particular. He says that he has in his possession letters written by Major Charles A. Withers, now of Cincinnati, who was chief of Morgan's staff, and by other officers who were members of the staff, all showing that Morgan had not surrendered but was trying to get to his horse to escape when he was shot down. Major Withers and another officer of his staff were with Morgan when he was killed by a volley fired by a squad of the 9th Tennessee Cavalry—Colonel Brownlow's regiment. The surprise had been complete, but a portion of Morgan's command rallied, and there was a brisk fight after he fell. Colonel Brownlow said: "Captain Northington, of my regiment, who is now living in Kansas and who was a very powerful man, seized Morgan's body, threw it across his horse and brought it out into the road where I was shouting that he had 'the thief.' I ordered him to lay the body on the grass by the roadside and take command of his company, for we still had fighting to do. He obeyed my order. About that time Captain H. B. Clay, of Morgan's staff, was brought in a prisoner. Soon afterward he came to me and said that one of my officers had Morgan's coat and waistcoat and asked me to get them, which I did. The body was removed to the house as soon as practicable. I never touched it, nor thought of doing so. General Gilem had come up at that time, and did not know that Morgan was in Greenville until he had been dead at least an hour. The body was then at the house, and I went with him to look at it."

Colonel Brownlow says that he can substantiate his statements by all of General Morgan's officers, who were present and are now living.

THE POST OFFICE KEY FUND.

ESTABLISHED TO PROTECT RENTERS AND INSURE THE RETURN OF KEYS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The First Assistant Postmaster-General has addressed a letter to J. P. Butler, of Saratoga Springs, in answer to a communication protesting against the enforcement of Circular No. 1,222, which requires a deposit of fifty cents from box renters for each key to lock boxes. The letter states that the Department had frequently received complaints that persons on surrendering their boxes were unable to secure the return of deposits made for keys, because there had been a change of postmasters, and no fund was left to redeem the keys. It was to correct that evil and to secure holders of boxes from loss occurring from the misapplication of the funds by postmasters and to insure the proper return of the keys that the circular was issued. The postmasters are now required to account to the Department for all moneys collected for keys and to redeem them when surrendered by a box renter. The key deposit fund is held in the custody of the Department.

LIEUTENANT ROBERTSON'S CASE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—General Robertson, father of Lieutenant Robertson, of the First Cavalry, who is charged with duplicating his pay accounts, became satisfied through telegraphic reports from his son, of the entire integrity of the latter, and accordingly he yesterday made a written request to the War Department not to withdraw the charges already preferred. The father feels that, owing to the publicity given his case, the verdict of a court-martial alone can render complete justice to his son.

THE COURTS.

TRYING TO RELEASE THE MARY N. HOGAN.

Judge Brown, of the United States District Court, heard argument yesterday on a motion to release on bond the steam-tug Mary N. Hogan, which was seized a few weeks ago on the charge that it was to be used to aid the insurgents in Hayti. Counsel for the owners of the tug argued that there was no reason way the usual practice in libel cases should not be followed. District-Attorney Root contended that the value of the tug was no fair measure of the evil that might be inflicted by it. He considered it essential that the tug itself should be held. He charged that the tug had been registered by a falsehood on the part of the captain, who had declared himself the sole owner. Judge Brown did not render his decision on the motion.

"I had a narrow escape from being infected with cholera to-day," said Dusenbury to Mis. D., nervously wiping the cold sweat from his brow. "Why, how was that, dear?" she fondly asked. "Well, you see," said he, "I dropped into a picture store down town this morning, and was just drawing my check for a lovely $1,000 landscape, when I happened to notice that the subject was an Egyptian village."—[Boston Herald.

An able-bodied insect: The guard of an English railway carriage recently refused to allow a naturalist to carry a live hedgehog with him. The traveller, indignant, pulled a turtle from his wallet, and said: "Take this, too;" but the guard replied, good-naturedly: "He no, sir. It's dogs you can't carry; and dogs is dogs, cats is dogs, and 'edge-'ogs is dogs, but turtles is hinsects."

TUESDAY, Aug. 7—P. M.

The stock market to-day was more active than it lately has been, and the recorded transactions aggregated 282,700 shares. While early prices showed in some instances material declines, the last ones show handsome recoveries for all, and in some cases gains upon last evening's last figures. The telegrapher's strike is still a subject of discussion and of interest at the Stock Exchange, but as a factor in values it has ceased to exert the slightest influence. Every one believes that a settlement cannot be much longer delayed, and as affecting the market they care little what may be the character of the settlement. The special features of to-day's early transactions were the special weakness exhibited by the Southwestern system of railroads and the special strength shown by the Vanderbilt system. The Northern Pacifics, Western Union and the miscellaneous list were inexplicably mixed, while the coal properties were weak or strong according to the personal interest of the judgment given. Taking the market as a whole, however, the final figures show more gains than losses from last evening's prices, and the market is entitled to be called steady at the end.

Government bonds were moderately active but prices were weak with declines in the bids of ⅛ for the 4s and ¼ for the 4½s. Annexed are the closing quotations.

State bonds were neglected, and the transactions were covered by small sales of North Carolina consolidated 4s at 77⅞. There were no transactions in city bank stocks.

The railroad and miscellaneous bond market was unusually dull even for these dull times. West Shore and Buffalo first 5s were made a special feature by a pressure to reduce the quotations; and the price declined from 73¾@74¼ to 73 and closed at 74. The ostensible reason for the raid upon the bonds is the announcement that the company is about to issue a temporary 5 per cent bond for $10,000,000 secured by a mortgage upon its property at Weehawken. Of course the movement against the first mortgage bond is illogical; any additional amount of money expended, which contributes to the earning capacity of the road is so much of an advantage, an additional security to the first mortgage bonds, although it places an additional first charge ahead of dividends upon the stock. Without attempting to predict what may be the speculative fluctuations in the price for the West Shore and Buffalo firsts gold 5s, it seems hardly possible to believe that the company's net earnings ever will be less than $2,500,000—the amount required to pay the annual interest on the first mortgage bonds. Erie seconds were steady at 95@95¼. Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg 5s were ½ higher at 67. Chesapeake and Ohio, firsts series B, were up ⅛ at 92⅛, but the currency 6s were down from 48⅞ to 47@47½. Canada Southern firsts were ¼ up at 96. New-York, Chicago and St. Louis firsts declined ½ to 106. Chicago, St. Louis and New-Orleans 5s were firm at 105. Texas and Pacific incomes recovered 1 per cent to 58⅞, and firsts, Rio Grande division, sold at 78¼@77@77⅞, and Northern Pacific firsts were ⅜ lower at 104.

The Sub-Treasury to-day lost on balance $34,786, made up by a currency loss of $165,525 less a coin gain of $130,739. The day's transactions covered: Receipts, $1,149,179; payments, $1,183,965; currency balance, $7,055,021; coin balance, $117,108,990. While the supply of loanable capital on call is still so abundant that rates remain at 2@2½ per cent, there is an evident indication of a lessening supply; whether the withdrawal is because of other uses or because of lurking caution, the rates show a hardening tendency. The domestic exchanges on New-York are not changed from the last quotations:

The Clearing-House statement to-day was as follows: Exchanges, $78,356,383; balances, 4,947,214.

The United States Treasury at Washington to-day received $360,000 National bank notes for redemption. The customs receipts were $688,000, and the internal revenue receipts $191,558.

The exports of merchandise from this port for the week were $1,600,000 greater than for the preceding week, yet the cry still is that "commercial bills are scarce." Compared with the weeks of the preceding two years the exports of last week show declines respectively of $800,000 and $700,000. The market for foreign exchange continues dull but firm at quotations for business as follows: Bankers' bills, $4 83¼ and $4 87¼ for long and short respectively; 5.22¼ and 5.19 for francs; 94¼ and 95 for reichmarks; 39⅞ and 40⅛ for guilders.

In London the market for British consols was stronger and prices advanced ¼ to 99 15-16 for money, and 3-16 to 100⅛ for account. United States bonds were unchanged. American railways declined with yesterday's home market, but closed with some recoveries from the lowest figures. The Bank of England gained £106,000 bullion on balance. At Paris, French 3 per cents, rose to 80.77½, despite of an advance for sight exchange on London to 25.31½ francs to the £.
