CONFERRING WITH MR. KELLY.

UNSATISFIED REPUBLICAN ALDERMEN.

ATTEMPTING A "DEAL" TO SECURE THE ELECTION OF MR. KIRK—NO RESULT.

A conference between Aldermen Miller, Pearson, Waite and Wendel (all Republicans) and John Kelly was held on Friday night at Mr. Kelly's house, No. 34 East Sixty-ninth-st., with reference to the election of a president of the Board of Aldermen. Rumors of a combination that should elect William P. Kirk (Tammany) have been current for several days, but it was said that all the Republican members, except Messrs. Finck and Waite, had refused to vote for him or any other Democrat. Some of the Republican Aldermen, however, having become weary of this protracted and fruitless voting in the Board, at last consented to see Mr. Kelly.

Mr. Kelly stated that he should insist upon the election of Mr. Kirk as president, Francis J. Twomey as clerk and William H. Maloney for deputy-clerk. He added, however, that the Republicans could have the chairmanships of the important committees, and most of he patronage. Mr. Pearson repeated his former decision that he would not vote for a Democrat of any faction for president. Messrs. Miller and Wendel were not so positive and asked for the details of the proposed plan. Taking a list of the committees from his pocke , Mr. Waite said that if Mr. Kirk was elected presiden Mr. Pearson would be made a member of the committees on Ferries and Franchises and on Street Pavements; Mr. Miller would be the chairman of the Committee on Markets and a member of the Committee on Docks. Another member of the conference—Mr. Wendel—was on two of the committees, and the other Republican Aldermen were on one or more of the remaining committees.

Mr. Pearson was not satisfied with this arrangement, and again refused to agree to it. The chairmanship of the Finance Committee was then extended to him. The holder of that office is a member of the Sinking Fund Commission. Mr. Pearson refused to accept the offer, averring that he would not vote for Mr. Kirk. Messrs. Miller and Wendel were not satisfied with the positions assigned them in Mr. Waite's list. Mr. Wendel is the proprietor of Elm Park, in Ninth-ave., and he was anxious to be a member of the Committee on Public Works, in order, he said, "to prevent the opening of any street through Elm Park." Mr. Miller, in turn, said that he would rather be a member of the Dock Committee than the Committee on Railroads.

"Settle these matters among yourselves," said Mr. Kelly, quietly, and after another conference with Mr. Waite the Aldermen received the desired changes and Mr. Kelly's consent to the new arrangement. Having obtained so much Mr. Wendel said that he wished Richard E. Mott, a clerk of the Board at a salary of $2,250, to be retained after the Board was organized. That request was also granted, it being further agreed that the present clerk and deputy-clerk should not be removed.

"Fill your glass," said Mr. Wendel to the Tammany chief, "and join me." Mr. Kelly did so. Having thus effectually secured Mr. Wendel's good will and vote an, attempt was made to secure Mr. Miller's promise to vote for Mr. Kirk. In addition to his place on the committees he was offered a share of t e Board's patronage. Again Mr. Pearson was urged to change his mind, but without avail. The conference, which had been brought about largely by the influence of John J. O'Brien and James Richmond, broke up about 11 o'clock.

The eight Republican Aldermen held a caucus yesterday morning, at which John J. O'Brien was present. Mr. Waite and Mr. O'Brien argued for a long time to obtain an agreement in accord with the conference of Friday evening. Messrs. O'Connor, Pearson, Rothwell and Sayles refused to vote for Mr. Kirk, while Messrs Finck, Waite and Wendel agreed to do so. Mr. Miller decided first to vote against Mr. Kirk, and then to vote for him; and finally at Mr. Pearson's suggestion, agreed to vote as he had previously done, for Mr. O'Connor first, then for an adjournment.

The Board of Aldermen met at noon and voted with the usual result—Kirk, 7; O'Connor 7; O'Neil, 6; Grant, Jachne and Finck, 1 each. The room was filled with politicians, and several of them gathered about Mr. Miller and urged him to vote for Mr. Kirk. He steadily refused to do so, and on the motion of Mr. Waite the Board adjourned till to-morrow noon.

LEGISLATION AFFECTING THE CITY.

BILLS PROPOSED BY THE MAYOR'S CABINET.

The Mayor's "cabinet," comprising the heads of the various departments, held an important meeting yesterday. Several drafts of proposed acts affecting the city government were presented by Corporation Counsel Andrews. Some of them were amended and all were approved. They will soon be presented to the Legislature. One act provides for the erection or purchase of one or more municipal buildings, and for the removal of any public building made unnecessary by such action. It authorizes the Sinking Fund Commissioners to select sites upon which to erect one or more buildings for municipal purposes, which shall include suitable space for the Register's office and such departments and officers of the city government as they may designate. These sites may be in any park or public place, except Central Park, or on any land owned by the city. The buildings shall be erected under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works. If the Sinking Fund Commissioners prefer they may buy a building and make alterations in it. The Controller is authorized to issue bonds or stock, at a rate of interest not to exceed 4 per cent, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the act, or the Board of Estimate may cause the cost of the building and alterations to be inserted in the annual tax levies. When any public building is vacant it may be sold or removed, excepting the City Hall and the new Court House.

Another proposed act authorizes the Commissioners of Charities and Correction to purchase Riker's Island at a price not to exceed $183,000. The Legislature will also be asked to change the name of the public place in front of the Cooper Union from Stuyvesant Square to Cooper Park; to authorize the Sinking Fund Commissioners to set apart land belonging to the city for police stations and fire apparatus houses; and to amend the laws of 1882 so that contractors may be paid within thirty days after the completion and acceptance of a piece of work.

Elbridge T. Gerry asked that the influence of the cabinet should not be used against the passage of a bill at Albany to amend a bill passed last year relative to opening a street through the grounds of the Bloomingdale Asylum. After he had left the room Dwight L. Olmstead requested that the cabinet should use its influence to prevent the passage of the bill. No action was taken.

DOCTORS WHO DISAGREE.

Dr. Justus J. Spreng, of No. 143 West Twenty-second-st., wrote to the Board of Health yesterday, requesting an investigation of a report that Mrs. Babbitt was suffering from malignant diphtheria at No. 57 West Twelfth-st. He stated that he was Mrs. Babbitt's physician and that she had a slight attack of tonsilitis, which had been reported as diphtheria. The patient had been injured by the false report, he declared. Mrs. Babbitt keeps a boarding-house. On Thursday she had a chill and soreness of the throat which alarmed her. Dr. Edmund Carleton, a homœopathic physician, of No. 58 West Ninth-st., visited one of her boarders that day, and she asked him to examine her throat. He told her that she had a mild attack of diphtheria; he wrote a prescription and advised her to disinfect her rooms. He sent a report to the Board of Health that Mrs. Babbitt had diphtheria, and the Board of Education was informed through the Sanitary Bureau. Then the teachers in the Grammar School in Twelfth-st. were warned not to admit pupils from Mrs. Babbitt's house.

Dr. Spreng, who belongs to the old school of medicine, has been Mrs. Babbitt's family physician for several years. When he was called to see her on Friday he pooh-poohed the idea that she was suffering from a contagious disease. Learning that a homœopathic physician had sent a report to the Board of Health, he undertook to procure a correction. He also expressed his opinion that the other physician did not understand his business. Dr. Carleton said to a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday: "If Dr. Spreng says Mrs. Babbitt did not have diphtheria he is a fool. She was suffering from a chill and had pains in her back. I looked down her throat and saw patches which showed conclusively that she had diphtheria. It was of a mild form, however, and if she used the medicine which I prescribed the condition of her throat may have been much improved when Dr. Spreng saw her. Perhaps he does not know that a child, Mary Cook, was removed from the house last week suffering from diphtheria. A physician is compelled to report cases of contagious disease to the Board of Health."

DAMAGE TO VESSELS BY THE GALES.

The vessels arriving at this port yesterday brought a budget of rough sea experience. The State Line steamship State of Pennsylvania reported encountering heavy westerly gales during her voyage from Liverpool. On last Wednesday the British bark Persian, Captain Laggart, from Pernambuco, met a westerly gale during which John Andersen, a Swedish sailor, age twenty-two, was drowned by falling from the jib-boom. The schooner Rebecca from Frontera shifted her deck load in the recent heavy gales. The schooner Florence L. Schapp, commanded by Captain Crabtree, from Port de Paix, went ashore at Brigantine Shoals on Friday, and was compelled to throw overboard twenty tons of her deck load of log wood before she could float off. The bark Einar from Liverpool on January 6 passed the wreck of a vessel with her copper painted bottom up. On January 13, about 200 miles south-east of Sandy Hook, the Einar, in a heavy northwest gale, lost her fore top-mast and main-top gallant. She was towed into port by a tug.

THE PATCHOGUE BANK FAILURE.

The creditors of the Patchogue and Suffolk County Bank yesterday chose John A. Potter, of the firm of Potter & Price, as assignee, and later at a public meeting selected George F. Carman, Edwin Bailey and George D. Gerard as a committee to look after their interests. The assets will not exceed $20,000. Supervisor Floyd will lose $1,000 of the town's money, and the school tax collectors of East Patchogue and the Blue Point districts will lose the full amount of the taxes collected. Citizens guarded Mr. Peck's house on Friday night.

FROM THE POPE TO THE CARDINAL.

AN AUTOGRAPH LETTER FROM LEO XII ON THE GOLDEN JUBILEE.

Cardinal McCloskey has received an autograph letter in Latin from Pope Leo XII, congratulating him on his golden jubilee, which was celebrated a week ago in St. Patrick's Cathedral. The letter was written on December 28, but its arrival was delayed until Friday, and a golden chalice, a gift of the Pope, which was to accompany it, has not yet been received. The Rev. J. M. Farley, secretary to the Cardinal, has made the following translation of the Pope's letter:

LEO XIII., POPE.

To Our Beloved Son, JOHN MCCLOSKEY, Cardinal Priest of the Holy Roman Church, of the Title of Santa Maria Super Minervam, Archbishop of New-York:

BELOVED SON, HEALTH AND APOSTOLIC BENEDICTION:—We have heard with great pleasure that you are soon to celebrate in your Metropolitan city the golden jubilee of the day when you assumed the holy order of the priesthood, and for the first time offered to God the Holy Sacrifice, fifty years ago. We therefore tender you, beloved son, our heartfelt congratulations on having been blessed with such length of years in the service of the altar, and we rejoice exceedingly that this rare privilege receives additional lustre from a life of priestly virtue and of merits acquired in the discharge of the duties of the Episcopal office. Wherefore, following the promptings of our affection for you, we bid this letter bear to you, on your golden anniversary, our best wishes and felicitations, and we pray that our Lord, who is wont to reward generously His faithful servants, may long preserve you and pour out upon you the fulness of His choicest graces and blessings.

We gladly avail ourselves of this opportunity to express to you, beloved son, and to your clergy and faithful people, our deep sense of gratitude for your liberal offerings recently made in aid of this Apostolic See; and we beg of God to bestow on you and all the pious donors in return, the gifts of His bounty, and that he may mercifully grant to all who sow in blessings to reap also of the same.

May our Apostolic benediction, which we most affectionately in the Lord impart to you, beloved son, and to the clergy and faithful over whom you are placed, be a pledge of divine grace, as it is a mark of our especial favor.

Given at St. Peter's, Rome, the 28th December, 1883, in the sixth year of our Pontificate. LEO XIII.

"Archbishop Corrigan," said Father Farley last evening, "also brought an autograph letter with him on his return from Rome, in which the Sovereign Pontiff acknowledges the receipt of the decrees of the recent Provincial Council. He commends highly the prudence and sound doctrine of the bishops and imparts the Apostolic blessing to them and to the American Church. The chalice from the Pope will be presented to Cardinal McCloskey by the messenger directly on his arrival."

THE OTHER TAPPAN ACCUSED OF MURDER.

The belief is gaining ground in Oyster Bay that Edmund S. Tappan, who on Friday said that his brother, John Tappan, of Brookville, had killed the Maybee women, is himself the murderer. He has confessed that he had the watch and chain and the cameo-pin which were taken from the Maybees, although he swore that he got from John Tappan only $10. To Sheriff Ayers he gave orders on his wife as follows:

JAMAICA, Jan. 18, 1884.

DEAR SUSAN: Get the $5 gold piece with the mark on it. EDMUND S. TAPPAN.

DEAR WIFE: Get the breast-pin and give it to Mr. Ayers, and the watch if you can find it. EDMUND S. TAPPAN.

His wife said that she knew nothing about them, adding "Tell Ed to come and get them himself." Yesterday he was charged, before Justice Betts at Jamaica, with the killing of the Maybees, and his examination will begin on Monday.

It is said that additional evidence has been discovered implicating John Tappan in the assault on Mr. and Mrs. Townsend.

HOW A WIDOW KEPT HER PIGS.

Mrs. Lang a widow, living in Newtown, L. I., keeps pigs. A neighbor, Mr. Schultz, who is a butcher, drove by on Friday and saluted her by inquiring after her health and that of the children and the pigs. With a proud flush the widow led the butcher to the sty, and pointed out her ten pigs. He admired them greatly, and made an offer for them which the widow accepted, the butcher paying $1 to bind the bargain. The same afternoon the butcher's man called at the widow's for the pigs, but as he did not have the money to pay for them, she refused to let him take them. Later the butcher himself came for the pigs, but as he too, failed to bring the cash, the widow declined to let him take them. Then said the butcher "I'll take them anyhow," and leaning over into the sty he seized one of the pigs. In a twinkling the widow was over after him, and as the butcher had hold of the forelegs of the pig she caught hold of the hind ones. The widow used her tongue as well as her hands, and for a time it was nip and tuck between the struggling pair. But the pig aided its mistress with its teeth and the butcher was driven off by the widow without the pigs and with a black eye. Each has sued the other for assault.

YALE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

The Yale Alumni Association held its third social meeting this season at Delmonico's on Friday evening. A large number was present, and the evening was pleasantly spent under the management of Brayton Ives, '61, and A. W. Evarts, '69. The social meeting was followed by the annual business meeting. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Chauncey M. Depew, '56; vice-presidents, George A. Peters, '42 and James T. Gardiner, '68; secretary, Thomas Thacher, '71; treasurer, Joseph C. Jackson, '57; executive committee, Francis H. Houston, '59; George B. Bonney, '61; Edward H. Peaslee, '72; Roger Foster, '78 and Henry W. Tait, '80.

The three roomed together at No. 155 East Twenty-sixth-st. Mrs. Benton was taken sick, and it is said that the accused women drugged and robbed her. The women were held for examination on Tuesday.

THE RENAISSANCE IN ARCHITECTURE.

"Italy," said Professor Goodyear in his lecture on the "Renaissance in Architecture," in Cooper Institute last evening, "was the father of modern luxury. Banking and insurance were devised by the Italians, and their patriotic enthusiasm in the study of ancient Roman art gave rise to the Renaissance. They characterized the Northern architecture as Gothic and barbarous, but the type they developed has nothing structural; it is all ornamental, and the best critics to-day declare it inartistic. It is the objectionable feature of New-York architecture."

MEETING OF WEST SIDE JOBBERS.

The West Side Jobbers' Association met yesterday at No. 113 Warren-st., S. T. White presiding. A constitution and by-laws were adopted. E. Grubben was elected assistant secretary. A committee of three was appointed to visit the jobbers who had not joined the association, and a committee of five to visit the pier where Southern produce is received, on Monday morning, and purchase 200 barrels of kale from such receivers as will pledge themselves to deliver Southern produce during the coming season without charging cartage.

Although we have had thousands of patients from all parts of the country, family after family, who have received unmistakable and astonishing benefit from the use of a set of your teeth, yet the fact of your having lost the power of a letter by accident or disease, does not and cannot be considered a reason why you should not have the most valuable of all artificial substitutes for the teeth. If several teeth are gone, and only one or two remain, we can fill the spaces by means of our Bridgework. If none of them remain, we can supply them with a set of teeth so natural, so beautiful, so strong, so durable, so easy to keep clean, so easy to wear, so perfect in every respect, that we have no hesitation in saying that they will be found equal to the original natural teeth. We mean all the Best Rubber and Porcelain Teeth, Bridges, Crowns, and Brid
