THE NEW-YORKS BARELY WIN

KANSAS CITY ALMOST GETS A GAME.

THREE MEN ON BASES AND ONLY ONE MAN OUT—HOW THE VICTORY WAS WON.

Dark and lowering clouds and the fact that the Kansas City club is not one of the baseball giants kept the attendance at the Polo Grounds yesterday far below the average. The game at first was too deliberately played to make the outlookers hilarious, but toward the close it was exciting enough to suit the taste of the most inveterate of enthusiasts. In the final inning victory was almost evenly balanced and it seemed uncertain upon which club's shoulders to fall. The local players awakened to the fact that they were dangerously close to the rocks of defeat and by a few energetic strokes saved the game. The Cowboys played desperately and showed much better form than they did on Wednesday. Welch, the pitcher, was not as effective as usual, and had the Cowboys been able to bunch their hits they might have won the game. A hit in the ninth inning, when the Westerners had the bases full and only one out, would have won them the game anyway. Westerners claim that Weidman has "pretzel" curves. He did not show it yesterday, the local players hitting hard and often. Catcher Briody, in spite of his rotundity, played with an agility that some of his lighter comrades could not equal.

The New-York men were the first to score, making two unearned runs in the second inning. After two players were out Dorgan made a hit, went to second on an error by Myers, to third by a wild throw by Weidman, and scored on a hit by Esterbrook. Welch was sent to first on called balls. Gerhardt made a hit and Esterbrook scored. The Kansas City players rallied and scored four runs in the third inning. Lillie made a hit and Weidman made also hit safely to left field. The latter went to second on an hit by Radford. Myers struck out. Rowe made a hit and went to second on a passed ball. Radford scored on a hit by Donnelly. Rowe ran home while Ewing and Ward were putting out Donnelly at second base. In the following inning the New-Yorkers scored one more run. Gillespie leading off reached the lead in the fifth inning, scoring two more runs by timely batting. Connor made a two-base hit off with a three-base hit to centre field and scoring on Dorgan's out to Lillie in left field. The local player to centre field and scored on another two-base hit by Ewing. The latter went to third and home on a wild throw to third base by McQuery. The fifth inning ended with the score at 5 to 4 in favor of the local club, and the diminutive Mascot went over in the corner to play funge with some other youngsters. The Cowboys rallied and had three men on the bases in the ninth inning, but Welch and Ewing kept their wits about them and retired the side without a run being made. The score was as follows:

Yesterday's games did not alter the position of the leading clubs competing for League honors. The Philadelphia club is put further back. The Detroit team had a narrow escape with Radbourne pitching. Boston may beat the Wolverines to-day. The games won and lost to date are as follows:

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Played.
Detroit	56	17	73
Chicago	52	20	72
New-York	51	22	73
Philadelphia	41	27	68
Boston	41	29	70
St. Louis	23	50	73
Kansas City	17	50	67
Washington	11	57	68

The New-York and Kansas City clubs will play their final game of the present series at the Polo Grounds today.

In Jersey City yesterday the home club beat the Hartfords by this score:

Jersey City	2	3	0	2	0	0	0	1	0	—8
Hartford	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—2

Errors—Jersey City, 2; Hartford, 4. Earned runs—Jersey City, 1; Hartford, 0. Base hits—Jersey City, 9; Hartford, 4.

In the game between the Newark and Waterbury clubs at Newark the home team was victorious, the score being:

Newark	0	1	1	0	0	1	0	1	0	—4

Base hits—Newark, 9; Waterbury, 4. Errors—Newark, 11; Waterbury, 9.

GAMES IN OTHER CITIES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The Chicago club again defeated the Washington nine to-day, presenting the home club with a string of goose eggs. The score was as follows:

Washington	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0
Chicago	1	3	0	0	0	2	0	0	1	—6

Base hits—Washington, 5; Chicago, 6. Errors—Washington, 4; Chicago, 5. Pitchers—Keefe and Clarkson. Umpire—Mr. Sumner.

BOSTON, Aug. 5.—To-day's game between the Boston and Detroit clubs was close and uncertain throughout, the Wolverines winning by scoring the necessary run in the final inning. The excitement was considerable. The batting was hard but the fielding was rather poor. The score was as follows:

Boston	1	0	0	2	3	0	2	0	0	—8
Detroit	0	0	0	1	2	3	0	2	1	—9

Base hits—Boston, 8; Detroit, 15. Errors—Boston, 12; Detroit, 10. Pitchers—Twichell and Buffinton. Umpire—Mr. Fulmer.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—The Black Diamonds played in fine form again to-day, and won another game from the Quaker City team as appended:

St. Louis	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	1	—3

Base hits—Philadelphia, 5; St. Louis, 8. Errors—Philadelphia, 4; St. Louis, 2. Pitchers—Kelly and Casey. Umpire—Mr. Gaffney.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 5.—The Metropolitans played in better form to-day, but still were beaten. The Indians batted hard, but Lynch was batted harder. The score was:

St. Louis	1	2	1	0	0	1	0	2	0	—7
Metropolitan	0	3	0	0	1	1	0	0	0	—5

Base hits—St. Louis, 14; Metropolitan, 11. Errors—St. Louis, 2; Metropolitan, 3. Pitchers—Lynch and Caruthers. Umpire—Mr. Valentine.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 5. People's home run in the ninth inning to-day when two men were on bases and two out won the game for the Brooklyn club. The score was as follows:

Pittsburg	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	1	0	—3
Brooklyn	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	3	—4

At Cincinnati—Cincinnati, 4; Baltimore, 3.
At Louisville—Athletic, 9; Louisville, 0.
At Newburg—Newburg, 3; Poughkeepsie, 1. Eleven innings were played.
At Toronto—Toronto, 14; Syracuse, 3.
At Hamilton—Hamilton, 15; Oswego, 6.

REPUBLICANS AND TEMPERANCE.

WHAT THE CONVENTION, IF IT MEETS, WILL BE ASKED TO ADOPT.

James Morton, chairman of the Committee on Legislation of the New-York State Temperance Assembly, has sent to each member of the Republican State Committee a letter in which attention is called to the growing importance of the temperance question. He adds:

The progress of prohibition principles and temperance is not confined to a section of the United States. It is everywhere. It is not ephemeral but continuous, and the soundest logic and the deepest conscience of America can thought and judgment given to it a strength and breadth of argument that is unassailable. The right of the people to settle these questions for itself is the great platform on which it is built. . . . These questions have now assumed such magnitude and force that they demonstrate daily the necessity of political parties to inquire how far their prestige and influence may be nullified by neglect of the will of the people. . . . If the Republican State Committee should decide to call a convention, the New-York State Temperance Assembly will present for its consideration and ask it to adopt substantially the following preamble and resolutions.

Whereas, The general absorbing interest of the people of the State and of the Union is so intensely manifested upon all questions affecting the drink traffic, either for the moral suppression and restriction by such means as are best suited to each purpose or the entire suppression of the sale of intoxicating liquors as articles of commerce for drinking purposes; and

Whereas, There is just cause for the present prevalent alarm and anxiety of the people in the fact that the drink bill of the United States is over $900,000,000 annually, with a tendency to further increase, creating much intemperance, disease, poverty, immorality and crime, all of which has a direct influence, increasing taxation and those other burdens that grow out of said traffic; and

Whereas, It is just that the public voice be heard and the public judgment be known how this question may be most intelligently and wisely treated in accordance with the will of the people:

Resolved, That it is the will of this convention that every person who shall accept a nomination from the Republican party to represent the people in the State Legislature shall be held pledged to vote, if elected,

First—For the submission to the electors of the State of a prohibitory constitutional amendment, whereby alcoholic liquors shall not be manufactured or sold within the State, except for mechanical and medicinal purposes.

Second—That the nominee, if elected, shall vote for a bill whereby the voters of every electoral division, each division for itself, shall determine whether any licenses shall be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors within said division, and if granted, how much license fee, if any, shall be accepted, but it shall not be, if any sum, a less sum than that prescribed by the statute, but may be increased by the local board having jurisdiction in said electoral division.

Third—That the nominee, if elected, shall vote for a bill providing for a legislative and citizens' commission to inquire into the industrial relations of the Empire State within the State and its influences upon the financial, moral, physical, social and criminal conditions of the people; and

Whereas, It is a matter of common notoriety that the Excise laws of the State are not enforced irrespective of the political bias of public officials who are intrusted with their execution;

Resolved, That the Republican party shall hold every person who accepts office under Republican rule, either by election or appointment, as pledged, so far as their official duties shall have relation to said laws, to their full enforcement and execution.

ANXIOUS ABOUT VESSELS OVERDUE.

The North German Lloyd steamship Werra, due here last Tuesday, had not been sighted last night. She left Bremen on July 27 and touched at Southampton the following day. Since then nothing has been heard of her. The agent of the line attributes the delay to breakage of machinery. Judge Joseph F. Daly, with the body of his wife, who recently died abroad, is a passenger on the vessel. She has 197 cabin and 347 steerage passengers.

The brigantine Castalea, of Richmond, Me., left this port on May 1, with a cargo of 750 tons of coal, for Apalachicola. She was last seen on May 13 in latitude 36° north, longitude 70° west. E. H. Dearborn, her agent, thinks that the vessel is lost, with all hands. There was a crew of eight men. Captain J. L. Rudolf, an experienced seaman, commanding. The vessel was built in Richmond in 1874, and her principal owner was A. L. Libby, of that place.

GUARD ARMY MEN AT SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—Fully 10,000 persons occupied the pavilion last night to listen to the concert of welcome given by the combined vocal music societies of San Francisco and Oakland to the Grand Army of the Republic. There were 700 voices in the chorus. The interior decorations of the building elicited the highest admiration from those present. By 8 o'clock the crush was so great that the doors had to be closed. The concert was concluded by the singing of "America," in which the entire audience joined.

The Pacific Branch of the Society of the Army of the Potomac tendered a banquet last evening to the Society of the Army of the Potomac in the banquet hall of the California Pioneers. Covers were laid for 325 guests. Among the prominent persons present were Generals Sherman, Logan and McMahon, Governor Stoneman, Mayor Bartlett of San Francisco, General James A. Beaver, of Pennsylvania; Colonel Horatio C. King, of New-York, and Colonel Slyer, of Missouri.

The report read by General Burdette yesterday showed that 3,020 comrades had died during the last year, and that 20,643 had joined the organization. The cash balance on hand was $300,000.

STORIES ABOUT JOHN BAIRD.

ASKING FOR A RECEIVER FOR HIS MONEY.

DR. SAYRE ON INSANE DELUSIONS—WHAT WILL BAIRD DO WITH HIS $10,000?

John Baird, the successful and wealthy construction engineer of the elevated railroads, whose family declare that he is of unsound mind and unable to take care of his estate, accompanied his counsel, ex-Surrogate McClellan, of Rensselaer County, to the Supreme Court, where Justice Potter was holding chambers yesterday morning. The lawyer asked that the Union Trust Company be made receiver of the old man's property in place of his son, John S. Baird. He said that when $78,500 was paid to the father in the celebrated de Navarro water-metre suit he directed his son to invest the money in Metropolitan Elevated Railroad stock. This the young man did not do, but purchased United States Government 4 per cent bonds instead.

"Do I understand," inquired Justice Potter, "that he did this against the wishes of his father?"

"This is one of those instances, your Honor," replied the lawyer, "of a young man knowing so much more than an old man."

"That," observed the judge, "is a general characteristic of the age."

Algernon S. Sullivan, on behalf of Mr. Baird's family, opposed the application, saying that the estate had been well managed by the young man. Justice Potter declined to make the change pending the lunacy proceedings before a Sheriff's jury, but he directed that $10,000 be paid from the income of the estate to the father, one-half for his personal use and the rest for expenses in court proceedings. "The money is his," the judge said, "and he should be allowed to have it. We'll see what he does with it."

The inquiry in regard to Mr. Baird's sanity was continued in the afternoon before the commissioners and the Sheriff's jury. Dr. A. W. Ferris repeated the stories told by previous witnesses in regard to Mr. Baird's hallucinations. He thought him insane, although in his conversations on all engineering topics he showed that his mind was extremely clear. He generally began his conversation with quotations from the Bible and often said that God would destroy Julien T. Davies, Alexander S. Green, ex-Judge Hilton and others, who, he declared, were in a conspiracy against him. He said that he had repented and was not under God's condemnation, but that his wife had not repented and would be destroyed.

"What is an insane delusion?" asked Mr. McClellan on cross-examination.

"One that cannot be influenced by reason."

"Are all such delusions evidence of insanity?"

"Oh, no, a man may have a belief in signs for instance and yet not be insane, but then he may be convinced they are wrong."

"Did you ever know a Scotchman who would change his mind even if wrong?"

"Well, I haven't known many Scotchmen, and if I answered you you might take it for an insult."

Dr. Lewis A. Sayre, recalled and cross-examined, was asked what constituted an insane delusion. "Any delusion is insane," he replied.

"If I believed in witches," said Mr. McClellan, "would that be an insane delusion?"

"That would be want of sense, fully."

"What constitutes unsoundness of mind?"

"Absence of soundness of mind." [Laughter.] The witness recited that on the previous evening, while riding in his carriage with Mr. Baird, the latter had thanked him for saving his life when he was sick, but chided him for having joined the conspirators against him. He told the witness that he was acting against his own interests, as he had intended to give him $2,000 besides his fee of $250.

"Did the fact that a man with over half a million had intended to give you a fee of $2,000 impress you as being an insane act?" was asked.

"No sir," was the reply, "that was perfectly sane. The only insane part was that he failed to carry out this idea." [Laughter.]

Dr. William W. Strew, who, at the request of Mrs. Baird, went to see her husband at the asylum, corroborated the previous testimony in regard to his delusions.

RESULT OF A FORGED ORDER OF TRANSFER.

In the suit of William Whitewright to recover the value of 200 shares of stock of the American Telegraph and Cable Company, brought against the company in the Superior Court, Justice Ingraham has decided in favor of the defendant. These shares belonged to Henry Day, whose signature was forged at the bottom of a power of attorney authorizing their transfer. The plaintiff purchased them in good faith and they were duly transferred to him on the books of the company. Afterward the forgery was discovered and the company refused to pay dividends to the plaintiff. The judge held that both parties acted in good faith and that the presentation of the certificate with a request for the transfer of the stock was an implied representation of the genuineness of the authority to transfer. The corporation had a right to rely upon the warranty of authority against it if the person making such representation suffers damages because it is untrue.

BITS OF LEGAL NEWS.

Ten young women who, having been arrested in houses of ill-repute and committed to reformatory institutions, declare that they have no wish to reform and only desire to be set at liberty, were taken before Justice Potter, in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, who was asked by their lawyers to order their release. Seven of them are inmates of the Episcopal House of Mercy, and the others of the Roman Catholic House of the Good Shepherd. On behalf of the plaintiff it was argued that the women were all of age and were illegally restrained of their liberty. Counsel for the institutions maintained that the women had been legally committed by the police magistrates, and should not be discharged. The decision was reserved.

A decision adverse to the claim of Kitty R. Derickson in her suit against her three minor children, in which she sought to have the decree of absolute divorce obtained by William W. Derickson set aside, was rendered yesterday by Justice Ingraham of the Superior Court. The Judge holds that the judgment was not fraudulent, although it was obtained "few hours after the death of her husband; that there is no evidence of collusion or fraud on the part of the attorneys in the divorce case or of the referee; and that the action abated at the death of her husband and cannot be revived so as to give the plaintiff an opportunity to appeal."

PUBLIC BEQUESTS OF A MILLIONAIRE.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 5 (Special.)—The will of George B. Sargent, of this city, who died on Sunday, provides for the distribution of $1,000,000. The public bequests include $5,000 each for the Hartford Hospital, the Union for Home Work, the Hartford Library Association and the Hartford Orphan Asylum, and $1,000 in trust for the Connecticut Hospital for the Insane at Middletown, the principal ultimately to go to the institution. All of the books owned by Mr. Sargent are left to the Watkinson Library, the provision being that it shall retain what it wants, the remainder going to the Hartford Library Association. In a codicil to the will Mr. Sargent leaves the sum of $5,000 toward the erection of a statue in honor of Governor R. D. Hubbard to be erected within the State Capitol or upon the surrounding grounds, as the State officials shall designate.

GENERAL GRANT'S CHOICE OF BURIAL PLACE.

Saratoga Correspondence of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

I heard the other day an odd story about General Grant's wishes regarding his burial place, to investigate which was one of the objects of my visit. There has always been a doubt as to whether he expressed himself in decided preference for any place. It was said that he was willing to be buried in any of three places, and that his family secured New-York City as the most satisfactory to them. The late ex-Senator Chaffee and generals Sherman and Sheridan have said that he wanted to be entombed at the National Capital. It is just about a year ago now that the hero's remains were being brought down the mountain amid the Nation's weeping. The story I heard has, therefore, additional interest in this anniversary period.

It was in effect that General Grant had written a letter in which he stated in plain terms his wish and desire to be buried, not at Washington, New-York, West Point, Galena or St. Louis, which were all named among the possibilities, but on Mount McGregor, where the pure, dry air had given him renewed vitality to live until he had finished his book. I heard the story of this letter two weeks ago. Its contents have come to me in piecemeal. The latest version gave other particulars to add to this outline. In the letter the General said that he had reluctantly consented after great pressure from his physicians to go up on the mountain. Since he made the change he was convinced it had prolonged his life so that he could finish his book, which would leave his family provided for. This was the anxiety of all his illness. With the completion of his work he was content to die, but saw no way to recompense the Mount McGregor people for all their kindness and care and expense, unless it be by selecting that beautiful mountain to be his last resting place, when, as the pilgrims came to his grave, as he knew his old comrades would come, the mountain resort would reap some benefit. When I asked W. J. Arkell to-day about this story he said: "It would be curious if such a letter should be produced some day. Wouldn't it?" He immediately changed the subject, and would not be brought back to it, even by pointed questions.
