NEW-YORKS WIN IN BOSTON

A CLOSE AND WELL CONTESTED GAME.

THE WINNING RUN MADE IN THE LAST INNING ON A SINGLE AND A TWO-BAGGER.

Boston, June 22.—New-York defeated Boston this afternoon in a finely contested game. The visitors scored one in the second on Ward's single, and errors by Wise and Kelly. They won the game in the ninth on Tiernan's two-bagger and Connor's hit to the left field fence. In the fourth Nash was hit by a pitched ball, took second on Morrill's base on balls, went to third on Tiernan's muff of Hornung's fly and scored on Richardson's wild throw. VICTORIES FOR THE JERSEY CITY AND NEWARK TEAMS—RECORDS OF THE CLUBS.

But for the extremely warm weather the Jersey City club would have had a pleasant outing yesterday. They defeated the Wilkesbarre club with ease, to the great joy of the Jerseymen present. The game was played at Oakland Park, Jersey City. The home club batted well and fielded in fine form. The score was as follows:

The old veteran, "Jack" Lynch, formerly of the Metropolitans, was pitted against the Newark nine at Newark yesterday in the game with the Scrantons, and pitched a steady game, but one earned run being made off his delivery. The Scrantons, however, were unable to do anything with Baker, and consequently the home team won. The score was as follows:

The Chicago club still leads in the League race, with Brooklyn also first in the Association scramble. If the Brooklyn nine is defeated to-day and St. Louis wins, the latter will take the lead. The record follows:

NORMAL COLLEGE CANDIDATES.

A complaint was sent to "The Tribune" from one of the public schools yesterday to the effect that President Hunter, of the Normal College, had delayed informing the principal as to what graduates had passed the college examination. Dr. Hunter told a reporter that there had been no exceptional delay in this case. All the work on the examination of candidates was later than usual this year owing to the large number, but the principal of the school in question received her information sooner than some of the principals and all had been informed as soon as the reports came in.

JUST TRIBUTE FROM AN OPPONENT.

THE HONORABLE CANVASS OF THE HONORABLE JOHN SHERMAN.

From The New-York Sun (Dem.) June 22.

There is no aspirant now in the field who deserves more respect for political straightforwardness than the Hon. John Sherman, of Ohio. We pay him the tribute of impartial commendation. John Sherman carries on his back a load of past sin heavy enough to make strong legs stagger, but his behavior in the present canvass has been admirable from the beginning.

This is Mr. Sherman's third appearance in a National Republican Convention as a candidate for the nomination. He entered the Chicago Convention of 1880 with 93 votes, General Garfield presenting his name. He had 34 out of the 44 votes of Ohio. Sherman held his own, with insignificant gains or losses, throughout thirty-five ballots, and on the thirty-sixth saw almost his entire following go over in a body to Garfield. Sherman's greatest strength at any time during that protracted struggle was 119 votes. He did not get the nomination, but the union of his forces with Blaine's at the thirty-sixth ballot defeated Grant and the third term.

At Chicago in 1884 John Sherman's name was presented by Joseph Benson Foraker. The balloting did not begin until Saturday, the fourth day of the Convention. On the first ballot Sherman had thirty votes. Ohio gave him 25 of these, the other 21 members of that delegation voting for Blaine. On the second ballot Sherman lost two of his Ohio supporters to Blaine, and on the third two more. On the fourth and last ballot the rest of the Sherman vote went over to Blaine, and Blaine it was.

Twice, therefore, before this Convention, John Sherman has gone into the fight with half-hearted support from his own State, and twice he has been sacrificed by his own followers. His experience has been depressing rather than stimulating to political ambition. It has been enough to turn hopeful courage into confirmed pessimism, and to destroy whatever faith he may have possessed in the political loyalty of others.

But melancholy experience has not had that effect upon John Sherman. He was the first man to put himself squarely before the party as a candidate for the nomination of 1888. In the preliminary contest in Ohio last year, he worked with the patience, constancy and industrious ingenuity of a beaver repairing its domicile after the ravages of a destroying tide. The magic name of Blaine has had no terrors for him. Yet he did not begin his operations until after he had written to Mr. Blaine, informing him that he should not be a candidate if Blaine desired the nomination. And it was only upon Mr. Blaine's assurance that he was not in the field that the Sherman canvass began. He has wasted no strength in reproaches, has thrown away no opportunity, has indulged in no nonsense, has used no stalking horses, has played no game of them or double dealing. His canvass has been open, manly, honorable, self-respecting and respectable from the first.

The result is that John Sherman goes before this Convention as the leading candidate at the start, with a voting strength probably more than twice that of 1880, and seven or eight times greater than in 1884. He is fairly entitled to all that he has won, in this, his third and last effort to obtain the great honor which he is not ashamed to say he wants more than anything else on earth. Whatever may be the fortunes of the day for John Sherman, of Ohio, he deserves credit from the disinterested for the manliness and straightforwardness of his canvass, and we think he will get it.

"MOTHER" MANDELBAUM'S SON RETURNS.

HE HAD STUDIED MEICINE IN BERLIN AND WANTS TO PRACTISE IT HERE.

Julius Mandelbaum, the son of "Mother" Mandelbaum, the notorious "fence," who fled with his mother from this city after an indictment was found four years ago against the mother and son and one of their salesmen for receiving stolen goods, walked into the District-Attorney's office yesterday and introduced himself to Bond Clerk Penney, who was glad to see him. The bondsmen in the Mandelbaum case transferred their property just before the defendents fled and nothing has been recovered on the bonds.

Julius Mandelbaum is now twenty-six years old. He says that he went from Canada to Berlin and that he has studied medicine and desires to practise his profession in this city. He says that no proof can be offered of his complicity of the crime charged against his mother of knowingly receiving the silks stolen from Simpson, Crawford & Simpson which were found in "Mother" Mandelbaum's store at Grand and Norfolk sts. Mandelbaum had with him his counsel J. F. Moss, and his sureties, Fanny Bloch, of No. 209 East One-hundred-and-second-st. and Morris Isaacs, of No. 30 Suffolk-st. A bond for $5,000 was filled out and Mandelbaum was taken before Judge Martine, who refused to accept it, on the ground that while he was District-Attorney he had acted in the case. Judge Martine said that he saw no reason why he should be asked to act late in the afternoon, when there might be a purpose to avoid publicity. Mandelbaum was remanded, but an application was made to Justice Andrews, of the Supreme Court, who took the bond. The young man's mother, it is said, is still at Hamilton, Ont., where she has a store for the sale of women's and children's clothing. Julius Mandelbaum says that he is living at No. 319 East Seventy-third-st., in this city.

MR. HEWITT STIRS UP THE POLICE.

Mayor Hewitt wrote to President French, of the Police Department, yesterday, stating that many complaints have reached him regarding unlawful structures which obstruct the streets. In the neighborhood of Third-ave. and Ninth-st., he says, a frame building is going up, which occupies nearly half the space between the curbstone and the railroad track. Similar structures, he says, are being built in every part of the city directly under the eyes of the police. "This state of things," the Mayor writes, "is discreditable alike to the patrolmen and to the captain of the precinct." He requests that general notice be issued requiring the police force to report and prevent the erection of such structures on sidewalks and in streets in future. The only exception that can be made is where the Aldermen have granted permits for stands to be put up within stoop lines.

RETAIL COAL DEALERS INDIGNANT.

The retail coal dealers of this city have become indignant at the shabby manner in which they have been treated, as they allege, by some of the middlemen, and yesterday held a special meeting at the Retail Coal Dealers' Exchange, in Grand Opera House Hall, and invited the wholesale dealers to be present. A committee was appointed to confer with the producers and try and have matters straightened out. James Thedford, a large retail dealer, explained the situation as follows:

"We only want from the middlemen the protection that they receive from the producers. If a retail dealer wants coal he must go down to No. 1 Broadway and buy it. Now, there are a number of men down town who claim to be wholesale dealers, who are merely brokers; they buy a cargo of coal on thirty days' time and immediately sell it to some large consumer at the same price that the retail dealer would be obliged to pay for it."

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

FEATURES OF NEW-YORK DEALINGS.

There was little attention paid to the Chicago balloting at the Produce Exchange yesterday, for the grain markets developed a weakness and comparative activity which required strict attention to business. The decline came late, for in the early trading the shorts had some buying to do, which, in wheat options, strengthened prices fractionally. The brightening outlook for the crops, however, is gradually exerting its effect on holders, and after the bears had reduced their lines the supply of goods soon weakened the market in the absence of a good demand. Little news of a decided character was received, and the selling partook of an anxious desire to unload. The market closed active and heavy at about lowest points, and down 1 1-8 for June, at 85 7-8; 1 1-4 for July, at 86 1-4; 1 for August, at 87 5-8, and September, at 88 3-4, and 3-4 cent for December, at 92 1-8 cents. The export inquiry fell off, and the purchases of shippers were limited to 56,000 bushels. Spot lots were easier and closed decidedly weak. Cash corn was fairly active and lower, shippers buying 72,000 bushels. The fine weather, which is promising a big yield of corn, is an influence that overcomes the slight falling off in the interior receipts, and the options were weak throughout. The close was weak at losses of 1 1-2 for July, at 53 3-4, 1 3-8 for August, at 55; 1 1-8 for September; 7-8 for October, at 56 1-8; 3-8 for November, at 55 1-8, and 1-4 cent for December, at 52 cents. Oats ruled heavy but dull, and the options closed off 1-2 for July, at 33 3-4; unchanged for August, at 31 3-4, and up 1-8 cent for September, at 31 1-2 cents.

There were no sales of cash lard, and the trading in the options was extremely light. The market was firmer and closed with net gains of 6@3 points as follows: June, $8 47; July, $8 41; August, $8 43; September, $8 46, and October, $8 43.

The receipts of grain and flour reported at New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston were as follows: Wheat, 35,728 bushels; corn, 78,557 bushels; oats, 58,622 bushels; total grain, 172,907 bushels; flour, 32,233 packages. At Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis the receipts were: Wheat, 55,080 bushels; corn, 214,561 bushels; oats, 183,574 bushels; total grain, 453,215 bushels; flour, 14,975 barrels.

THE TRADE IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, June 22 (Special).—When July wheat fell under 80 cents on Thursday, all bull convictions were upset, and holders prepared themselves for anything. For this reason there was no great surprise or commotion when July wheat to-day sold at 79 cents. The opening was easy, a trifle under the closing figures of Thursday. July started at 80 1-4. The big short in the market, Hutchinson, was inclined at the opening to cover. Just as soon as his buying orders began to be executed, the crowd tailed on after hi The buying was once so general that in spite of all weak appearance the price rapidly advanced 1-2@3-4 cent for the different options. This did not suit the autocrat of this market, so abandoning the plan of covering his shorts, he began selling again. It caught the pit utterly unprepared to take any wheat, and a sharp decline began. The slumpeding of the scalpers was followed by a liquidating by all classes of small holders. There appeared absolutely no adequate demand, and as a result, without any noticeable selling except by Hutchinson, the price declined to the lowest point in months—79 cents for July, a 12 3-4 cents break since May 18, and only 3@4 cents above the lowest figure of March. The close was a little above the lowest figures of the day, 79 1-8@1-4 for July, 79 7-8 for August, and 82 5-8 for December. July corn sold from 49 to 46 5-8 cents. There was a very speedy rally back from 46 5-8 to 47 3-8 @1-2, where July closed.
