AN ADVANCE IN CHICAGO MARKETS.

PRICES A LITTLE HIGHER, BUT THE TRADING SMALL AND WITHOUT SPECIAL INCIDENT.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Wheat is higher to-night than on Saturday, and in spite too of big receipts, so that there ought to be something of interest in the situation. Yet there is not. It was hardly expected that there would be a rally to-day. The bad weather precipitated it. There were some scared "shorts," and these helped it along, but the trading was small. The orders came from local operators almost altogether. Wall Street still engrosses the attention of the big speculators. If stocks had not been moving, up and down so erratically; if wheat had had only half a chance with the people who occasionally dabble in it, to-day on 'Change would have been a big one, and the figures would have jumped five points instead of one. As it was, the entire trading of the day was done by a very few people. The people who had allowed their "short" contracts to remain open over Sunday were permitted to cover at their leisure. There was a little inconsequential scalping at night. The "shorts" who had found covering such an easy matter in the morning put out other lines, and then the figures, which had been pretty firm, yielded a trifle. The day was an exceedingly uneventful one. Wheat at night closed 1@1½ cents higher than Saturday's figures, but with the feeling just a little bit weak. Nobody cut much of a figure. November wheat closed at 91⅞, December at 93⅝, May at 101½. The prices on the curb were just a shade below these, but not a full ⅛ cent.

Both corn and wheat were considerably under the influence of provisions to-day. The October deal loomed up again. Lard for this month went up to $8, ribs to $6 70, pork to $10 70. It is said that the local operators, believing that the October squeeze which developed itself a fortnight ago had "petered," sold "short" this month. They especially sold lard. They are pretty certain to get squeezed. They will not get the lard in November. There will be no corner, no penalty to pay, but they have sold at a high figure, and have anticipated a handsome profit. The buyers will, when they do not receive the lard, "scratch" their trades. They have this privilege. The Englishmen who took this lard in September and paid for it, and who have it in bank now, will they say, deliver it this month. They have suffered a loss on it, but their loss does not equal the profit they made by bearing it when McGeoch was running his corner. The commission men claim that this clique, which belongs in Liverpool, made $1,000,000 on the "bear" side of lard. It covered and went "long" too soon, but has, it is said, still not less than $700,000 of its winnings untouched.

Ribs for October are 9 cents per pound higher than on last Saturday; so are November ribs, and the sellers who thought that the October shortage had all been cleaned up are utterly amazed again. The advance in the November option revives the story that Armour will really squeeze November and that the advance in October is not part of his programme, but the unavoidable results of the efforts of the November "shorts" to get out. There will be as few cured ribs on the last day of November in this market, it is asserted, as on the last day of October, and there will be a much larger shortage. The high prices for the October option two or three weeks ago invited selling; and, instead of going "short" on October, the "bears" sold November. The October option closed to-night at $6 70, and the November at $5 95—an advance for the day on both of 25 cents. October lard closed at $7 90, and November at $7 35.

Pork was strong although there was very little trade in it. There were only 12,000 hogs at the yards and the prices there were higher. It is part of the gossip that the reason that shipping prices are cheaper in New-York than here is that "Full" Armour is shipping this class of meat there direct from his Kansas City house and is undersellingeverybody.

Corn was strong to-day but not so strong as wheat. It closed to-night only a fraction above last Saturday's figures. The trade in it was small and without incident. The receipts were big and so were the shipments. October stopped at 46⅜ cents, November at 46⅝ cents, May at 48 cents.

THE WHEAT CROP.

AN ABUNDANT SUPPLY IN THIS COUNTRY FOR ALL REQUIREMENTS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—The London Economist does not think the world is going to starve this year. A labored estimate, which originated with anxious "bulls" in the New-York wheat market, and has been copied by many journals in this country, represents that the world's supply of wheat in 1883 is 81,000,000 bushels less than its requirements. The London Economist quotes this estimate for the purpose of correcting it, and begins by remarking that it "should be received with considerable distrust." The estimate puts the requirements of the United Kingdom at 145,000,000 bushels, but The Economist says, "It is very certain we can well do with a good deal less." After explaining its reasons for this belief it adds, "If we got 20,000,000 bushels less than last year we should do very well. Thus, we doubt not, 130,000,000 bushels would suffice." Egypt was set down for a supply of 500,000 bushels, but The Economist says, "We should consider 5,000,000 nearer the mark." The estimate of 16,000,000 surplus for Turkey, Austro-Hungary and the Danube, it considers "a good deal too low," and it adds: "Altogether, we have little cause for appreciation that our requirements will remain unsatisfied." It also adds, "that with all the new ground broken in the United States and Canada, the shipments of the whole of North America during the coming twelve months will be limited to 115,000,000 bushels, is, we think, very unlikely."

In the last sentence, The Economist touches upon the most glaring error of the estimate quoted. Inasmuch as that estimate was prepared in this country, it is hardly possible that the available supply from "North America, both coasts," can have been put as low as 115,000,000 bushels without deliberate stretching of the truth. The official statement of the yield in 1882 was 504,185,470 bushels. Taking the barrel of flour as equivalent to 4½ bushels wheat, the excess of exports over imports of wheat in the twelve months ending June 30, 1883, was 147,698,685 bushels. This leaves 356,486,785 bushels for seed and consumption. An allowance of 1⅝ bushels to the acre for seed, and 4.2 bushels to each inhabitant for consumption, covers the entire production less requirements. Allowing for the past seventeen years, and records, moreover, accurately with known stocks on hand and prices at different periods. The Agricultural Bureau reports 37,040,000 bushels sown for 1883; at 1⅝ bushels the quantity used would be 61,063,000 bushels. The report of the Treasury Department, by the Actuary of the Treasury Department, was 52,769,000 June 30, 1882, and 54,160,000 June 30, 1883. The mean of these gives the average population consuming during the crop year, namely, 53,481,000, and at 4.2 bushels per capita the quantity consumed would be 224,620,200 bushels. Deducting this and the quantity used for seed from the portion of the crop of 1882 that was not exported, there is a surplus remaining from that crop of 70,863,400 bushels. Perhaps as much as 20,000,000 bushels were added to reserve stocks, which were much depleted after the short crop of 1881, but there would remain in any case over 50,000,000 bushels for export from the crop of 1882, leaving large stocks on hand.

The Agricultural Bureau puts the yield in 1883 at 417,248,595 bushels. Putting the consumption for food and for seed at 292,000,000 bushels, instead of 280,000,000 last year, there would be left for export from the crop of 1883 125,000,000 bushels, besides the 50,000,000 surplus carried over from 1882. No possible correction of these figures can bring the available surplus for export from this country below 150,000,000 bushels, instead of the 115,000,000 bushels allowed in the estimate for this country and Canada. An estimate that is palpably so far out of the way in regard to the available supply from the country of which the supply and requirements are most accurately known, that is also in error as much as 15,000,000 bushels in regard to the requirements of Great Britain, according to The Economist, will hardly answer the uses of practical men. The truth is that this country has an abundant supply for all demands that are likely to arise, and its consumers ought not to be compelled by speculation to pay an extortionate price during the next twelve months.

MONDAY, Oct. 22—P. M.

Measured by appearances and by the fluctuations in prices, to say that to-day's stock market was wild and excited is a mild expression. But measured by logic and actual facts the truth is that the wildness and excitement were concentrated in the minds of a few would-be leading operators. It is true that there were sharp advances in prices; it is equally true that the advance brought to the market a certain quantity of frightened "shorts" as purchasers of stocks. But it also is true that never in the history of the New-York Stock Exchange has there been so fictitious a market for stocks as there was to-day. The transactions that are recorded amount to 568,784 shares, and it is safe to say that not 50,000 shares of that total represent an actual change of ownership. The Northern Pacifics and their kindred stocks, of course, were the principal features of the market, but they were utilized for the benefit of the whole market. The early loaning rate for Northern Pacific preferred stock was 2@2½ per cent, and in the market the difference between cash and regular stock ruled at the same difference. The first price of the stock regular was 60; it advanced to 70; cash stock at the same time sold at 72½; from 70 the price declined to 61½@61⅞, or ⅝ lower than Saturday's last price, and persons who were unable to loan the stock flat were compelled to borrow money on it at the current rate with the usual margin required in such cases. Northern Pacific opened up ¾ per cent at 27, fell to 25¾, rose to 31¼ and ended at 27¼. Oregon and Transcontinental opened up 1⅛ at 40, declined to 38½, rose to 46¾ and ended at 42¼. Oregon Railroad and Navigation opened at 107, declined to 104½, rose to 110½ and closed at 107. The entire market followed in the lead of these stocks and after establishing an advance of from 2@3 per cent, finally closed weak with, at best, only fractional gains on Saturday's last figures.

The dealings in Government bonds were small. The published talk about a syndicate of bankers being made up to buy the 4 per cents in anticipation of a later demand from the banks is old news. The supposed syndicate is responsible for the advance of about 3 per cent that has already been scored, and to-day it further advanced the bids for the 4s ¼ per cent. The closing quotations were as follows:

State bonds were quiet, and included sales only of North Carolina special taxes at 4. Of city bank stocks, Importers and Traders' sold at 265, and Phœnix at 102.

Railroad bonds were unusually dull, but there was a general improvement in the prices of such issues as were dealt in. Erie second consols were up from 93⅛ to 94, and first consol 7s were ½ higher at 125, Missouri, Kansas and Texas first consols were ⅜ higher at 106⅜. St. Louis and Iron Mountain 5s were steady at 69. Ohio Central firsts were off 1 per cent at 67½. New-York, Chicago and St. Louis first 6s were ¾ higher at 99¾, and West Shore and Buffalo first gold 5s were up ½ at 74. Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans 5s were off ¾ at 105, and Michigan Central 5s sold at 105. East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia consol 5s were ½ higher at 72½, and the incomes rose ⅞ to 27. Chicago, Burlington and Quincy debenture 5s were active at 89½@90@89¾, against 89½, Saturday's last price. Union Pacific firsts were up 1 per cent at 114½, and Central Pacific firsts were ½ higher at 112½. Texas and Pacific incomes sold at 50, ex-dividend of scrip, and firsts Rio Grande division sold up to 72¾@72¼ against 71½ Saturday. Atlantic and Pacific incomes were ¼ higher at 22¾ after 23, Northern Pacific firsts were barely steady at 102¼@102⅜.

The Sub-Treasury to-day gained on balance $398,207, made up by coin gains of $439,920, less a currency loss of $41,713. The balance also was swelled by the issue of $200,000 gold certificates. The day's transactions covered: Receipts, $1,503,495; payments, $905,288; currency balance, $6,803,545; coin balance, $118,288,442.

The money market ruled steady at 3@3½ per cent, with the exceptions at 4 per cent. The closing rate was about 3½ per cent.

The Clearing-House statement to-day was as follows: Exchanges, $173,950,321; balances, $6,951,574.

The United States Treasury at Washington today received $339,000 National bank notes for redemption. The customs receipts were $495,432 and the internal revenue receipts $763,193.

The foreign exchanges were extremely quiet and quotations for business remain unchanged as follows: Bankers' bills, $4 81½ and $4 84½ for long and short sterling respectively; 5.24 and 5.21 for francs; 94¼ and 95 for reichmarks; 39¾ and 40 for guilders.

In London, British consols were 1-16 higher at 101 5-16 and 101 7-16 for money and account respectively. United States bonds are quoted higher; ¼ at 118 for 4½s and ⅛ at 125 for the 4s. American railways were irregular, but generally were lower; the changes simply are the reflections of home quotations. At Paris, French 3 per cents were down to 78.15 and sight exchange on London was weaker at 25.24 francs to the £.

The laws of the State of Ohio require that all railroads within its jurisdiction shall make to it an annual report for each year ending June 30. In compliance with that law, the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway Company recently filed its report. From that report it is learned that the business of the company for the six months from January, to June 30 varied only a trifling amount from the company's estimated statement that was printed in THE TRIBUNE of June 23. The net earnings for that six months were $3,480,567, instead of $3,541,837 as estimated, and the first charges were $2,179,885, instead of $1,800,000, as was estimated in statement of June 22, leaving the balance for dividends at $1,310,682 against the sum of $1,978,660 which was paid out for dividends for that six months. The balance sheet as of June 30, 1883, reported to the State of Ohio, compares with its balance sheet of December 31, 1882, as follows:

COMPARATIVE BALANCE SHEETS.

Totals	$101,623,097	$101,425,663	Dec.	$197,434

The net floating debts of the respective periods are arrived at from figures in the company's balance sheet, as follows:

Liabilities.

December or June liabilities	$2,173,577	$2,374,042
Dividends declared	1,016,005	1,016,005
Total	$3,119,682	$3,850,647
Less—
Cash on hand and uncollected earnings	1,138,587	1,662,234
Net floating debt	$2,011,095	$2,188,413

The decrease of $351,954 in the amount of supplies on hand; the increase of $177,318 in amount of floating debt, and a reduction of $374,752 in the so-called income account, more than accounted for the deficiency in earnings from the amount of dividends paid for the six months.
