing at the lowest figure; 1 and 4 was 2 cents lower at 81 cents, and Oriental and Miller was 1 cent lower at 84 cents. The markets generally closed dull and uninteresting.

The Stormont Silver Mining Company has declared a monthly dividend (No. 5) of 5 cents per share, payable November 1. Transfer books close October 26 and reopen November 2.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—It is reported on good authority, though unofficially, that the Sierra Nevada and Union Consolidated joint winze is again in ore, and it is said that the assays are higher than from the first strike.

The Imperial is now ready for prospecting on the 2,800 level.

Thirty-five men are extracting ore from the Savage 2,000 level.

The west cut in Potosi at the 2,400 level continues in bunches of quartz giving low assays.

Sutro Tunnel superintendent reports that the header in the south lateral drift was 141 feet in Belcher ground on October 15. The ledge found in the south lateral is still being prospected. The vein has become wider and is interspersed with clay seams.

Richmond Consolidated turns out about $170,000 monthly.

The Eureka Consolidated directors have postponed further dividends until the new shaft and hoisting works are completed.

The market is firm, with a slight upward tendency.

Tuscarora has been assessed 15 cents per share.

Bullion valued at $41,811 92 was received in this city yesterday from the mines.

A Portland, Me., dispatch to the Mining Associated Press, says: "The Mascot Company, whose mines are at Gorham, N. H., began work on its Galena King claim on August 5, and in September shipped about seventy-five tons of ore to the New-England Smelting Works, at East Boston. The Mascot bids fair to become one of the big mines of the country.

"The Douglass copper mine at Blue Hill has now arrived at the producing stage. The furnaces are running day and night and are producing a fine grade of ingot copper.

"The Deer Isle Company is making regular shipments of good ore to Swansea. Its ores are very complex, and have never yet been successfully worked in this country.

The New-Hampshire Reduction Company is a new organization formed for the purpose of equipping such of the New-England mines with reduction and smelting works as can insure a steady supply of good ore. It has already contracted to equip the Mascot mine with concentrating works and to concentrate its ore at a satisfactory price.

"The mines of Sullivan and vicinity are doing good work and good results are reported from several of them."

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Hora Silver Mining Company, recently held at Frisco, Utah, the following persons were elected directors for the ensuing year: Charles G. Francklyn, F. G. Brown, William S. Hoyt, Allan G. Campbell, M. Cullen, A. Eyram and D. Ryan. At a subsequent meeting of the directors C. G. Francklyn was elected president; F. G. Brown, vice-president; William S. Hoyt, secretary, and William F. Van Pelt, treasurer.

President Brewster, of the Columbia and Beaver mines, telegraphs, October 14, from Sawtooth, Idaho: "Have struck Beaver ledge, showing large quantity of good ore. Fully meets expectations."

Varkull superintendent reports from South Mountain, Idaho: "Small force of men is working on the New-York, Mona and Avenue mines. Considerable first and second-class ore is being extracted. The New-York yields about twenty-five tons of second-class ore daily, beside considerable first-class. The Mona shows a ledge of fine galena and gray carbonate ore about three feet in width. The Avenue is improving with depth. The mill is running day and night. The furnace will start up as soon as the men to run it arrive from Salt Lake."

Vizina Consolidated superintendent reports that in September 612 tons of ore were sent to mill, producing $70,600 bullion. Previous to September 3, 680 tons were milled, yielding $295,500. Average value of September output, $114 per ton. The main shaft is now down 415 feet and the bottom is improving, the ground becoming softer. No. 2 east drift is looking well. The bulk of the ore now being extracted is taken from this drift and its stopes. The output will now be limited to 500 tons per month until the question of erecting a mill has been decided.
