NEWS FROM NEW-JERSEY.

JERSEY CITY.

J. W. Hollis, of No. 125 Woodward-ave., was found by some boys lying in the snow in Summit-ave., on Thursday night. The boys got a wagon and took him to the Third precinct station. He said he was Joseph Jones and had no home, but later he told Roundsman Richards who he was and where he lived. He also said he was engineer at Christ Hospital, where he had been treated for heart disease for several months. At midnight he was found dead in his cell. The City Physician said he died from heart disease. He was thirty years old and lived with his mother.

Prosecutor Winfield yesterday received the mandate of the United States Supreme Court, affirming the decision of the Circuit, in refusing a writ of habeas corpus to Edward W. Hallinger, the colored man who has three times been sentenced to death for killing his wife in this city two years ago. Mr. Winfield said he would arraign Hallinger for resentence on Monday. Mr. Pershall says the decision does not determine Hallinger's fate. He says that it merely decided that he should not have applied for a writ of habeas corpus, but should have proceeded by writ of error. He also says that he will do this as soon as Hallinger has been resentenced. He believes Hallinger will outlive Mr. Winfield.

The contracts with C. A. Boulton & Co. and Patrick Connolly for building the new City Hall were signed yesterday, and will now go to Mayor Wanser for approval. Ground will be broken on or before December 12, and the building is to be completed on or before June 1, 1894.

ORANGE.

An interesting meeting of the Orange Mountain Medical Society was held at the house of William B. Boulton, in Orange last evening, when Dr. Howard A. Kelly, professor in Johns Hopkins University, read a paper illustrating the preparation for and the progression of operations in surgery by over fifty lantern slides. There were over fifty of the members of the society present, and the evening closed with a supper.

The funeral services of the late Alfred Mann were held in Calvary Methodist Church, of East Orange, yesterday afternoon. They were conducted by the Rev. Dr. A. B. Rendir, the pastor of the church, and taken part in by Presiding Elder Sanford Van Benschoten, of the Newark Conference, and six of the former pastors of the church—Charles Little, W. D. Church, J. B. Faulks, Dr. Henry Spellmeyer and L. R. Dunn.

NEWARK.

The list of civil cases to be tried at the December term of the courts is an unusually important one. Orin E. Runyon sues Willinson Goddis & Co. for $200,000, which he wants as commissions for negotiating the sale of the defendants' business to an English syndicate. The sale was not finished, but Runyon says that he is entitled to the commission, as the firm backed out after all the arrangements had been effected. Another suit is by T. J. Preston & Co. against the Newark Electric Light and Power Company for $100,000, for injury done to the plaintiff's building by the company's engines. Adeline F. Brown, of Orange, sues the Rev. William N. Jason for $5,000 for breach of promise. Both the parties are colored. Mrs. Catharine McDermott sues Father Patrick Cody for $2,000. The suit arose over an insurance on the life of the husband of the plaintiff. The congregation of B'nai Abraham, through their trustees, sues Peter Gobert for $20,000, and Robert Weiss sues Christian Kubach for $5,000 damages for a dog bite. Against the Newark Passenger Railway and New-Jersey Traction Company there are thirteen suits, the damages wanted aggregating $110,000. Against the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad there are five suits, aggregating $79,000; against the New-York, Lake Erie and Western three suits, aggregating $38,000; against the Central Railroad of New-Jersey two suits, aggregating $27,000, and against the Pennsylvania Railroad two suits, aggregating $25,000. There are fifty-eight other suits involving amounts up to $10,000.

Over 2,000 agents of the Prudential Life Insurance Company from different States paraded yesterday with several bands and made an interesting pageant. Mayor Haynes reviewed the parade at the City Hall.

Edman D. Stiles, eighty-seven years old, of No. 18 Cottage-st., was struck and instantly killed at the Elmst. crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad by a drill engine last night.

ELIZABETH.

A shocking railroad accident occurred last evening at Elizabethport, near the Singer Sewing Machine Works. The 5:15 express train from New-York struck two boys who were walking along the track and failed to heed the warning whistle. One of them was tossed in the air as high as the smokestack of the locomotive and instantly killed, while his companion was fatally injured, and died last night. The boys were identified as Charles Benhouse and Edward Branch. Their fathers are molders.

OTHER SUBURBAN TOWNS.

LONG ISLAND.

FLATBUSH.—The outbreak of diphtheria in the home of William C. Bullmer, of Clarkson-st., whose home has been visited with death in three instances in as many days, has not spent itself. Yesterday morning Mrs. Bullmer was taken down with the disease, and her condition is regarded critical by the attending physician. Yesterday Health Officer M. W. Smith received a letter of protest from V. L. Bedingfield, editor of a local paper, on behalf of a large number of residents, that Mr. Bullmer is allowed to go in and out as he pleases, and that he rides to New-York in the Flatbush cars every day. The residents appeal to the Health Board to take some action in the case. Dr. Smith said there was no cause for alarm, and every precaution had been taken to keep the disease from spreading.

LONG ISLAND CITY.—Constable Conrad Diestal went to the house of Patrick Plunkett, No. 87 Grand-ave., Astoria, on Thursday afternoon to replevin a sewing machine which Mrs. Plunkett had purchased on the instalment plan. He found Mrs. Plunkett at home, and, having served her with the legal papers, proceeded to remove the sewing machine. Mrs. Plunkett, who weighs 270 pounds, flew into a rage, and swore the constable should not take the machine out of the house. Diestal, however, continued his work, but had not reached the door of the sitting-room with the machine when Mrs. Plunkett pulled it from his arms, and, having put it back in its corner, picked up the constable and threw him out of the house. Mrs. Plunkett was taken before Justice Kavanaugh yesterday morning to answer the constable's charge of assault, and was fined $20, which her husband paid.

GREENPORT.—The smallpox at Greenport is beginning to cause much alarm. A coffin containing the body of Cornelius Rorke, who died in Brooklyn from smallpox, was taken to Southold on Saturday for burial. The Health Board at first refused to allow it to be buried there. The body was left on the platform at Southold station several hours, until it was removed for burial on Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Southold people are indignant. There are at present three quarantined cases in town, each in a different part of the place.

STATEN ISLAND.

HE CONFESSES TO ARSON.

Robert W. Morrison, an ex-special policeman; John Crawford, and Daniel Mahoney, a well-known politician at West Brighton, are locked up in the West New-Brighton police station charged with arson. They went out together on Thursday night. Shortly after midnight they broke into the building of the Workers Temperance Union, in Henderson-ave. They secured a can of kerosene and set fire to the building. While the building was burning they walked across the street and set fire to the election booth in the IId District of Castleton. When the fire alarm was given the men made their escape through the woods. While walking across the fields they also set fire to forty tons of hay owned by Silas N. Havens, and valued at $:00. The three fire alarms were given almost within one-half hour of each other. The temperance building was owned by Alice Barrett, and was valued at $500. It was destroyed with its contents. The men were arrested yesterday afternoon on suspicion. When arraigned before Justice Langdon, at West New-Brighton, ex-Policeman Morrison confessed his guilt and made a sworn statement implicating Mahoney and Crawford. The three prisoners were committed without bail for a further examination.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

WILLIAMSBRIDGE.—Deputy Sheriff Bauer and Constable Trumpler yesterday arrested two men and one woman, whom they caught passing counterfeit money on the storekeepers of this village. A large amount of counterfeit money, mostly representing silver dollars, was found on the prisoners. They refused to give their names.

GOVERNOR FLOWER WAS NOT INDICTED.

The Queens County Grand Jury presented a number of indictments in court, November 3, against property-owners in Long Island City for maintaining nuisances in filling to fill in certain lots of meadow land. There is, however, no truth in the reports that Governor Flower was one of the persons indicted. District-Attorney John Fleming, when seen at his office in Jamaica yesterday, said: "No presentment or indictment was made or found, directly or indirectly, against Governor Flower."

HOW WARNER CAME TO BE NOMINATED.

New-York letter to the Philadelphia Press.

Some men of authority in Tammany Hall went to Mr. Croker and asked him why he permitted (John Dewitt) Warner to be nominated for Congress. Croker said: "I had to do it, because it was the only thing that Cleveland asked. He wanted Warner renominated, and he begged pretty hard. I expected to nominate a reporter of 'The World,' who came to me with indorsements both from 'The World' and Mr. Dana's newspaper, with which he was formerly connected, but I had to yield to Mr. Cleveland in this instance."

NEW-YORK CITY.

"Things Not Always What They Seem" will be the subject of the address to young men to be delivered by the Rev. C. Venton Patterson, pastor of the Central Park Baptist Church, at the East Eighty-sixth-st. branch of the Young Men's Christian Association tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The annual dinner of the Presbyterian Union of New-York will be held on Monday evening at Sherry's. Several well-known speakers will be present.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Bradford, of Montclair, N. J., will deliver an address in Union Theological Seminary on Monday evening, taking for his subject: "The Non-Conformist Preachers of England during the Present Century."

Anthony Moyningham, of Cambridge, Mass., a political stump-speaker, who came to this city several weeks ago and was convicted of unlawfully carrying a concealed weapon, was arraigned before Recorder Smyth yesterday for sentence. Many prominent persons from different States of the Union have called upon the Recorder on Moyningham's behalf. The Recorder yesterday suspended sentence.

Mayor Grant will lay the cornerstone of the new 71st Regiment Armory, to be built at Park-ave. and Thirty-third-st., on Saturday, December 10.

"M. D." sends $2 to this office for Mrs. Jenny Platzner, who is in destitute circumstances at No. 77 Columbia-st.

Policeman Joseph J. Craig, who recently was tried in the Court of General Sessions on a charge of theft and was acquitted, was dismissed from the police force yesterday for being in a liquor-store in violation of the rules.

The trustees of the Riot Relief Fund yesterday sent to the Police Board a check for $1,000 for the relief of the family of Detective John Carey, who was killed by David Wheeler in Seventh-ave.

Edward Lange, alias Jacobs, of the Sixth-ave. "fence," who was arrested by Inspector McLaughlin recently, waived examination before Justice McMahon in the Tombs Police Court yesterday and was held for trial in $1,000.

Charles Finger, of No. 305 East Twenty-seventh-st.; Victor Grant, of No. 438 First-ave., and Morris Silberstein, of No. 470 Second-ave., were held for trial in the Tombs Police Court yesterday, charged with robbing their former employers, Haas Bros., of No. 53 West Twenty-sixth-st.

The Board of Street Opening decided yesterday to close East Two-hundred-and-eighteenth, Two-hundred-and-nineteenth and Two-hundred-and-twentieth sts.

Mrs. Nellie Keating, the unfortunate woman who was found wandering in Warren-st. on Tuesday evening during the snowstorm was removed to Ward's Island from Bellevue Hospital yesterday morning, she having been pronounced insane by the examining physicians.

Samuel Singer, twenty-one years old, who had been an inmate of the insane asylum on Randall's Island, escaped from Henry Henderson, a keeper, at Grand-st. and the Bowery on Wednesday. He was still missing yesterday and the police were directed to search for him.

The first of the "Metropolitan Meetings," as they are called, will be held at the Union Square Theatre to-morrow at 4 and 7:30 p. m. Mr. Yatman will speak on "The Carpenter Encouraged the Goldsmith." There will be much music, both vocal and instrumental. No admission fee will be charged. The evening service will be opened with a half-hour of song.

Edward J. Vernell, the English swindler who has been masquerading as T. Aubrey Peart, son of a Birmingham clergyman, pleaded guilty in the Special Sessions Court yesterday of having defrauded William H. Sherman, assistant secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, out of $10. He was remanded until December 16 to enable the San Francisco police to come here with requisition papers.

The Rev. Dr. Newland Maynard will preach tomorrow evening at St. Augustine's Chapel, East Houston-st., near the Bowery.

Bishop Edward G. Andrews is announced to preach in St. Luke's Methodist Episcopal Church, Forty-first-st., near Sixth-ave., to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. Bishop Andrews is the resident bishop of the Methodist Church.

A regular meeting of the New-York Microscopical Society was held last evening at Mott Memorial Hall, No. 64 Madison-st. Many prominent microscopists were present, and indulged in discussion upon the value of carbolic acid in mounting specimens for the microscope. President J. D. Hyatt gave a brief history of the origin and formation of the society, together with papers of historical interest.

TRIED TO STAB THE OFFICER WITH A HAT-PIN.

Mrs. Susan Chapman, thirty-six years old, of No. 214 West Eighteenth-st., was in the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday. She was bruised about the face, her eyes were blackened, and her nose was cut. She had been arrested on a charge of being drunk and disorderly in Canal-st., but she asserted that Policeman Gray, who arrested her, had knocked her down and kicked her. He had then taken her into a liquor-store, at Sixth-ave. and Tenth-st., and given her two drinks of whiskey, and told her not to say anything about her treatment by him. Policeman Gray denied what the woman said, and the bartender at the liquor-store said that the policeman and the woman did not come into the place. Justice Ryan sentenced the woman to three months on the Island. On the way into the prison the woman pulled a large pin from her hat and attempted to stab Gray with it, but was prevented by other policemen standing near. Later Policeman Gray was assaulted by Nathan Chapman, the woman's husband. He was arrested and sent to the Island for a month by Justice Ryan.

HE SAYS HE WAS DRIVEN FROM THE POLLS.

John F. Murray, a colored deputy marshal, of Jersey City, last night complained to Chief Supervisor McEwan that Policeman Rogers had driven him from the polls on Election Day. A warrant was issued, and Rogers was told to appear to-day.

THE ARCHBISHOP SPEAKS.

HE CRITICISES FATHER CORRIGAN.

SEVERAL STATEMENTS IN THE PRIEST'S LETTER HE DECLARES FALSE.

A representative of the Associated Press called yesterday at the Archiepiscopal residence, Madison-ave. and Fiftieth-st., and obtained from the Rev. James N. Connolly, the private secretary of Archbishop Corrigan, a statement regarding the letter of Father Corrigan, of Hoboken, which was published yesterday.

"Without entering into the merits of the case, I desire to refer to one paragraph in Father Corrigan's letter," Father Connolly said. "It reads: 'Archbishop Corrigan and Bishop Wigger were not on speaking terms for years until Cahenslyism united them against Archbishop Ireland and Cardinal Gibbons.' The assertion that Bishop Wigger and Archbishop Corrigan were not on speaking terms for years is entirely false.

"With regard to the second point in the paragraph, I wish to say that Bishop Wigger, Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ireland and Archbishop Corrigan have always been of the same mind with regard to what is called Cahenslyism. A few facts will confirm how true this is, and show that they have never disagreed in any way on this subject, but were always of one mind. Bishop Wigger and Archbishop Corrigan last year wrote in their own names, and in the name of the St. Raphael Society of New-York, to Mr. Cahensly, protesting against the peculiar theories known as Cahenslyism. In fact, Archbishop Corrigan wrote twice, personally, to Mr. Cahensly on that point, and long before the bishop had already expressed the same views.

"Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Williams, of Boston; Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia; Archbishop Elder, of Cincinnati, and Archbishop Corrigan, of New-York, met on December 17, 1888. At their request Archbishop Corrigan prepared a letter, in their names and in his own, addressed to the Holy See, protesting against such projects as have since become known by the name of Cahenslyism. Archbishop Ireland, who was then in Rome, considered the letter so valuable that he cabled to Archbishop Corrigan for a copy of it, and gave it the first place in the printed memorial drawn up by him and Bishop Keane on the subject, and presented it to the Holy See.

"Last year, at the meeting of the Archbishops in St. Louis, a committee composed of Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishops Ireland and Corrigan was appointed to write again on this subject. The letter was drafted under the direction of Archbishop Corrigan, and presented to the Sovereign Pontiff. From this it is easy to see that there is no authority whatsoever for the statement that Cahenslyism has ever divided Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ireland, Bishop Wigger and Archbishop Corrigan. They have always been of one mind on this subject; nor is the episcopate of the United States in any sense divided. The spirit of unity and charity happily prevails among all the Bishops throughout the country."

AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

COUNTERFEITERS HAD BEEN AT WORK ON IT.

A curious-looking five-dollar bill was presented for the inspection of the United States authorities yesterday. The seal and number had been erased from it, and the man holding it thought it was a counterfeit and wanted advice in regard to attempting to pass it. It was sent to a bank and pronounced good, and the cashier of the postoffice was of the same opinion, and redeemed it. The attention of Chief Brooks, of the Secret Service Bureau, was called to the bill, and he went to Brooklyn to look at it. After careful examination he said that the bill was genuine, but that an attempt had been made by counterfeiters to raise it from $5 to $50. It was necessary to remove the seal and the number, and this had been done, but the counterfeiters had found the completion of the work impossible and had put the bill in circulation again. It furnished a clew that had been waited for, however, and Chief Brooks took the bill to forward it to Washington.

BROOKLYN TEACHERS MEET.

The Brooklyn Teachers' Association met yesterday afternoon in the Girls' High School building. There was a large attendance, and close attention was given to addresses upon important educational subjects by Joseph F. Crooker, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Mayor David A. Boody, Joseph C. Hendrix, president of the Board of Education, and Dr. William H. Maxwell, City Superintendent of Public Instruction.

MEETING OF UNITARIAN WOMEN.

The New-York League of Unitarian Women held its monthly meeting yesterday in the Second Unitarian Church, at Clinton and Congress sts. Mrs. John W. Chadwick presided. The topic for consideration was "Radicalism." The subject was opended by Mrs. Celia P. Woolley. She said that all great leaders were radicals, and cited Luther, Wesley and Calvin as types of radicals in the past, and Phillips, Brooks and Heber Newton as types in the present. Miss Marion Libbey read a paper upon "Morals of Religious Transition."

THE CHURCH MAY BE DISRUPTED.

The difficulties in the Church of St. Chrysostom, which came to light when seven of the nine trustees resigned, did fair to disrupt the society. Owing to the loss of a number of the supporting members the trustees found that they could not manage the business of the church upon a paying basis and resigned. No action has been taken to fill their places. The pastor, the Rev. W. S. Wright, says that a meeting will soon be called for this purpose. By the withdrawal of the members who have gone, two-thirds of the income has been taken away.

MASTER PAINTERS AND DECORATORS MEET.

At the annual meeting of the Master Painters and Decorators' Association, of Brooklyn, held at No. 73 Court-st., on Thursday evening, there was a large attendance of enthusiastic members, presided over by William Mackey, the president. Mr. Kelly, the teacher of the Pratt Institute, reported that the various classes in painting, graining and frescoing were well filled with pupils who were making excellent progress. Mr. Charles Eaton, a member of the committee of the National Association having in charge the exhibition of painting and frescoing at the National Convention to be held at Cleveland in February, said that the boys of the Pratt Institute were preparing some excellent exhibits for that convention. The officers elected for the year were: Thomas Richards, president; Thomas A. Silcocks, first vice-president; Benjamin H. Newman, second vice-president; R. W. Thompson, recording secretary; George Williams, financial secretary; W. W. Beaven, treasurer; trustees, Thomas Williams, Mr. Sherer, Frank Marshall, Charles Eaton and H. S. Smith.

GATHERED ABOUT THE TOWN.

The will of Stephen H. Herriman, who died at No. 143 Joralemon-st. on November 8, has been admitted to probate. His estate is divided between his three children.

The funeral of Moses Bulkley was held at his home, No. 48 Remsen-st., yesterday afternoon, the Rev. Dr. Storrs officiating. The burial will be at Southport, Conn., to-day.

Absolute divorce was granted in the City Court yesterday to James P. Higgins from Mrs. Susan Emma Higgins, whom he married in 1884.

The house formerly occupied by George H. Stayner, of Ives & Stayner, at Clinton and Lafayette aves., was sold yesterday to E. E. Thomas for $64,500.

The entire cadet corps of the 13th Regiment, headed by Lieutenant I. Morris, has decided to resign, owing to dissatisfaction with the methods of Lieutenant George Cochran Broome as instructor of the corps. The corps was organized in 1879 and the regiment has been recruited from it to a considerable extent.

Horatio S. Stewart has been elected president of the Brooklyn Sunday Breakfast Association, now entering upon its second year.

John C. Greaney, an ex-supervisor and contractor, has been appointed Superintendent of Docks, in place of the late James Murphy, at a salary of $1,500 a year.

The question whether the Aldermen or the Park Commissioner has the right to give permission to erect trolley poles across the plaza of Prospect Park is to be determined in the courts.

Mrs. Mary Martanella, of No. 2,360 Atlantic-ave., was killed by a train on the Long Island Railroad at Atlantic-ave. and Sackman-st. last evening. She was crossing the tracks as a rapid-transit train going east struck her and fractured her skull. She died at St. Mary's Hospital.

CARROLL, THE CAB-DRIVER, WILL RECOVER.

The police of the West Thirtieth-st. station are still investigating the case of James Carroll, the cabman, who was found senseless on Thursday night on the Twenty-sixth-st. side of Madison Square Garden. No further arrests have been made. James Flynn, who was found leaning over Carroll's unconscious form and was arrested on suspicion of being his assailant, is still confined in the Jefferson Market prison. He was arraigned before Justice Ryan yesterday afternoon and held in $1,000 bail for examination on next Monday. Carroll has rallied from the condition he was in when he was removed to Bellevue Hospital, and the physicians attending him said last night that he would recover. He was struck on the left side of the head, above the ear, and the nature of the wound leads to the belief that the blow was inflicted with a sharp instrument. The wounded man lives at No. 380 Third-ave. Flynn boarded in the same house.

This is a perfect mine of information for an aggressive Republican campaign. Every campaign orator should possess a copy. "Protection Not a Tax," "Why a High Tariff Pays," "The Real Doctrine of Protection," "Rich and Poor in America," "Reciprocity," "Money for the People," "Farm Implements Abroad," "The Omaha Platform," "Farm Mortgages" and "Alliance Fiat Money Nonsense," are only a few of the topics treated. 25 cents a copy.

CHILI AND THE NEW AMERICAN NAVY.—President Harrison's messages to Congress on the insult to the American uniform and flag in Valparaiso and extended descriptions of the new warships of the United States, with numerous illustrations, and including a complete list of all the new vessels, their size, armament, crews, etc. This document also gives a complete list of all the vessels of the old Navy. This Extra will be read with the deepest interest by every American citizen. Pamphlet form, 64 pages. 25 cents a copy.

WARSHIPS SUNK AT SAMOA.—Men make the American Navy fully as much as American ships. Upon what could we depend in a foreign war? Read the story of the gallant courage, the ingenuity and dogged obstinacy with which our warships encountered the overwhelming forces of Nature in the hurricane at Samoa! This number also contains the "Johnstown Disaster," "American Girls Abroad" and their titled husbands; Stories of Hunting, etc. 104 pages. 10 cents a copy.

PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY, 1892.—The proceedings, reported by the Rev. John R. Devins, an experienced journalist and Presbyterian clergyman, and revised and enlarged. In pamphlet form. 25 cents a copy.

CAMPAIGN SHEET EXTRAS.—The campaign is over, but the discussion of economic and political questions is not. For the benefit of those who desire them, a budget of the low-priced campaign sheet extras of The Tribune, 10 in number, will be sent to those desiring them, for 15 cents, postage paid.

TRIBUNE ALMANAC, 1892.—Containing the platforms of all the parties in 1891, and the election returns and statistical dates of that year. 350 pages. 25 cents a copy.

AMERICAN MILLIONAIRES.—The Tribune roll of persons reputed to be worth a million or more has been revised and republished. It gives the names of 4,047 millionaires of the United States, and the lines of business in which each one made his fortune. With paper cover, in pamphlet form, the publication will cost 25 cents, postage paid. A subscription edition, on better paper, with flexible cloth covers, will be mailed to any address, in paper box, for $1. Probably 380 changes have been made in the list.

"VILLAGE IMPROVEMENT: Why American villages Differ in Prosperity."—In small pamphlet form, the charming article of B. G. Northrop, setting forth the value of handsome appearance and sanitary betterments, the pleasure to be derived by the inhabitants from improvement associations and the great service any man can do for his native village. 5 cents a copy. $3 per 100 copies.

AFTER-DINNER SPEECHES.—A handsome pamphlet of 84 pages, containing the most eloquent and entertaining after-dinner speeches and memorial addresses of the public dinners of the winter of 1891-92 in New-York City. 25 cents a copy.

KNITTING AND CROCHET, 1891.—New. 96 pages. The handsomest and best Knitting and Crochet Extra ever issued by The Tribune. 25 cents a copy. This issue is devoted to patterns for lace garments, hassock and cushion covers, trimming, curtain bands, bags, mats, scarfs, tidies, handkerchiefs, etc. In addition, 44 pages of the charming "Home and Society" articles from The Sunday Tribune. A delightful number.

"OUR CHAUNCEY."—Our Chauncey" is Chauncey M. Depew, who is certainly acknowledged to be one of the foremost of American orators—brilliant, sparkling, sound and sagacious. His after-dinner speeches are both the models and the despair of his rivals. "Our Chauncey" is a poem, by Isaac H. Bromley, illustrated profusely and comically by Dan Beard and C. D. Gibson, two of the best pen-and-ink artists in New-York City. It is a delicious piece of fun, and it is moreover thoroughly possessed of a spirit of genial and sincere admiration for its eloquent subject. It is doubtful whether Mr. Bromley has ever done his wit more credit than in these dashing, rollicking and brilliant verses. Retail price, $1 a copy. The book has been offered as a premium to the readers of The Weekly Tribune; and any actual subscriber to The Daily may now obtain it on the same terms, viz., 80 cents a copy in addition to his subscription. The book is sent in a paper box.

M'KINLEY INDUSTRIES.—New. A compilation of striking articles from The Tribune, describing industries which have been established under or benefited by the McKinley bill. Figures are given showing better wages and lower prices of manufactured goods. 25 cents a copy.

BIG ISSUES OF AN OFF YEAR.—A previous set of articles by Roswell G. Horr, almost as good as the one just referred to. Pamphlet form, 88 pages. 25 cents a copy, postage paid.

TRIBUNE WAR STORIES.—A magnificent collection of over 40 stories of the Civil War, written by actual participants. Some of their tales are among the most thrilling and pathetic which have been put into print. 104 pages. 25 cents a copy.

NORTHFIELD, THE EXERCISES AT—New ready. 15 cents a copy.

CHAUTAUQUA IN 1892.—Now ready in a handsome pamphlet of 68 pages. Profusely illustrated. 25 cents a copy.
