FRIDAY, Feb. 2—P. M.

The United States Treasurer's statement of liabilities and assets as of February 1 shows a gain in the actual cash balance over liabilities of over $10,800,000 as compared with the balance of January 1. The statement of assets contains the items of "United States bonds and interest, $18,703,848," evidently the amount of bonds and interest that had been paid under the 119th call, which will mature February 10, and under the indirect call for $10,000,000 to mature February 28. Therefore, as there is nothing on the liability side to represent amounts of unmatured calls, that item is ignored in the subjoined statement. But it is to be understood that of the 119th call and of the indirect call there remains to be redeemed only about $7,000,000. As no more bonds under the indirect call will be presented while the market prices for them remain at a premium, which is not more than the accrued interest, it is fair to estimate the amount of called bonds which have not been presented for payment at $3,000,000 (for the 119th call) in excess of the amount given in the Treasury's statement as liability for "called bonds and interest." The statement shows a gain for the month of $1,813,266 in the amount of gold coin and bullion on hand and an increase in the amount of outstanding gold certificates of $8,154,830; so that the Treasury's actual ownership of gold was decreased $6,341,564. The holdings of legal-tender notes and National bank notes were increased $9,092,112, and the deposits in National banks were reduced $766,467. Several correspondents heretofore have made the point that our method of making up the Treasury's reserve against its legal-tenders was incorrect, in that we counted legal-tender notes, National bank notes and New-York and San Francisco exchange as the equivalent of gold. It is asserted, and correctly asserted, that $33,000,000 of legal-tender notes in the Treasury is no more in reserve against the remaining outstanding $313,000,000 of notes than is the redeemed circulation of a bank a reserve against its other debts. The point is well taken. But United States notes are a legal-tender, and our statement gives the particular figures for every item, so that no one is deceived by them. On the basis on which we are asked to make up the statement, the gold reserve against the actual amount of outstanding legal-tenders (and it is the correct principle) is only about 8 per cent. The Treasury holds $3,514,127 more standard silver dollars than it held a month ago, and the outstanding amount of silver certificates is $4,840 less; so that the Treasury owns $3,518,967 more of the dollars of "our fathers" than it did on January 1. The amount of silver bullion held is $706,235 less than on January 1, and the fractional silver coins are increased $613,553, to $27,135,245—an amount greater than the total of all kinds of cash ordinarily held by the Treasury before 1861. The net increase in the Treasury's ownership of silver of all kinds for the month is $3,424,285. The total amount of silver for which the Government furnishes storage at the people's expense is $128,438,172.

In our usual form we present an analysis of the Treasurer's statement of February 1, 1883, as follows:

To-day's stock market was no hing more or less than a continuance of that for several preceding days. There was further progress made in the inevitable liquidation of the recent speculation for higher prices; the usual rallies, caused by a covering of "shorts," occurred, but the tendency of values toward a lower range were only temporarily checked by such ephemeral reactions. The amount of transactions (406,393 shares) reflects a greater activity, but it was an activity born of discouragement rather than of hope. St. Paul, Union Pacific, Northwestern, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Lake Shore, Western Union Telegraph, Central of New-Jersey, Denver and Rio Grande, Louisville and Nashville, Central and Hudson and the Wabashes were active and notably weak stocks of the day. But the whole market closed weak at near to the lowest prices.

Government bonds were moderately active at irregular prices. The final bids are ⅛ lower for the 3s, unchanged for the 3½s, ½ higher for the 4s, and ¼ higher for the 4½s. Annexed are the closing quotations:

In State bonds little was done outside of the Arkansas aid bonds to the railroads, which held their late advance with remarkable tenacity. Fort Smith sold ($1,000) at 68, and outside the Board at 70 for some amounts. Pine Bluff brought 56@55, and Centrals 25½@25. Louisiana consols were steady at 73¼. Of city bank stocks, American Exchange sold (14) at 130 and America (15) at 153.

Railroad bonds were dull. Transactions were small. Prices generally were lower. Erie second consols at 96¾ for a small lot were ¼. Chesapeake and Ohio, first series B, were off ¾ at 90¼, and currency debts were ¾ lower at 53. Canada Southern firsts were ½ lower at 93, and New-York, Chicago and St. Louis firsts were ¼ lower at 97½. Missouri, Kansas and Texas seconds declined 1 to 56, and St. Louis and Iron Mountain new fives, after 77¼, were steady at 77. Richmond and Danville firsts declined ¾ to 93, and their debentures were ½ lower at 60¾. Virginia Midland issues sold at 55¼@55, and East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia 5s were steady at 71⅞. Louisville and Nashville general mortgages were off ¼ at 92½. St. Paul firsts, Southern Minnesota division, were steady at 91⅞@92. St. Paul and Omaha consols with a retail business advanced to 109. Kansas and Northern St. Charles Bridge firsts sold at 90. Denver and Rio Grande consols were ½ lower at 90. Union Pacific firsts were firm at 114, Central Pacific firsts declined to 113⅜@113¾. Texas and Pacific incomes were ¾ lower at 59 and firsts of Rio Grande division, after 80½, were ⅛ lower at 79⅞. Northern Pacific firsts remained firm at 103¼@103⅜.

The business of the Sub-Treasury for the week ending to-night includes the receipt of $10,037,634 and the payment of $6,968,642. The apparent result of these transactions is a gain to the general balance of $3,068,992 and leaves it $122,392,185, against $119,323,193 on January 26. The receipts of the week, however, include an issue of $1,400,000 gold certificates; so that without regard to other items, which are simply a matter of bookkeeping, the gain for the week was only $1,668,992. Money on call at the Stock Exchange ruled at 4 per cent. The closing rates were 3@3½. The domestic exchanges on New York are as last quoted, except that at Chicago the rates are weak at 80 cents discount and at St. Louis at 75 cents discount.

The Clearing-House statement to-day is as follows: Exchanges, $143,026,882; balances, $5,326,010.

The United States Treasurer at Washington today received $456,000 National bank notes for redemption. The customs receipts were $817,900 and the internal revenue receipts $371,610.

The foreign exchanges are dull but strong on the basis of the following quotations for actual business: Bankers' bills, $4 85 and $4 86¼ for long and short sterling respectively; 5.21⅜ and 5.17⅞ for francs; 94¾ and 95½ for reichmarks; 39⅞ and 40⅛ for guilders.

In London, British consols were quiet and steady at 102 1-16 for money, and at 102⅜ for account. United States 3½s were unchanged at 105⅞, and the other issues were easier at 122⅛ for the 4s and 116¼ for the 4½s. American railways were all lower, sympathetically with yesterday's decline in the home market. The Bank of England gained £8,000 bullion on balance. Bar silver was higher at 50⅝d. per ounce. At Paris, French rentes advanced to 78.70 francs.

The St. Louis and San Francisco Railway gives notice that for the purpose of the annual meeting of the stockholders to be held in St. Louis on Tuesday, February 13, the transfer books of the capital stock will be closed on February 10 and reopened on March 14.
