Cereal crops of the United Stat, approximate 1886, official 1885-'84, and average for the five years from 1881 to 1885:

The wheat crop of 1886, both the winter and spring varieties, is of exceptionally fine quality. The weather for the maturing of the corn crop has been all that could be desired, and a very large yield is exceeding in fine quality that of any crop for several years. The oat crop is also good in color and weight. The barley crop has been but little stained and most of the crop was harvested in fine order and bright condition making it superior for malting. The final estimate of the crop of 1886 may be perhaps somewhat changed in accuracy and other ways.

The wheat crop of Manitoba will probably give an exportable surplus of 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 bushels. The acreage for the crop of 1886 was 380,231 acres, against 207,179 acres in 1885.

The estimate of the Agricultural Department of Ontario, Canada, for 1886, gives: Spring wheat, 836,402 acres, 18,657,794 bushels yield, or 20.4-10 bushels per acre; winter wheat, 577,465 acres, 9,527,783 bushels yield, or 16.5-10 bushels per acre; total, 1,413,867 acres and 27,585,577 bushels yield.

The production of wheat in all the Canadian provinces is from 28,776,222 to 32,350,269 bushels, and the exports over the frontiers including flour and wheat, have been: In 1882-'83, twelve months ended June 30, 1,636,523 bushels, against 4,436,868 bushels in 1883-'84, 1,154,311 bushels in 1884-'85, 3,029,244 bushels in 1885-'86, and average in 1878-'79 to 1882-'83, 2,798,000 bushels in 1879-'80, 6,800,144 bushels in 1880-'81, 3,077,690 bushels in 1881-'82, 5,030,335 bushels, and in 1882-'83 the imports exceeded the exports by 2,393,076 bushels. The population of Canada in 1886, June 30, was about 4,747,191. The wheat consumption per capita is variously estimated at 5 bushels, and the wheat area is about 2,500,000 acres.
