WON BY MARGARET MATHER.

A TEMPORARY VICTORY, AT LEAST.

JUSTICE LAWRENCE DISSOLVES AN INJUNCTION OBTAINED BY MANAGER J. M. HILL.

Margaret Mather, the actress, now Mrs. Haberkorn, has won a victory in that branch of the litigation between her and Manager J. M. Hill, of the Union Square Theatre, in which the latter sought to obtain from Justice Lawrence, of the Supreme Court, a permanent injunction restraining her from performing under a contract with Gilmore & Tompkins, managers of Niblo's Garden and the Academy of Music. Mr. Hill claims that she is bound by a contract with him to perform exclusively under his management until June 4, 1893, and that her contract with Gilmore & Tompkins, signed on May 16, 1888, while she was under contract with him, is void. He says he discovered Miss Mather and paid for her instruction, and that her histrionic powers are his for the full term of his contract with her. She denies this, averring that her contract with him was for a copartnership, under which she was to receive one-half of the profits, and that he has violated this compact, failing to pay her her share of the profits. She further says that he never rendered her an accounting, and that he deceived her in investing her money in worthless securities. The decision of Justice Lawrence was received yesterday from Bar Harbor, where he is spending his vacation. It dissolves the temporary injunction granted some time ago pending her suit before Justice Ingraham, in which she seeks a dissolution of the copartnership and an accounting. Justice Lawrence says:

An injunction pendente lite should not be granted in cases of this character restraining the defendant from appearing professionally, unless it clearly appears that the plaintiff has fully performed, on his part, all the requirements of the contract between the parties, and that the defendant has violated the contract. A perusal of the papers read upon the motion shows that the defendant has apparent grounds for alleging that the plaintiff has not in many respects conformed to the provisions of the contract. The questions of fact in dispute cannot be satisfactorily determined on affidavits, but it cannot be denied that the defendant alleges many facts which, if true, establish that the plaintiff has not properly accounted to her for her share of the profits, nor invested such profits in accordance with her directions after thoroughly apprising her of her rights. It may undoubtedly turn out upon the trial of the action that the allegations of the defendant are untrue, but the burthen of proof upon this motion is with the plaintiff, and unless he succeeds in establishing a full and faithful performance of the contract on his part, well-established principles of equity preclude me from granting to him the stringent remedy which he seeks. The plaintiff has not, on the affidavits, in my opinion, made out such a case. To continue the injunction until the trial of the cause might work great injury to the defendant, and until that trial has been had, and the accounts have been fully examined, it will be impossible to reach a just conclusion as to the rights of the parties. Furthermore, it appears from the papers that there is pending another action for the dissolution of the alleged copartnership and for an accounting. That action has been tried and if the plaintiff here, who is the defendant there, should on the evidence taken at that trial be found to be entitled to equitable relief it will be awarded to him by the court. As the case stands before me I am, however, unable to conclude after a most careful consideration of the opposing affidavits that I ought to continue the temporary injunction heretofore granted, and the motion for that purpose will, therefore, be denied, and the injunction dissolved with costs.

The decision of Justice Ingraham in Miss Mather's suit against Hill is expected next week from Canada, where the Judge is sojourning. In the proceedings before Justice Lawrence Miss Mather was represented by ex-Judge A. J. Dittenhoefer, and the plaintiff by Howe & Hummel.

Mr. Hill set forth in his papers that in 1881, at the request of an acquaintance of his, Dr. W. W. Rowley, he listened to recitals of Miss Mather and afterward made a contract with her for a period of six years, the first year of which was to be devoted to study of the parts in which she was to appear and to giving readings to dramatic critics, and the profits were to be divided in the proportion of 25 per cent to Miss Mather the first acting year and thereafter 50 per cent; that she performed under the contract and large profits were realized, and in February, 1887, the contract was renewed for a further period of six years from June 4, 1887. In opposition to the motion Miss Mather contended that during the period she performed under the first contract of June, 1881, although over $100,000 profit had been made she received in cash at the termination of the engagement no more than $2,500 as the result of six years of labor; that Mr. Hill, without authority, invested or claimed to have invested $10,000 of profits due to her in a corporation owned, controlled and managed by Mr. Hill in Chicago, and which Mr. Hill asserts has been lost; that he charged her with one-half of over $40,000 losses sustained at the Union Square Theatre during the season when "Romeo and Juliet" was performed there, and which included losses sustained by the companies of Mr. Hill in which Miss Mather had no interest whatever; that she has never been able to have an accounting or an examination of the books, and her efforts to examine the books and vouchers failed. She also contended that in other respects Mr. Hill had not fulfilled his contract.

COLONEL BLISS RAISES AN OBJECTION.

An objection having been raised by Colonel George Bliss, counsel for John Keenan, of "boodle" fame, in his suit against O'Brien & Clark, the Aqueduct contractors, to the presence of the defendants' counsel at the examination of O'Brien & Clark's confidential clerk, A. J. Whitton, before a referee, to obtain evidence to be used on a motion for an injunction, the matter was submitted to Justice Patterson in the Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday. It was brought before the court by a motion made by Colonel Bliss that the examination be conducted without the attendance of counsel for the defendants or the witness. Colonel Bliss said that signs and glances had passed between the counsel and the witness during the last examination. Chauncey S. Truax, for himself and his associate counsel, E. T. Lovatt, denied this assertion and said that Colonel Bliss ought not to be allowed to make a fishing excursion of the examination. He insisted that Whitton was entitled to have the counsel present at the examination. The Judge reserved his decision.

FOR AND AGAINST THE EAST RIVER TUNNEL.

The committee of the Aldermen on Bridges and Tunnels, Messrs. Hubbell, McMurray and Holland (Long Island), held a long session yesterday and listened to arguments for and against the second application of the New-York and Long Island Railroad Company for permission to construct a tunnel across Manhattan Island under Thirty-eighth-st. and under the East River. Everett P. Wheeler, the counsel of the company and one of the stockholders, urged the committee to make a favorable report. His argument included the company's offer of $60,000 a year to the city for the privilege, fast trains run by electricity or cable and lighted by electricity; without smoke or gas, and with no stoppage from storms.

The property-owners of Thirty-eighth-st. and its vicinity and the Taxpayers' Association of New-York were represented by Colonel B. F. Watson and Peter C. Baker. Mr. Watson addressed the committee at great length and denounced the scheme as one solely in the interest of railroad corporations and capitalists, and subversive of the welfare of the city. He urged the Aldermen to consider the large unoccupied tracts in the upper part of the city, and not lend their aid to the property-holders of Long Island and New-Jersey, who are alone to be benefited by this tunnel. As to the tunnel itself, it was asserted that it would work great injury to the sewerage and to foundations of buildings on its line, the top of the tunnel at Tenth-ave. being only seven feet below the surface.

Mr. Wheeler replied on the part of the company, and Alderman Fitzsimons asked Mr. Wheeler if he thought Mayor Hewitt would sign the resolution giving the desired permission if it were passed. Mr. Wheeler replied that it was too early in the campaign to venture an opinion. A report from the committee will probably be made at Tuesday' meeting of the Board.

HE PROVED AN ALIBI.

Louis Munkel is proprietor of a bakery in Grove-st., near Newark-ave., Jersey City. The wife and daughter of Special Officer Coyle are saleswomen in the store. Thursday afternoon a young man entered the store and ordered $6 worth of cake. He tendered a check for $10 signed by P. H. Hanley and received $4 change. He said he would send for the cake in the evening. When the check was presented at the Second National Bank it was pronounced a forgery. These facts were reported to Officer Coyle, who yesterday arrested Mr. William Bennett. The accused was positively identified by Mrs. Coyle and her daughter as being the fraud, but fortunately for Mr. Bennett he was on St. Mary's excursion the day before, and had no trouble in convincing the authorities of the fact. The young woman who accompanied him was one of the persons sent for to prove that Bennett was out of the city when the swindle took place, and she did so thoroughly. Bennett was discharged.

CROP REPORTS UNUSUALLY CONFUSING.

The business failures in the last week, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co., of the Mercantile Agency, were 202 in the United States and 24 in Canada, a total of 226 against 214 last week, and 199 in the corresponding week last year. The failures in the month were 972 against 777 last year. In their weekly review of trade, Messrs. Dun & Co. express the prevailing uncertainty about the crops in these words:

Within the past few days crop reports have become exceedingly contradictory and confusing. Dispatches by the score are published asserting that frosts have cut down the yield of spring wheat greatly, especially in Dakota and Minnesota, and at the same time the Government Weather Bureau affirms that the weather has been most favorable, and that reports of injury from frost are greatly exaggerated. Reports from France that the yield will fall 25 per cent below last year's contrast with an official statement that the decrease will not be 7 per cent. Such confusing accounts from all quarters have helped a very active speculation, with sales of 93,000,000 bushels here, and a net decline in price of only half a cent for the week. These facts lead to the suspicion that gloomy reports are being used to unload speculative burdens, and that the actual outcome will not fall much below previous estimates. It is hardly necessary to point out that this speculative activity, particularly in exportable products, is not a very healthy sign. If crops are really poor, business must suffer in consequence, and if prices are merely inflated without reason the inevitable reaction will do harm. The immediate effect is that exports continue small; from New-York for the past four weeks they have fallen 16 1-2 per cent below last year's in value, though prices are higher. The heavy excess of imports over exports in July, and for six months ending with July, appears to have created a large adverse balance, which will require liberal exports of merchandise or of specie sooner or later, but at present foreign exchange is steady, and the belief that exports of products will be as large in spite of high prices still controls the market.

THE PILOT CHART FOR SEPTEMBER.

Lieutenant N. S. Culman, of the branch office in this city of the United States Hydrographic Bureau, has forwarded the advance proofsheets of the September Pilot Chart of the North Atlantic Ocean. Attention is called to transatlantic routes by the Thingvalla and Geiser disaster. It is pointed out that a plan for avoiding collisions between transatlantic ships was laid down in the Pilot Chart for December, 1887, and it is asserted that "This recent disaster would not have occurred had the Geiser been further to the southward, as recommended for eastbound vessels, and the collision thus emphasizes the importance of this matter, not only to owners, agents, masters and marine underwriters, but to the public generally."

The weather forecast shows that moderate or fair weather may be expected during the coming month, with occasional gales north of latitude 35 and between the United States coast and the Bermudas. West Indian hurricanes may be expected. There will be less fog along the transatlantic steamship routes, and little or none on the Grand Banks.

BADLY INJURED BY A BROADWAY CAR.

That morbid curiosity, which controls people when a particularly horrifying spectacle is to be seen, seized those who were passing the Post Office at 10:30 a. m., yesterday, and it required the efforts of several policemen to restrain them from crowding upon a man who lay groaning and bleeding on the sidewalk. The wounded man was James W. Robinson, age fifty-three, a silver smith, of No. 425 West-Thirty-fifth-st. His left foot was horribly mangled, the rear wheel of a Broadway car having passed over it. Ambulance Surgeon Wilson relieved his sufferings and Robinson was taken to the Chambers Street Hospital. There it was found that he had sustained a fracture of the ankle, a compound fracture of the os calcis, a slight scalp wound, and a frightfully lacerated wound on the sole of the foot. The flesh had been torn from the base of the toes almost to the heel, leaving the crushed bones bare. The blood flowed profusely and was stopped with some difficulty. In the afternoon Robinson was taken to the New-York Hospital, where the facilities for treating him are much better. The chances of saving the member are considered slight. The driver of the car was arrested but released in the Tombs Court.

A SERVICE IN MEMORY OF BISOP HARRIS.

On the steamship Lahn yesterday the body of Bishop Harris, who died in London August 21, arrived, and was taken to Grace Church. Bishop Potter delivered a brief eulogy at the special services and afterward the body was taken to the Grand Central Station, and sent to Detroit. The widow and sons of the dead Bishop accompanied the body.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

FEATURES OF NEW-YORK DEALINGS.

The cash wheat market yesterday was without feature and extremely dull. Shippers made no purchases and prices eased off 1-2 cent. The sales in the option line run up to over 9,500,000 bushels, but the market was largely a trading one within narrower fluctuations than have ruled of late. There was no novel feature in the way of domestic or foreign news, and the variations are made by bears who want to get a lower range of values and bulls who want to realize, according as they are willing to make ventures. The "outside" spirit which entered the speculation on its recent boom appears to have subsided. Exporters were the sellers of yesterday, and the net results of the fluctuations were declines of 5-8@1 1-4 cent. A firmer cash corn market is to be noted, with export sales amounting to nearly 500,000 bushels. The options closed easy at declines of 3 5-8@1-8 cent. In oats there was a decline of 2@2 1-8 cents on mixed and 1@2 cents on white, the closing being weak. The only interest in the options was the settlement of contracts in August, which caused fluctuations from 35 1-2 to 35 and then up to 45 cents, closing at that figure. The other months were practically unchanged. Lard was weaker for the nearby options, but 5@7½ points higher for the months after October.

The final quotations were as follows:

Wheat—September, 78 3-4 cents; October, 81; November, $1 01 1-8; December, $1 02; May, 1889, $1 06.

Corn—September, 53 3-4; October, 54 1-8; November, 54 3-8; December, 57 3-4; January, 1889, 49 7-8 cents.

Oats—September, 30 1-8; October, 30 1-2; November, 31 cents.

Lard—September, $6 57; October, $6 45; November, $6 85; December, $6 87½; January, 1889, $6 37.

The receipts of grain and flour yesterday at New-York, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Boston were as follows: Wheat, 222,292 bushels; corn, 27,600 bushels; oats, 209,372 bushels; total grain, 509,261 bushels; flour, 46,561 packages. At Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis the arrivals were: Wheat, 326,000 bushels; corn, 219,200 bushels; oats, 241,400 bushels; total grain, 651,531 bushels; flour, 14,841 barrels.

THE TRADE IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Special.—Cables were easier again to-day, but the same tactics were used to brace up the prices on the curb that were employed yesterday. On the open Board all September wheat sold at 94⅝c, and December at 99⅝c. The opening was ½c lower upstairs, and it found Hutchinson a big seller of December. The crowd were much exercised over his transactions. They could see no money in buying September a cent over December, and thought it would be a losing operation. The room traders were bearish and readily followed Hutchinson's lead. They pounded September down to 93⅝c, and December to 99½c. There was a heavy frost in Minnesota, very bad reports from threshings in the Northwest, and cables described some English provincial markets as strong and higher. Primary market receipts were 550,000 bushels, and exports in wheat and flour 281,000 bushels. There were received 182 cars, vs. 1,200 estimated for Saturday. The cash inspection was 101,300 bushels, and charters were taken for 85,000 bushels, all to Buffalo.

Corn opened stronger in consequence of frost in Manitoba and slow temperature in the Northwest. A prominent house supplied the demand and kept selling until September broke from 45⅝c to 40⅞c, when it drew out of the market. The close was easy at 45c. There were received 394 cars, with 565 estimated for Saturday. The inspection out of store was 382,000 bushels, and charters were for 285,000 bushels, all to go to Buffalo.

It was supposed that the shorts in August oats had covered, which is the tag end of them tried to do so to-day. There was a sudden advance of 1¼c to 27c. The price dropped back to 25½c, but at the close the last outstanding contract was filled at 29¾c.

Provisions were easy all around at the opening, but firmed up sharply near the close under moderate buying by a prominent operator. September pork sold early at $14, and closed at $14 22½. There was a corresponding movement in lard and ribs. There were 9,500 hogs received, with 9,000 estimated for Saturday.

Predicted frosts in the Northwest to-night make the curb 4c higher on wheat and ½c on corn.
