THE COURTS.

WANTING HIS SHARE OF THE PROFITS.

John R. Foley, a real estate broker, has sued Peter and David Mitchell, lawyers, and others in the Superior Court for an accounting and other relief on real estate transactions, amounting to over $1,000,000, in which he says he has been engaged with them since November, 1881. He says that at that time he formed a copartnership with the two lawyers to buy and sell real property in this city; that he has contributed more than $60,000 to the business and that he has been unable to obtain his share (one-half) of the profits. He says that much of the property has been placed in the names of Andrew J. Mitchell, who are made parties defendant. He asserts that David Mitchell within the last two months has become heavily involved by the failure of the New-York and Boston Rubber Company, of which he was president. He asks that a receiver of the property of the partners be appointed, that the partnership be dissolved, that the defendants be enjoined from disposing of the property, and that a division of the proceeds of the sale by the receiver be made. Chastie Fisher, who it is alleged holds certain bonds and mortgages involved in the transactions, is also made a defendant.

THE APPEAL IN THE DE MELI DIVORCE CASE.

Arguments on appeal in the de Meli divorce case were heard yesterday by Presiding Judge Van Brunt and Justices Bartlett and Macomber, sitting in the General Term of the Supreme Court. Henry A. de Meli, who was born in this city in 1842, but has been for many years a resident of Dresden, where, in 1870, he married Miss Florence M. Draper, an American young lady, who was living there with her parents, was sued by her for a limited divorce in 1882. She charged that he had cruelly treated her and said that when he threatened to place her in a lunatic asylum, she left him and their two children and came to New-York. Her husband, claiming to be a resident of Dresden, denied the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, on which point Justice Rumsey, before whom the case was tried, overruled him. De Meli alleged that his wife had been improperly intimate with Baron Heine Von Geyso, of Dresden, and asked for a counterclaim for an absolute divorce on this ground. The jury dismissed both her suit and his counterclaim, and both sides appealed from his decision. The wife was represented yesterday by John E. Parsons and the husband by Herbert B. Turner.

BITS OF LEGAL NEWS.

Justice Dugro, of the Superior Court, has made an order opening the default in the suit of Benjamin Foster against Levi P. Morton and others to recover damages on the ground that fraud was practised upon him in the sale of certain stocks. The Judge requires the plaintiff to pay costs and disbursements and a trial fee of $30, and says: "This default would have been opened on more favorable terms to plaintiff if it did not appear that he was using this suit as the basis of scandalous charges against one of the defendants, who was a candidate for a high political office."

The suit of Miss Clara M. Totten to recover $100,000 from Cassius H. Read, of the Hoffman House, whom she charges with having betrayed her under promise of marriage, is on the day calendar of the Court of Common Pleas and will probably soon be tried. Her counsel, John F. Baker, yesterday asked Chief Justice Larremore for permission to amend the complaint. The application was denied.

Spencer B. Driggs, a well-to-do inventor, who died in April, 1883, left an estate valued at $125,000. Two children by his first wife and seven by his second survived him. Mrs. Anna A. Driggs, the second wife, claimed all his property, saying that he had transferred it to her. Alice Griffin Driggs and Arthur W. Driggs, children of the first wife, disputed this and brought suit in the Court of Common Pleas. Mrs. Driggs then filed a will purporting to have been made by her husband, giving her a life interest in all his property and leaving it to his children at his death. This will is contested by Alice and Arthur, who assert that it is forged. Testimony attesting the genuineness of the signature was given yesterday before Judge Daly and a jury, and more is promised for to-day.

The suit begun by Julius T. Davies as receiver of Grant & Ward to establish a lien on property now held by John H. Morris, as assignee of James D. Fish, on the ground that it was purchased with money belonging to the firm, was before Justice Andrews in the Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday. Receiver Johnston, of Mount Vernon, who claims the money for that institution, was recently made a party defendant on his own application. The Judge yesterday reserved his decision on a motion to have Frederick Bill, who claims that Fish owes him $100,000, made a party defendant.

AN ASININE VIEW OF THE LABOR QUESTION.

From The Pittsburg Dispatch.

It would be hard to imagine a much more stupid and brutal view of the labor question than that presented by Puck in its last cartoon. The picture represents as illustrations of what will perfectly satisfy the labor agitators, the workingman travelling abroad; sitting at a desk writing articles for publication, addressing Congress, and finally—most horror thought of all—as mingling in society and enjoying the ladies' conversation and music. The obvious view of the caricaturist is that nothing could be more ridiculous or revolutionary than for the mudsills who labor to think of the pleasures of society or travel or to hope to exercise any power over public affairs by writing or oratory.

Considering that this is a nation of workingmen, all of whom have the right to hope for those pleasures and honors, provided they are honestly attained, the representation of such things as wholly beyond the ambition of labor is simple idiocy. It is a legitimate foundation for labor agitation that it seeks to give the working classes a better chance for social enjoyments and political honors; and the caracaturist who asserts that such aspirations on the part of labor are ridiculous simply succeeds in depicting himself as a prejudiced donkey.

REPUBLICAN FEELING IN MASSACHUSETTS.

"Gath" in The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Blaine [said Governor Ames] has become a popular man in our State among the Republicans. Go where you will, you will find that his name is ever welcomed. For a good while it was almost impossible for him to be represented in the National conventions in the proportion of his popular support here. The delegations sent to these conventions were partly composed of men with preferences of their own. In 1880 Blaine got hardly any support at all. The next time he had some supporters, and some of these went for Edmunds rather to prevent a general departure to some third person. As it stands at present, the earnest Republicans look to Mr. Blaine more han to anybody else as their standard-bearer.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

FEATURES OF NEW-YORK DEALINGS.

Yesterday's wheat market awoke from its recent dulness, but the activity was at the expense of values. It would be idle to attempt any other explanation of the decline that occurred than that long holders tired of the recent dragging, sagging market and sold out. And with the selling movement once begun stop orders contributed their mites to the current and helped to carry it still lower. Cash wheat was off ¼@1 cent, but exporters bought over 110,000 bushels. The transactions in the options exceeded 9,000,000 bushels and only brief rallies broke the fall. The market ended heavy at the lowest points with losses of 1⅛ for February at 90½ ⅛ for March at 91¼ and April at 92½. ¼ for May at 93¼, and ⅛ cents for June at 94 cents. The corn markets were depressed solely through sympathy with wheat. Shippers bought nearly 90,000 bushels, but spot lots declined ¼@½ cent. The option speculation closed heavy with losses of ⅛ for February at 48, ⅜ for March at 48⅝, May at 49⅝ and June at 49⅞, and ⅝ for April at 48⅝ cents. There was no feature to oats. Options closed off ⅜ cent as follows: February, March and April each 35⅝ and May 35⅞ cents. A good export movement continues in pork. The lard speculation developed increased strength and advanced 5 points for February at $6 97, 8 for March at $7 01 and April at $7 08, and 9 for May at $7 15 and June $7 22.

The receipts of grain and flour reported yesterday at New-York, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Boston were as follows: Wheat, 64,293 bushels; corn, 152,472 bushels; oats, 111,547 bushels; total grain, 328,312 bushels; flour, 45,639 packages. At Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis the arrivals were: Wheat, 72,883 bushels; corn, 188,886 bushels; oats, 143,848 bushels; total grain, 405,617 bushels; flour 49,523 barrels.

THE TRADE IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9 (Special).—May wheat opened at 82⅞ cents and declined ¼ cent further, making a loss of ⅜ cent from last night's close. The amount of wheat on passage showed a decrease of 1,360,000 bushels, but this didn't count for anything so far as prices went. Pork was firmer, first sales going at $13 45. The trade was active. The price got up to $13 55, and then down again, only to return to that figure. Wheat became weak and before midday sold at 81⅞ cents. There was a large amount of long wheat thrown on the market by weary and discouraged holders. The Milwaukee people were good sellers, some of it probably long stuff. Phillips sold largely, and so did Jones & McCormick. Corn sold down to 40⅝@40¾ cents for May. Baker & Jones both selling heavily. Wright, who sold lard so liberally a few days ago, turned up a buyer. The price ranged between $6 77½ and 5 cents better than that most of the morning. The afternoon session found more long wheat ready to fall on the market, and it made its appearance promptly, the price of the May option going to 81⅞ cents in a few minutes, and lower still by the close. Pork was firm, going to $13 80. May wheat closed at 81¾ cents; May corn, 40⅝@40¾ cents; May pork, $13 75; May lard, $6 87½; May ribs $7 05; May pork, 20 cents.
