AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

OBJECTING TO ONE OF THE JURYMEN.

In the suit of Charles Clark, a paper dealer, to recover $14,000 from the Exchange Printing Company, on trial in the Supreme Court, F. A. Ward, counsel for the plaintiff, ascertained, it is said, while the trial was in progress on Tuesday that one of the jurymen was the defendant in a similar suit several years ago, in which Mr. Ward recovered a verdict for $12,000 against him. The juryman spelled his name differently now from what he did then, and Mr. Ward did not at first recognize it. A conference of the counsel yesterday led to application to Judge Cullen, and he discharged the jury without comment, and a new trial will be held. The Exchange Printing Company was controlled by F. E. Fitch, and printed "The American Magazine" for E. A. Davis. When the magazine was insolvent the plaintiff declares the printing company called, as the agent of Davis, for paper from Clark, and then seized the paper for a debt owed to it by the magazine.

TO REOPEN THE MAHONEY WILL CASE.

A motion was made before the General Term of the Supreme Court yesterday for a reargument of the appeal in the matter of the probate of the will of the late Peter Paul Mahoney. Surrogate Abbott refused to probate the will, and the General Term in December reversed his decree and directed that the issues be tried by jury. On December 27 the matter came before Judge Dykman to settle the order, but he declined to do so because the General Term did not agree with his opinion, as it had ordered the will to be admitted to probate, and he declined to sign an order to this effect. An order was subsequently secured from Judge Barnard to show cause why the matter should not be reargued, and the matter was heard yesterday. The papers in the case were submitted and decision was reserved.

THE SIX DAYS HAS EXPIRED.

The six days expired yesterday within which Judge Dykman stipulated that Mr. Gaynor must agree to try the case of Ziegler vs. Chapin by February 16, or he would dissolve the injunction restraining the city authorities from completing the purchase of the plant of the Long Island Water Supply Company. But it is not thought that Corporation Counsel Jenks will ask the Judge to proceed to this extreme step, but will rather await the decision of the General Term, which will probably be forthcoming next week.

Deputy County Clerk W. P. Rhodes reported yesterday that the missing papers in the Freel & McNamee vs. Bush arbitration matter had been returned to court to be used upon a reargument of the motion and were then incorporated in a judgment roll and filed with it on May 27, 1885, and that they had been found in the County Clerk's office.

GATHERED ABOUT THE TOWN.

Martin Tully, sixty-three years old, of No. 150 York-st., fell downstairs early yesterday morning, and killed himself. He got up about 1 a. m. to get a drink of water at the sink, which was at the head of the stairs, and in the darkness made a misstep. He died soon after he was picked up.

The report of Register of Arrears McGuire shows that the outstanding arrears now amount to $3,171,809 42, and that the sum of $1,565,079 90 was collected last year.

The Grand Jury for February went to St. Johnland yesterday to inspect the County Farm.

John M. Thurston, president of the Republican National League, will make answer to the toast "The Young Men of the Country. They Rightfully Belong with the Republican Party."

The sixth toast is "The Dakotas, Washington, Idaho and Wyoming; the Flag's New Stars," to which United States Senator Wilbur F. Sanders, of Montana, will respond.

"The American Scholar" will occupy the attention of Henry C. Robinson, ex-Governor of Connecticut.

The eighth and last toast is "November 4, 1890," which will be responded to by Edwin T. Bartlett, ex-president of the Republican Club.

EVERY ONE APOLOGIZED TO EVERY ONE ELSE.

Justice McMahon spent the greater part of yesterday afternoon in Jefferson Market Police Court in trying to settle the misunderstanding between two families of Gramercy Park. The dispute arose first between the boys of the families and yesterday not only the parents but friends of the families were involved. Lowell Talbot, jr., twenty-two years old, was charged with an assault upon Lester Walton, a ten-year-old boy. The trouble came about originally over Hayden Talbot, a brother of Lowell, who is known in the neighborhood as "Lord Fauntleroy," because of his long curls and yellow leggings, and among his more disrespectful companions as "Reddy," because of the hue of his hair.

The younger Talbot, being of gentle disposition, was the object of his companion's tricks, and Walton was one of his worst tormentors.

On Saturday Lowell Talbot caught Walton throwing stones at his brother and he chastised him so effectively with an umbrella stick that Dr. Arthur Walton, the boy's father, had Talbot arraigned in court yesterday. The lawyer for Talbot suggested that the prisoner apologize and all would be well. Justice McMahon favored this suggestion, and said that if both parties did not settle he would have young Walton charged with assault, too.

When Lowell Talbot was asked to apologize he said: "I'm sorry I struck the boy, but I'd do it again if he beats my brother." This made matters worse and Mrs. Lowell, who was in court, took part in the discussion. Finally, Justice McMahon succeeded in getting everyone to apologize to everyone else and the case was dismissed.

A PLACE WAS OFFERED HIM TOO LATE.

A young man, who said his name was Gilligan, hired a small room over Mrs. C. H. Davis's employment bureau, at No. 657 Sixth-ave., on January 30, and told Mrs. Davis that he wished to get a situation as a waiter. He said he had been employed as valet for a man who lately returned from Europe. Gilligan was seen at the bureau on Monday, and then he seemed to be annoyed because he could not find any work. A peculiar smell about the door of his room attracted the notice of Mrs. Davis last evening, and she called in a policeman to break open the door. The room was full of gas, which had escaped from an open burner. On the bed was Gilligan's body, and its appearance indicated that he had been dead at least twenty-four hours. Beside the body was a copy of one of Rousseau's works. It was believed that the man had committed suicide.

Seemingly he was in too much of a hurry to die. An acquaintance, calling himself George Bartow, went to the agency to inquire for Gilligan on Tuesday, and said he had a place ready for him. Mrs. Davis knocked at the door of Gilligan's room, got no answer, and thought he was away. Probably he was dead at that time. Bartow left word to have Gilligan call at a place in Fifty-second-st.

PHOTOGRAPHY AND ROAD MAKING.

The Road Improvement Committee of the New-York and Connecticut Division of the League of American Wheelmen offer three prizes, amounting in all to $100, to photographers who will send to the committee at least three photographs of the roads in their vicinity, or elsewhere, which are in a bad condition and unfit for travel as highways. The first prize is $50 in gold, the second, $30, and the third $20. Competition for these prizes will close on May 1. The purpose of this offer is to procure photographs of roads which are in a wretched condition and sadly in need of repair. Photographs will tell the truth more clearly than anything that can be said or written. Communications should be sent to Isaac B. Potter, No. 278 Potter Building, New-York, or Charles L. Burdett, Hartford, Conn.

EX-GOVERNOR GORDON LOST ALL HIS MONEY.

Ex-Governor Gordon, of Georgia, while walking down Broadway or Cortlandt-st. on Tuesday last lost $170 after he had stopped to pay a bill. He did not learn his loss until he reached the Pennsylvania Station and wanted to buy a ticket. Then he found his money was gone. The ex-Governor personally knew Mr. Williams, agent of the Pullman car service, and he was forced to borrow $5 from him to get to Washington, where he could get the funds he required. Ex-Governor Gordon told Mr. Williams that he did not think he had been robbed. He said he generally carried his money in the fob pocket of his trousers, and that after paying a bill he must have placed the money inside his trousers instead of in the pocket. The police were not informed of the loss.

CONTEST OVER A SALE OF SUGAR-TRUST STOCK.

The Stock Exchange governors yesterday decided an appeal from a recent decision of the Arbitration Committee denying the appeal. The case arose out of a misunderstanding over an order given by E. C. Potter & Co. to C. M. Cumming to sell Sugar Trust stock. Mr. Cumming sold 1,000 shares and the firm claimed it had given an order for only 500 shares. The broker bought in the other 500 shares at a loss of $2,000, but the Arbitration Committee awarded him $1,000 upon hearing the case a week ago.

NEWS FROM NEW-JERSEY.

JERSEY CITY.

ASKING THAT HIS BROTHER BE ARRESTED.

A warrant was issued by Justice Weed yesterday for the arrest of Elias Van Anker, of Jacksonville, Fla., on a charge of swindling and forgery. The warrant was obtained by Abram Van Anker, of Metuchen. Before the late war Abram Van Anker died, leaving a large estate in Middlesex County to his children, Elias, Abram, Charles, Theodore, Oscar and Libbie. Oscar became insane during the war, but before this happened he arranged that the wife of Elias should inherit his portion of the estate if he did not return alive from the war. When Oscar recovered his reason, he learned that his sister-in-law had recorded his property in her name at New-Brunswick. Oscar began a suit, and found that the property had been mortgaged by Elias. Theodore married and died. Then it was learned that Theodore had mortgaged Elias's share of the estate before Elias had done so. Charles died, and left $12,000 in unpaid debts as a charge on the estate, and this claim and another for $9,000 left by Oscar, who committed suicide a year ago, is now in litigation. Abram yesterday learned that Elias proposed to claim a portion of the entire estate, and he swore out the warrant for his arrest.

THE ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE JUSTICE WAS VAIN.

William Todd, who was indicted by the Grand Jury for repeating in the charter election of April 8, 1890, pleaded guilty yesterday in the Court of General Sessions. He will be sentenced on Friday. Todd, when arrested, was immediately bailed in $1,000 by Alderman and City Collector "Paddy" O'Neil. A few weeks later, when Todd was wanted in court to plead, it was learned that he had "jumped" his bail. The forfeiture of the bail bond did not seem to worry O'Neil. A capias for the arrest of Todd was given to Sheriff Davis, but the man was not found.

District-Attorney Winfield then took charge of the matter, and he gave the capias to Captain John Graham, who, within forty-eight hours, found Todd and arrested him. While Graham was taking his prisoner to the police station, "Mike" O'Mara, "Joe" Quirk and "Patsy" Mahoney attacked him, and Todd escaped. Roundsman Hopkins caught him after he had run a block. He has been in jail ever since.

BUNCO STEERERS GOT HIS MONEY.

Henry Kremer, of Los Angeles, Cal., a vineyard owner, reported to the police yesterday that he had been swindled out of $40 by bunco-steerers. He said two young men had accosted him and said they were going to Europe on the same Red Star Line steamer he was to sail on. They said they had several thousand dollars in a satchel and they were afraid thieves would get it from them. They asked Kremer to put his money in the satchel and to take charge of the bag. This the Californian agreed to do and he handed the men $40 to place in it. Soon after the men eluded Kremer by going in a liquor store in one street and out of the door on another street.

A LITTLE TRUANT KILLED.

Edward Nolline, nine years old, of No. 1,196 Summit-ave., while playing truant from school on Tuesday was run over and killed on the Junction Railroad. Instead of going to school the boy thought it better to enjoy a holiday by stealing short rides on freight trains. He had made several successful rides during the day and for his last venture he boarded an Erie freight train late in the afternoon. When the train reached the west end of the tunnel the lad attempted to jump off. In some manner he fell between the wheels of the cars and his head was horribly crushed. The body was taken to Speer's Morgue.

REWARDING AN OLD HENCHMAN.

The Board of Fire Commissioners yesterday appointed John Conway, a Democratic liquor-shop keeper and president of the Board of Commissioners, Chief Engineer of the Department at a salary of $2,500 a year. Conway is one of the strongest heelers of the Davis-Cleveland ring. His salary is $500 a year more than that received by his predecessor, Henry E. Farrier, who was killed by an explosion while doing duty at a fire. It is understood that Mayor Cleveland will appoint William F. Kern a Fire Commissioner to succeed Conway and that when the Board reorganizes Commissioner John H. Brown will be elected president. Mayor Cleveland year after year attacked Kern when he was president of the old Board of Works, and as one of the notorious "Big Four" was indicted for malfeasance in office.

ELIZABETH.

The inquest in the case of Pearl Beekman was finished last night at Durning's Morgue in Elizabeth-pt. The jury held that death resulted from injuries received and ill-treatment at the hands of the child's father, Samuel S. Beekman, and his housekeeper, Jennie Wiley.

An attachment against the goods and chattels of John F. Moinehan, a New-York lawyer, was issued yesterday by the Union County Court. Moinehan lived for some time at Cranford. He and his wife went away on Monday night leaving personal property, on which there is a chattel mortgage held by the New-York Fidelity Guarantee Endorsing Company. Ex-Assemblyman Foster M. Voorhees, counsel for John L. Derby, one of the principal creditors, to whom Moinehan owes $250, had an attachment issued and will seize the goods to-day. There are other creditors, two of whom got out attachment writs last evening.

Morguekeepers for three years were appointed yesterday for Union County by the judges of the Court of Common Pleas. Those designated were: For Plainfield, Patrick Casey; Railway, Daniel K. Ryno; Elizabeth, Charles J. Jensen. The last was a surprise, as Michael Deeming has been the morguekeeper for six years, and as he was competent his removal was not expected. The new appointment was a stop to the German Democrats.

PLAINFIELD.

TO OPPOSE A NEW RAILWAY PROJECT.

At a special meeting of the Common Council to be held next Monday night, an effort will be made, it is said, to rush through a franchise granting to T. Nevins, representing the Newark Electric Street Railway Company, power to introduce in Plainfield a system of rapid transit operated by electricity with trolleys and overhead wires. Publicity was given to the proposed scheme for the first time last night, when a Democratic Common Councilman, a member of the so-called "Big Six" combination, affirmed that by July 4, next, electric street cars would be running on Plainfield streets.

A few days ago the members of the so-called "Big Six" went to Newark and viewed the workings of the Springfield-ave. railroad, which is operated with the trolley system of electricity. It is said that on that day arrangements were completed for the introduction of three distinct street car lines in Plainfield. The first of these, it is understood, will start at the North-ave. station of the Central Railroad of New-Jersey, and passing along North-ave. it is to continue through Place-st., Broadway, Woodland-ave., South-ave., Richmond-st., East Front-st., Place-st. and thence back to the depot. The second line of car tracks will, it is said, pass west along North-ave. and continue through Park-ave., Sixth-st., Plainfield-ave., Fourth-st., Grant-ave., West Front-st., Peace-st. and back to the Central Railroad station. It is also said that another line will be projected along East Front-st., in an easterly direction toward Scotch Plains. The scheme will be bitterly contested by Plainfield's leading people, who contend that the introduction of poles and trolley wires will render unsightly Plainfield's chief beauty, the macadamized roads and driveways.

WESTFIELD.

THE MUSICAL SOCIETY INDIGNANT.

Westfield people are greatly stirred up because the second concert of the Westfield Musical Society cannot be given in the town that supports it. The Methodist church had been engaged for the concert, but just at the present time there are a series of religious meetings being held in the church. The church officers have refused to vacate the church on the date announced for the society's second concert this season. Without a hall to sing in, the society has been compelled to lease the big Casino of the Union County Country Club, at Plainfield, and on Monday night a special train will convey a chorus, soloists, orchestra and audience of Westfield people to Plainfield. The predicament in which the society has been placed has caused considerable unpleasant comment, and Westfield people are at odds over the affair.

NEWARK.

The Board of Education will require this year a total appropriation of $125,000 for new school-house accommodations. The Committee of the Board on School Houses and Sites is considering plans of extension and improvement and the needs of the Board will be submitted shortly to the Common Council.

At the meeting of the Newark Board of Trade last night, Francis B. Thurber, of New-York City, read a paper on "Our Mercantile Marine," which treated especially on trade with Canada and Central America. There was a large attendance of merchants, manufacturers and business men, who listened attentively to Mr. Thurber's address.

The building is to be four stories in height, with basement about 75x125, and is to be built of brick, with stone trimming. Fourteen acres surround the institution, which is on high ground, in the most retired portion of the village.

The Bay State Shoe and Leather Company, for the last twenty years, manufacturing shoes under contract labor in Sing Sing Prison, submitted a proposition that they would erect a new factory in the village and employ 600 men if the citizens would subscribe $10,000 to assist them in putting up their factory. A similar proposition was received from a cigar company, to put up a factory and employ 500 girls, if the citizens would subscribe $2,000 toward the cost of the building. Both propositions were accepted by the meeting. A committee was appointed to raise the subscription of $12,000 and $3,000 has already been raised for that purpose.

NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS CONFER.

TOPICS THAT CAME UP FOR DISCUSSION—SOME OF THOSE PRESENT.

The American Newspaper Publishers' Association yesterday began its annual meeting in the Hoffman House. The association's objects are "the protection of the members from irresponsible customers, the gathering and disseminating among its members of information of value to them, and the giving to each other of such additional assistance as may be within their power."

The president of the association, James W. Scott, of "The Chicago Herald," was the chairman. There was a large attendance of members at the opening session. The formalities of organizing occupied the forenoon. The roll was called, reports of officers were read, and a committee on order of business was appointed. The reports told an encouraging story of the prosperity of the association. That of the treasurer, W. M. Laffan, of "The New-York Sun," showed that there is a balance on the right side of the account of over $1,000. There are now about 150 newspapers represented in the association.

In the afternoon the chairman announced that questions had been received, of which discussion was wanted. They were, "Which is better for an evening paper for a feature, an enlarged Saturday or a Sunday issue?" "Should newspapers furnish their employes with free copies of the paper?" "How can you find out the other fellow's circulation?" "Are members of this association receiving an adequate price for special position advertising?" None of the questions excited much serious comment, except the last. It appears that a resolution bearing on the necessity of making special charges for position was passed at the last annual meeting. Some of the members were in favor of having every one present give his experiences and rules in regard to charging for position in advertising. W. C. Bryant, of "The Brooklyn Times," declared that the New-York papers took any advertising they could get at any price they could get for it. "The New-York papers," said he, "are the worst cutters on rates known." Arthur Jenkins, of "The Syracuse Herald," asked "How far are resolutions passed at these meetings mandatory on the members?" "They are not at all," said the chairman. "The resolution is simply the sense of the meeting; but members are expected to follow it as far as possible."

The association finished consideration of the matter in executive session. The association will meet to-day at 10 a. m. Important business, including the election of officers, is on the programme, and there will be a dinner at the Hoffman House in the evening.
