PATRICK EGAN FOR BLAINE.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE IRISH LAND LEAGUE GIVES SOUND REASONS FOR OPPOSING CLEVELAND.

From The Chicago Tribune of Sept. 6.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 5.—The following correspondence of Patrick Egan, the recently elected president of the Irish Land League, to the press of this city, explains itself:

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 4, 1884.

To the Editor of The State Journal.

Your contemporary, The Daily State Democrat, having on two distinct occasions referred, as I consider most unwarrantably and unfairly, to my political opinions, now refuses, contrary to all recognized rules of decent journalism, to publish any but a garbled copy of my reply. I send you herewith the letter which I addressed to that journal in full, and beg you will do me the favor of placing it before the public. Yours truly,

PATRICK EGAN.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 3, 1884.

Editor of The Daily State Democrat.

SIR: For the second time within the last three weeks you have dragged my name into the political campaign, although up to the present moment I have never spoken publicly or written a single word to give you as a journalist any ground for so doing. Before the late Boston Convention of the Irish National League I had as the result of close observation and careful research made up my mind that there existed no good grounds by which the Democratic party should hold any mortgage on my vote because I happened to be an Irishman. I weighed with care and deliberation the merits of the two Presidential candidates, and I came to the conclusion that neither as an Irishman nor as an adopted citizen of America could Mr. Grover Cleveland have my support. The case of Mr. John Devoy, on which you so persistently harp, and which you have again and again referred to as the only ground of my opposition to Mr. Cleveland, was only one of the many objections which I entertained to that gentleman. I did indeed consider the treatment meted to Mr. Devoy of the very basest kind, and as a strong evidence of either the hostility and contempt of Mr. Cleveland for Irishmen of National opinions, but I objected also to Mr. Cleveland as the pet candidate of The London Times, The London Standard, The London Daily Telegraph, The London Daily News, The (London) St. James's Gazette, The (London) Saturday Review—in fact of the entire English press. I objected to him as the pet candidate of Puck and Harper's Week, as the author of innumerable vetoes in the interest of the great monopolies, and as a man who had, as I believed, proved himself the enemy of every just right of the toiling millions. I objected to Mr. Cleveland because I felt that, in the words of The Boston Pilot, a straight out and out Democratic organ, "he has not a single quality to fit him for the President of the United States." I had made up my mind to support Mr. Blaine, because from long observation I had come to regard him as the very opposite of all this, as an American of Americans, a man among men, as an able statesman fitted by nature and culture and experience to fill with credit to the country and to himself the position of President of this great Nation. These were a few of the grounds of my objection to your candidate and my preference for Mr. Blaine, and, as I have before stated, they have never, up to this present time, been made public by me, nor would they be now if you had not compelled me by your unfair comments and by your unworthy sneer at "Irish wisdom," to state them. When, however, at Boston I accepted the presidency of the Irish National League I considered that whatever my private opinion might be I was then precluded from taking any active part in American politics. Accordingly, I have abstained from taking any part, nor shall I as long as I hold the office. This is my position. I must beg you, therefore, to spare me the trouble of any further contradictions or corrections on this subject. With regard to your quotation from a speech of Mrs. Parnell, I yield to no one on this side of the Atlantic in the respect which I pay to the honored mother of the man whom I am proud to be able to claim as a personal friend, as well as a co-worker in the cause of Ireland, Charles Stewart Parnell, and I am sure she will not misunderstand me when I state my conviction that she would best consult the welfare of the great movement in which she and I are interested, and my belief she would best consult the desire of her son, by keeping his name entirely out of the present political contest. Yours truly,

PATRICK EGAN.

THE SCANDALS.

AN IMPARTIAL DEMOCRATIC VIEW.

From The New-York Sun (Democratic).

The substantial facts in the scandals affecting these two persons have now been laid before the public and to a limited degree before the readers of The Sun. The accusation as regards Mr. Blaine we have published unwillingly in the form of a sworn legal document, produced by the defendant in his libel suit, because we do not feel ourselves at liberty to withhold from our readers anything of importance bearing upon the claims to public confidence of a Presidential candidate. As regards Mr. Cleveland we have published the facts only as they have been admitted and proclaimed by his friends and apologists; and now the question is, What should be the effect of these matters upon the two aspirants to public favor?

The charge regarding Mr. Blaine refers entirely to events said to have occurred in the year 1851, thirty-three years ago. According to the very worst interpretation which his antagonists seek to put upon the case, the accused repaired all the wrong that it is pretended he ever committed—and it is by no means proved that he committed any—in fact, he denies it entirely—in the one way in which a man of honor and a gentleman misled into such a situation, must repair it; and ever since that his mode of life has been moral, decorous, and reputable. We conclude, then, that Mr. Blaine is not to be condemned as a candidate on this account, even supposing that the worst state of facts—which he earnestly denies—should be established, not only because he repaired the wrong, but because his life has ever since been all that could be required. We add, here, that, in view of all the circumstances of the case, it is, in our judgment, an unspeakable outrage to bring forward such an accusation. It is an outrage if the accusation is true, and it is infinitely more an outrage if it is false.

With Mr. Cleveland, however, the situation is different. The particulars are not denied; in fact, they are admitted, the only variation in the admission put forward in his apology being that some of his defenders seek in addition to defame the woman without producing any evidence to support that position. All of them join in admitting the main facts. They also join in admitting with some minor discrepancies that the unfortunate woman was put into an asylum without authority of law by some of his friends and representatives; and it appears, likewise, that the equally unfortunate illegitimate child was kept for a considerable period of time in the county poorhouse, although his father was in a prosperous business at the time. As for repairing the wrong done to the betrayed woman, we hear nothing of it in the case of Mr. Cleveland. A stone could not have shown less conscience than he.

On this state of facts, Mr. Cleveland is to be condemned and condemned most severely. Far this cause alone, if there were no others, we say that he is not a fit man to be chosen President of the United States, and his election would be a serious public calamity. Moreover, while the accusers of Mr. Blaine are subject to extreme reprehension, the accusers of Mr. Cleveland deserve well of the public for proving his moral disqualification for the great post which he seeks to obtain.

Such is the difference between the two men as regards these scandals. The one is not affected injuriously, while the other ought to be ruined as a candidate.

THE PETROLEUM MARKET.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 9.

No important news was received from the oil region to-day. The Phillips well, in the Baldridge district, is maintaining its remarkable output, and there is more than a fair chance that after being agitated or drilled deeper, it will increase its yield. Outside of the possible developments of this well there are no important developments expected for about ten days. Then there are two wells due which are likely to settle the question whether or not the present pool extends much easterly or westerly. If such an extension be established, considerable territory will be opened by the drill. The speculation in certificates was weak this morning, and from 77 cents there was a decline to 73⅞ cents. But the continued depression enticed the "bears" into a free selling movement, so that good material was furnished for a sharp rally to 78⅞ cents in the afternoon. The market closed steady at near to the day's best prices.

TUESDAY, Sept. 9—P. M.

The Custom House returns of last week's foreign movements of merchandise at New-York make a favorable comparison with the movements of the same week of preceding years. The imports last week exceeded the exports only $1,281,905, against excesses of $2,260,380 and $2,554,221 respectively for the same weeks of 1883 and 1882. The imports last week ($7,965,182) were $492,364 less than for the week of 1883 and $2,259,692 less than for the week of 1882; the exports ($6,683,277) were $486,120 greater than for the week of 1883 and $12,664 greater than for the week of 1882. For the thirty-six weeks of this year the imports of merchandise exceed the exports $85,225,498, which is $10,164,805 greater than the excess of 1883 and $35,313,128 less than the excess for the same period of 1882. The resulting balances, after deducting the specie movements, on the business of thirty-six weeks for three years, are shown in the subjoined table:

This was the dullest day of the year in all the departments of the Stock Exchange—not only in the volume of business done, but also in the lack of interest manifested. The total transactions in stocks amounted only to 88,502 shares, and the board member of a large commission firm ventured the opinion that of to-day's business there was not an aggregate of 1,000 shares that paid a commission of ⅛ per cent, which is the rate of commissions for non-members of the Exchange. Of course of such a market there is little to be said. It opened steady in prices, which first gradually melted under the supreme dulness, and later recovered under some clique buying, but more energetic bidding. In St. Paul, which, with 21,200 shares, leads all other stocks in amount of transactions, the advance, from 84@83⅝ to 84⅝ was brought to a sudden halt by meeting considerable orders to sell at that top figure, and the stock closed feverish at 84½@84⅝. Union Pacific, of which 14,500 shares only were dealt in, after 48⅞@48¾ met with a similar rebuff when it got up to 49½ and closed at 49⅜@49½, and Western Union, after 65¼@65, received a check when it got up to 66. The only four stocks that record sales of from 8,000 to 21,200 contributed 53,000 shares to the day's whole business, and of the close the market was too dull and featureless to entitle it to a classification.

The business in Government bonds was confined to sales of the 4s at irregular prices. Final bids for the 4s were ⅛ per cent lower. Annexed are the closing quotations:

In State bonds Tennessee compromises sold at 44, and generally there were liberal biddings at low figures with few offerings. Of city bank stocks Merchants' sold at 132 and St. Nicholas at 125.

Leaving out the exceptional transactions in Erie second consols, there has not been as dull a day in railway bonds in over a year. The Erie second consols, however, were more than usually active and made frequent and wide fluctuations between 61¼ and 59; there were several changes of 1 per cent between sales, but the final price of 60⅝ shows a decline of only ⅜ per cent. West Shore first 5s were ⅛ lower at 41⅛. Central and Hudson consols sold at 131 for coupons and 130¼ for registered and the debenture 5s sold at 104⅛@104. Denver and Rio Grande consols were down 1⅞ at 48. Out Denver, Rio Grande and Western firsts were up ⅝ at 33⅝. Oregon Short Line 6s declined 2½ per cent to 79. The other dealings were in small amounts and were insignificant.

The New-Treasury to-day gained on balances $172,745, made up by a coin gain of $291,988 less a currency loss of $119,243. The day's operations covered: Receips, $1,065,312; payments, $792,567; currency balance, $11,295,271; coin balance, $129,359,582.

The local money market ruled easy at 2@1½ per cent, and the closing was at 1½ per cent.

The Clearing House statement to-day was as follows: Exchanges, $69,667,444; balances, $4,254,472.

In the absence of a demand the rates for the foreign exchanges are easier, but only for effect upon the price of commercial bills, of which bankers are the only buyers. We revise quotations for business as follows: Bankers' bills, $4 82⅞ and $4 84⅞ for long and short sterling respectively; 5.21⅞ and 5.19⅞ for francs; 94⅞ and 95⅛ for reichmarks; 39⅞ and 40⅛ for guilders.

In London British consols were steady and unchanged at 101 3-16@101¼ respectively for money and account. United States bonds were nominally unchanged at 123½ for 4s and 115 for 4½s. The quotations for American railways were irregular after yesterday's changes in the home market, and the deflections of ¼ and ½ per cent were nothing more than reflections having no significance. At Paris French 3 per cents after 78.90 were unchanged at 78.97½. The weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows a specie loss of 6,484,000 marks.
