THE PETROLEUM MARKET.

NEW-YORK, Oct. 2.

The figures of the pipe lines (in barrels) for September were as follows: Runs, 1,964,522; average per day, 65,484; deliveries, 2,320,724; average per day, 77,357; excess deliveries, 356,202; average per day, 11,873; charters, 1,407,856; average per day, 46,929.

The petroleum market to-day was a purely speculative one. The news from the oil fields was "bullish," several wells being reported dry which were so situated that if they had proved good producers an important effect would have been exerted on producers. To some extent the news helped an early advance to $1 16, against $1 14⅝ last night. But there was a steady pressure of "long" stock on the market, which carried prices down eventually to $1 13⅝@1 13⅞. So far as can be learned the supply was from local sources, whatever may have been the origin of the selling-out movement. The market closed weak, but a further selling movement will tend to increase the "short" interest to unwieldly proportions.

The range of prices and the total transactions to-day were as follows:

	N. Y. Pet.	Cons. Ex.
Opening	114⅝	114⅝
Highest	116	115⅞
Lowest	113⅝	113⅝
Final	113⅞	113⅞
