IS MISS HOYT A DRUNKARD?

A COMMISSION TO ANSWER THE QUESTION.

THE PETITION PRESENTED BY HER MOTHER—PROMISE OF A SENSATIONAL SUIT.

The eccentricities of Miss Mary Irene Hoyt, which are ascribed by her mother to her addiction to intoxicating liquor, have induced Mrs. Hoyt to apply to the Supreme Court for an investigation as to the question whether she is not an habitual drunkard. Joshua M. Van Cott, on behalf of the mother, yesterday presented to Justice Donohue of the Supreme Court the following:

The petition of Helen M. Hoyt, widow of Jesse Hoyt, and now residing at No. 51 West Forty-eighth-st., in the city of New-York, respectfully shows that she is the mother of Mary Irene Hoyt, an unmarried daughter, who resides at No. 454 Lexington-ave., in said city of New-York. That said Mary Irene Hoyt has been for more than two years addicted to the intemperate use of alcoholic beverages, and in consequence of habitual drunkenness has rendered herself incompetent to manage herself and her affairs, and is so far disturbed in her mental faculties as to be at times uncontrollable and liable to do violence to herself and to others.

That, as your petitioner is informed and believes, the said Mary Irene Hoyt has frequently, during the past two years, suddenly and without apparent cause started on a journey to some distant place, and before reaching there has, as suddenly, changed her mind and gone in an opposite direction; that such journeys she has required the constant attendance of a physician and travelling companion to nurse her during her excessive indulgences in spirituous liquors, and to manage her and her affairs generally; that when at home she has hired and dismissed domestic servants, sometimes the same day; has at times assaulted and driven these servants from the house in a violent, unreasonable manner; has ordered alcohol for her kitchen, and when on coming home she found it already filled and put down she has ordered it instantly removed without any just cause; has maltreated persons who had come to present bills for collection, and in other ways shown herself incompetent to manage herself and her affairs. That in consequence of being incompetent to manage herself and her affairs through habitual drunkenness, the said Mary Irene Hoyt has, while under the influence of alcoholic beverages, committed at times breaches of the peace and been arrested for violent and disorderly conduct.

And your petitioner further shows that the said Mary Irene Hoyt is the owner of a certain house and lot situated at the corner of Lexington-ave. and Forty-fifth-st., in the city of New-York, and of certain lots situated in Silver Springs Park, Marion County, and State of Florida; but what the value of the said property may be this petitioner is not informed and cannot state. That your petitioner is the nearest relative and next of kin of the said Mary Irene Hoyt and her next-of-kin in case of intestacy, and that no previous application has been made for the order now asked for. Wherefore your petitioner prays that a committee of the person and property of the said Mary Irene Hoyt be appointed, and for this purpose that a commission may issue out of and under the seal of this court to inquire of the apparent habitual drunkenness and intemperance in drink of the said Mary Irene Hoyt.

Dr. Charles Milue, of No. 124 East Forty-fifth-st., in an affidavit supporting the petition says that he has attended Miss Hoyt at various times since May, 1884, and that she is addicted to the excessive use of spirituous liquors, as evinced "through the symptoms of chronic alcoholism which she generally presented," rendering her excitable, unreasonable and uncontrollable. He has treated her chiefly for these symptoms of intemperance, and she requires constant watching to prevent daily excesses.

Another affidavit is made by George R. Dutton, a Justice of the Peace in Englewood, N. J., who relates the violent conduct of Miss Hoyt when brought before him on June 17 for an assault and battery on Ann Tierney, her servant. She seemed crazed from the effects of liquor, used violent and abusive language, overturned chairs, seized papers and threw things about the room. An officer had to restrain her by force. She was held for trial at the next Court of Quarter Sessions of the county.

Justice Donohue appointed George C. Forster, Dr. Anderton and Richard C. Morse, "a lawyer, a doctor and a layman," a commission to conduct an inquiry concerning "the habitual drunkenness" of Miss Hoyt before a sheriff's jury with instructions to give those who have charge of her four days' written notice of the time and place for making the investigation.

The application of Mrs. Hoyt is going to lead to one of the most bitterly contested legal contests on record, and, if the hints and suggestions which are already cropping out in regard to this matter are to be received with even amount of credence, there will be startling revelations made touching the ways and means adopted relative to Miss Hoyt and entangling her in a false position. Unless all calculations go amiss regarding Miss Hoyt's case, from the standpoint of her friends the most pronounced, if not the most authenticated efforts, will be made to show that she has been the victim of a protracted conspiracy; that she has been systematically drugged with a view to the production of hysteria, violence and even mania, and that in short one of the most outrageous attempts in the history of weak human nature has been perpetually pursued regarding Miss Hoyt, and the propagation of the view that she is irresponsible, bordering on lunacy and wholly incapable of taking care of herself. It is to be shown so far as can be that witnesses who could throw lighton this matter have been spirited away to New-Jersey, when their attendance in the will contest was sought vainly from day to day and that a systematic effort has been made to place Miss Hoyt in a false light before those who might naturally befriend her and before the world in general.

Frank J. Dupignac, who has all along been Miss Hoyt's stanch defender, had only this to say of the case yesterday:

The news you bring me of the application of Miss Hoyt is the first intimation I have had of such an attempt, although I have for some time heard rumors to that effect. I have no hesitation in saying that Miss Hoyt is perfectly capable of taking care of her property; she has always shown herself to be so and to be a bright, smart business woman. Of course the application will be resisted.

BROOKLYN'S PARK DEPARTMENT.

THE COMMISSIONERS "A GREAT SET OF BOYS"—FAT BERTHS FOR THEIR SONS.

Mayor Whitney was asked yesterday in regard to the mismanagement of the Brooklyn Park Department and said he did not see anything very wrong in the Department, but he added, "I will admit that I think the Commissioners are a great set of boys." The allegations of mismanagement he said he would have investigated. President Easton will call a meeting of the Commissioners at 4 p. m. to-day and a financial statement will be presented. A matter to be investigated will be the appointment of George T. Lyons, a son of Commissioner Crossman Lyons, as a skilled laborer at $4 a day. He has charge of the meteorological observatory in Prospect Park, succeeding Meteorologist Dunne, who was discharged for misfeasance. As the place is under Civil Service rules, Lyons could not be appointed without an examination, but he was placed temporarily in the position, the understanding being that he would serve without pay. But the next thing done was to appoint him as a "skilled laborer." As President Easton has placed his son in a fat position in the park, it is supposed Mr. Lyons thought his boy ought to be provided for as well.

A plan to get rid of eleven policemen appointed under Mayor Low's administration in 1885 has been developed, the flimsy excuse being made that they never passed a Civil Service examination, the fact being that Civil Service rules did not then apply to the Park Department. It is expected that both the force of police and of laborers will be reduced to-day in order to bring the expenses inside the funds available for the rest of the year. Mayor Whitney, Corporation Counsel Jenks, Park Commissioner Easton, Registrar Murtha, and Commissioner of Jurors Furey, who control the Park patronage, had a conference yesterday regarding the best means of using the Park patronage and money to aid in the fall campaign. Mr. Furey, who is seeking the nomination for sheriff, is exceedingly anxious to use the patronage of both the Navy Yard and the Park to insure his election.

SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST A DRUGGIST.

Dr. Michael Levinsky, a Russian physician, of No. 149 Clinton-st., reported Henry Kopf, a druggist, at Sanitary Headquarters for making a fraudulent prescription. Dr. Levinsky was called to prescribe for a child of Max Bernstein, living at No. 82 Delancey-st. The child was ill with summer complaint, and the physician gave a prescription which was taken to Kopf's drug store, at Delancey and Allen sts., to be filled. Kopf sent home an entirely different prescription, and in answer to an inquiry he spoke contemptuously of Levinsky and said that he could not read his prescription. Dr. Levinsky wrote out a prescription for the physicians of the Health Board, but they could not decipher it. Dr. Edson will have Kopf arrested for substituting another medicine for the prescription.

HIS PECULIAR WORK LANDED HIM IN PRISON

William Corbison, who followed a peculiar industry for some months with fair success, found that it led him into trouble for he was sentenced yesterday by Judge Gildersleeve under a plea of guilty to the Penitentiary for four months. He would obtain a cheap silver watch and have engraved on the works the name of some well-known maker. The watch would then be plated with gold and he would take it to a barkeeper or other person and say:

"Here is a watch which has been stolen, I believe, but it is a good one. I will let you have it cheap." He pursued a similar course with thirty-five watches and usually succeeded in obtaining more than the watch was worth. He pleaded guilty to a charge of counterfeiting a trade mark.

AUTOPSIES ON WARD'S ISLAND PATIENTS.

Deputy Coroner Jenkins, in the presence of Dr. Ferguson, of St. Luke's Hospital, yesterday made autopsies on the bodies of Carl Fritz and J. Liddell, the Ward's Island patients who, according to statements from Dr. Trautman, medical superintendent of the Insane Asylum, met their deaths through violence at the hands of other patients. From the autopsies and the history of the cases, as given by the asylum physicians, Dr. Jenkins found, in his inquisition, that death was due in the case of Fritz to a fracture of the left thigh as the primary cause and exhaustion from diarrhœa as the immediate. In the case of Liddell, the doctor found on examination that there was but a slight laceration of the mouth where the patient was reported to have been kicked, and pronounced death due to the condition of the kidneys and heart, both of which were badly diseased.
