known as the Casino. Mr. Galligan owns the premises adjoining the Casino and alleges that the window, projecting as it does four feet beyond the house line, is a nuisance and one which he has a right to have abated. The trial of the suit was begun yesterday in Special Term.

The New-York Star Newspaper Company yesterday recovered a verdict against the city for $8,252 55 for public printing. The company published five different times the list of polling places in 1881, and afterward published once the official returns. The authority for doing the work was a vote of the Police Commissioners. The city contested the payment of the bill put in by the company, and an action was begun in the Court of Common Pleas to enforce it. The case was tried yesterday before Judge Van Brunt and a jury. An attempt was made on the part of the city to prove that the price charged by the company was excessive, but Judge Van Brunt excluded the evidence and directed a verdict for the plaintiff for the full amount demanded, with interest.

Surrogate Rollins on Thursday signed an order for the arrest of Samuel A. Lewis, ex-President of the Board of Aldermen, for contempt of court in not turning over a small sum which he held as temporary administrator of the estate of Mrs. Margaret Shaud. Mr. Lewis says that the accounting which was passed by the Surrogate contained no items for his legal fees and expenses. Without making any allowance for these charges against the estate, he was only indebted to it for about $900. Deducting from this sum the items which he, beyond any doubt or controversy, had the right to charge against the estate, there remained only a small sum. Mr. Lewis asserts that he does not owe the estate even this small sum.
