THE TRADE IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, April 27 (Special).—It was known early to some people in the wheat trade that one of the milling concerns in the Northwest was tied up in its money matters. This knowledge might have had some influence early on the wheat market here. The first hour was one of great depression. May touched 70 cents, the lowest price of the crop; July got to 72⅞ cents. The pit opinion was that the Cudahys were leading the selling both of July and September. New-York was closed; that narrowed the trade. Minneapolis and Duluth were weak. Cable news came slowly. "The Price Current" was a little bullish. The decline was stopped by Armour. Crop news started the advance. Receipts were not large enough nor small enough to affect prices. There were 250 cars here; 215 was the estimate for Friday, and the Northwest had 249 cars. Western weather was not favorable, but there was a promise of better condition. May sold between 70 and 71⅛ cents; July, between 73⅝ and 74⅞ cents; both closed at the top. Corn was helped by the strength of provisions, and also affected quietly, possibly, by the dual strength of wheat. The spread between May and July was narrowed from 2¾ cents to 1⅞ cents; it was 2 cents at the close. July sold between 42⅞ and 43⅝ cents and closed at the top. Oats opened and closed at the same price for May—28¾ cents. July sold between 28⅝ and 28¾, and closed at 28⅝@28¾ cents. Receipts were 156 cars; the estimates for Friday were 127 cars. There was a roaring bull provision market, pork advancing a dollar a barrel, lard 20 cents a hundred, ribs 15 cents a hundred. The close was not far from the top. The features of the day were buying of pork by Wright and gossip about the situation in pork, which seems to make a September corner the easiest thing imaginable. Shorts of all kinds and degrees were at work covering, and, with everybody excited, purchases were extremely difficult. Mitchell was leading the professional bull element. The selling was by longs; but as trading was difficult, neither the buying nor the selling was at all adequate to the fluctuations. Liberal hog receipts, 26,000 head, did not ease the price any.
