FOUND DEAD.

A Man Found Dead Near the Railroad Track Near Blythewood.

By a telephone message to THE NEWS AND HERALD, on Thursday afternoon, from Ridgeway, it was learned that a white man whose name was given as W. H. Parker, of Athens, Georgia, was found dead about a mile from Blythewood. He appeared to be about nineteen years old. A knot was over his left eye and his left shoulder was broken. An uncle of the deceased was expected to take charge of the body. Magistrate D. A. Broom held an inquest over the body. The presumption is that he was killed by the train.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

The body of W. H. Parker, of Athens, Ga., was found one mile below Blythewood about 8.30 o'clock Thursday morning. Magistrate D. A. Broom, acting coroner, empaneled a jury with J. W. Blain foreman and is now holding an inquest.

Mr. Parker was a young man nineteen years old, five feet five inches high, and weighed about 135 pounds, dark hair and a fine manly face. He had a hole over his left eye and his left shoulder was broken.

From what information I was able to obtain Mr. Parker had ability relatives in Athens, Ga. His uncle Mr. A. P. Farrell, arrived on the morning train and took the body to Athens, where it was interred.

MR. MOBLEY LOSES HIS BARN.

The Good Work of the Colored People.

Mr. Editor: Exaggerated reports of a fire that occurred here last night are in circulation, hence this. During the rainy season the women laborers have been employed in shucking corn. Yesterday they were in the barn and one of them lost a box of matches. I did not know of this, however, till this morning. About eleven o'clock last night the barn, containing about five hundred bushels of corn, caught on fire and was burned. The negroes did all in their power to save it. Had their own property been on fire they could not have worked with more earnestness. To them is due the credit of saving the other buildings. There is no insurance on the barn or the corn. The small grain crop is good which softens the loss.

John G. Mobley.

BY THE PHONE.

Mrs. W. E. Nelson and daughter have moved back from Columbia to their old home at Nelson.

ROCKTON.

Major Woodward's crib was burnt to the ground on Tuesday morning. Some of his laborers had been in there shucking corn, and as this is the first time the crib has been opened this year it is supposed that some matches were dropped. The crib contained about six hundred bushels of corn, and about two hundred and fifty bushels were totally destroyed.

On Saturday afternoon the horse of Wiley Strother, a colored man living at Simpsons, ran away and broke the buggy.

The chain gang is at work on the roads in the neighborhood of Rockton, RIDGEWAY.

A. F. Raff, of Zock Hill, was in town on Wednesday.

Work has begun on C. P. Wray's new store.

LIFE AND TIMES OF JAMES HAMILTON.

MAJ. S. P. HAMILTON WILL PUBLISH A LIFE OF HIS DISTINGUISHED FATHER—There should be no Lack of Subscribers.

For ten years Major Hamilton, of Chester, has been gathering material for the purpose of writing a life of his father, Governor Hamilton. In his prospectus he says: "I have been very greatly urged of late for its publication. Strange to say these approaches have come mostly from young men. They say, very justly, that the most interesting period in South Carolina's history lies within 1830 and 1860, during which time General Hamilton took so prominent a part." It published at all, it must be done by subscription. The work will be about five hundred pages, and the price $3. The synopsis of this work is outlined in the prospectus, and shows its complete excellence.

We hope that Major Hamilton will obtain sufficient subscriptions to warrant his publishing the book. Major Hamilton has a peculiarly happy faculty as a writer of history and his work will prove a valuable addition to many South Carolina libraries.
