BROOKLYN'S BASEBALL DAY.

THE BRIDEGROOMS WIN THE GAME.

TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE SEE PHILADELPHIA DEFEATED—THE RECORDS.

GAMES YESTERDAY.

Washington 11, New-York 3. | Cleveland 9, Chicago 6.
Brooklyn 3, Philadelphia 1. | Cincinnati 3, St. Louis 2.
Baltimore 8, Boston 2. | Louisville rain.

There was plenty of color, life, activity and enthusiasm at Eastern Park, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon, when the League championship season in that city was formally opened. Pretty women, and Brooklyn has her share of feminine loveliness, were there by the hundreds, dressed in the gayest spring attire. Staid business men brought out their entire families, and shouted just as enthusiastically as did the "young hopeful." The crowd in vulgar numbers reached 10,000, and in these days of mammoth facts and figures some people will hardly appreciate what a throng 10,000 people make.

The game was between the Brooklyn and Philadelphia teams and the home players won after a stirring battle. The pitching of Stein was the real feature of the game, only one hit being made off his delivery. In seven of the nine innings Stein retired his opponents in one, two, three order, a really remarkable performance. Brilliant plays were numerous, and the playing was so sharp and active that the game was over in one hour and a half.

Bright-colored flags and bunting floated from stands and fences. Conterno's band furnished the music, the concert beginning at 2 p. m. The band also played lively airs between the innings, which kept the players on the run and the spectators busy keeping pace with the whole proceedings. The exact attendance was 9,562, and all things considered, Brooklyn's opening game in 1893 was the most auspicious in the history of baseball across the big Bridge.

Gaffney, the umpire, called "Play ball!" Conterno waved his wand, and as the music ceased Griffin went to the bat for Brooklyn and opened the game with a safe drive to centre field. Hallman made a great running catch and Griffin was doubled up, and as Dailey struck out no runs were made. The visiting players were retired in order. In the second inning Brooklyn had three men on bases and again failed to score.

In the last half of the inning the Philadelphia men scored a run and took the lead. Griffin made a capital catch of Hallman's long drive. Boyle, the ex-Giant, drove a bounder toward third, but Daly hugged it instead of picking it up cleverly, and Boyle reached first on the error. Clements was put out, and then a passed ball advanced Boyle to third. Cross hit safely between short and second and Boyle scored the first run, and the Quakers had the lead.

The crowd felt good-natured and happy in the next inning when the home players sent two men around the circuit and, scoring two runs, took the lead. Stein got to first on a fumble by Carsey. Griffin forced out Stein at second, and he then took second himself on a passed ball. Foutz made a hit and Dailey forced Griffin at the plate. Foutz and Dailey stole bases, and both scored on Shoch's hit to right field.

The playing now became quick and sharp, both pitchers doing clever work. In fact, up to the seventh inning fourteen batsmen had gone out on fly balls. The home players increased their lead by one more run in the seventh inning, and the admirers of the Bridegrooms felt easier. Griffin started the inning with a safe hit to centre field, and he took second on a poor throw by the Philadelphia's left-handed catcher. Foutz was put out, but Dailey was not so easily disposed of, and his two-base hit to centre field scored Griffin. This ended the run-making for the day, leaving the score as follows:

GAMES TO-DAY.

Washington vs. New-York, at Polo Grounds, New-York.
Brooklyn vs. Philadelphia, at Eastern Park, Brooklyn.
Baltimore vs. Boston, at Baltimore.
Cincinnati vs. St. Louis, at Cincinnati.
Louisville vs. Pittsburg, at Louisville.
Cleveland vs. Chicago, at Cleveland.

Through a mistake in the schedule it was generally supposed that the Giants were to play at Washington to-day. Such is not the case, and the New-York and Washington teams will play at the Polo Grounds this afternoon at 4 p. m.

The Philadelphia team had four catchers in the game yesterday, while Brooklyn had three.

The Emeralds of the New-York Catholic Protectory will cross bats with the Harlem Athletic Association team this afternoon at the latter's grounds, at One-hundred-and-eighth-st.

NEW-YORK'S TEAM AGAIN DEFEATED.

THE WASHINGTON NINE OUTPLAYS THEM WITH EASE AT THE CAPITAL.

Washington, May 5.—The Giants were easily beaten for the second time to-day by the despised Washingtons, and the 3,000 spectators present were wild with delight. The new pitching distance handicapped King, and he had little speed and poor control of the ball, especially in the first half of the game. New-York's errors were particularly costly. The two teams left for New-York to-night, where they are scheduled to play at the Polo Grounds to-morrow. The score to-day was as follows:

GAMES IN OTHER CITIES.

Baltimore, May 5.—The Baltimore club met the Bostons again to-day, and for the first time in a year defeated them. Nichols, of the opposing team, was batted hard for fifteen hits. The "slugging" came in the first part of the game. Baltimore earned six of their runs. The fielding was almost perfect, only one error being made in the game. Baltimore won by batting. Milligan did the work, and by his hitting sent in five runs. Attendance 1,577. The score:

Baltimore	1	5	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	8
Boston	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2

Baseballs—Baltimore 15, Boston 5. Errors—Baltimore 1, Boston 6. Batteries—McMahon and Robinson; Nichols and Bennett. Umpire—Hurst.

Cleveland, May 5.—The game was played in a biting cold wind, with a cheerless drizzle. Anson got ahead early in the fight, and insisted on playing to a finish. At the end he was not in sight of victory. McGinnis was batted out in the seventh, and Hutchison fared little better. The score:

Cleveland	0	0	0	1	0	3	3	0	2	9
Chicago	0	1	4	0	1	0	0	0	0	6

Baseballs—Cleveland 9, Chicago 10. Errors—Cleveland 3, Chicago 6. Batteries—Clarkson and Zimmer; McGinnis, Hutchison and Schriver. Umpire—Lynch.

Cincinnati, May 5.—The Cincinnati and St. Louis teams played a remarkable game to-day. The batting was lively and the fielding play nearly perfect. The home team won as follows:

Cincinnati	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	1	3
St. Louis	1	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	2

Baseballs—Cincinnati 12, St. Louis 11. Errors—Cincinnati 2, St. Louis 1. Batteries—Dabny and Vaughn, Gleason and Peitz. Umpire—Emslie.

Providence, May 5.—Erie defeated Providence in a lively game to-day. Kilroy pitched two innings and Erie got a lead of seven runs. Madden went in in the third inning, and had he been the first to pitch the result would have been different. Clark pitched with fine speed and control for Erie, and had a magnificent support. Bassett played at third in fine form for Providence. Weather cold. The score was Erie 12, Providence 6.

Louisville, May 5.—The proposed Louisville-Pittsburg game to-day was postponed on account of rain.

At Augusta, Ga.—Savannah 6, Augusta 1.
At Atlanta, Ga.—Macon 11, Atlanta 6.

TRYING TO SETTLE THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Cambridge, Mass., May 5 (Special).—When Harvard and Yale met to arrange baseball games for this season two dates were decided on, the first at Cambridge on June 22 and the second at New-Haven on June 26. They failed, however, to settle on a date for a third game to decide the championship in case of a tie. The matter was left open until May 1. About that time reports from New-Haven appeared, implying that the failure to conclude arrangements for a third game lay with Harvard, and stating that Manager Swayne had received no communication relative to the matter from Harvard. These misleading reports, among other things, have induced Harvard to publish the entire correspondence. By this the exact positions taken by the two colleges are fully explained. Yale's statements to the effect that Harvard had not tried before May 1 to arrange a third game are shown to be wrong. As a matter of fact, Harvard has challenged Yale to play this game, giving to her the choice of seven days, but Yale has declined. As a further proof of her strong desire to settle the championship, Harvard has made a third proposition. If Yale refuses this Harvard will have done her utmost.

WILLIAMS DEFEATS DARTMOUTH.

Williamstown, May 5 (Special).—The first championship game of the season was played here this afternoon, resulting in a victory for Williams. Dartmouth's fielding was loose, and up to the sixth inning, with the exception of two two-base hits by O'Connor, no safe hits were made off Howe. In the remaining four innings five scattering hits were made. Williams batted O'Connor freely. The whole number of hits were twelve, with a total of fourteen. Howe's pitching was magnificent, and Ide played a brilliant game. Clagett was hit by a pitched ball in the fifth inning and was unable to continue playing. The batteries were: For Dartmouth—O'Connor and Rinney, Thornburgh and Abbott. For Williams—Howe and Draper. The score:

Williams	1	4	0	4	0	0	0	0	x	9
Dartmouth	0	0	0	0	0	3	0	2	0	5

YALE LAWYERS BEATEN.

Providence, May 5 (Special).—Brown defeated the Yale Law School at baseball here this afternoon by a score of 7 to 4. The game was exciting and the result was at no time certain. White pitched well for Brown, and the whole game was remarkable for fine fielding. The game is interesting as affording an opportunity for comparing the Yale 'Varsity with the Law School team. Yale defeated Brown 7 to 0 Monday, but the battery did it all. It is the opinion of the Brown men that the Law School team is superior to the 'Varsity, with the exception of the battery. The score:

Brown	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	5	1	7
Yale Law School	0	0	0	0	0	1	3	0	0	4

Baseballs—Brown 8, Yale 7. Earned runs—Brown 3, Yale 3. Batteries—White and Tenny, Bowers and Tarrell. Umpire—Burns.

HARVARD STARTS FOR PRINCETON.

Boston, May 5 (Special).—The Harvard nine left Cambridge to-day en route to Princeton. A large crowd of students gathered to cheer the train and they gave an enthusiastic send-off. The make-up of the team will be Wiggin and Upton for the battery; Trafford, first base; Hovey, second base; Cook, third base; Sullivan, shortstop; Abbott, left field; Hallowell, centre field, and Frothingham, right field. On Monday Manager Hill has arranged to play off at Philadelphia the postponed game with the University of Pennsylvania, and has, in consequence, cancelled the game with Dartmouth on May 10. Highlands and Corbett will be the battery.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE MEN ROW FOR PRIZES.

The annual regatta for the class championship of Columbia College and the class championship cup took place yesterday afternoon over the usual course on the Harlem River. The freshman, sophomore and junior classes each sent a crew. The start was made at 4:30 o'clock. The course was one mile long. The freshman crew—made up of Gould, stroke, Carter, McLane, Goldsmith, Rice, Gitterman, Ganson and Shoup—took the lead from the start and won the race by three-quarters of a length. The junior crew was second. The time was 6 minutes and 40 seconds.

THE WEATHER REPORT.

THE STORM CENTRE MOVES NORTHEAST.

Washington, May 5.—The storm central last night in Southern New-York has moved to Eastern Maine. A secondary has developed over the District of Columbia and Maryland. A disturbed region extends from this secondary to extreme Western Texas, and from this point northward to the north of Montana. An area of high pressure is central over the extreme South Atlantic coast and a second area is central in North Dakota. A third is central off the North Pacific coast. Light rain has fallen in the lower lake region and the Ohio Valley. The temperature has risen in the Atlantic and Gulf States and the Missouri Valley; it has fallen in Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming.

For Eastern New-York, fair Saturday, preceded by showers in the early morning; westerly winds.

For the District of Columbia, Eastern Pennsylvania, New-Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, showers to-night and in the early morning, followed by fair Saturday; winds becoming westerly.

For Virginia, generally fair, preceded in the extreme northern portion in the early morning by showers; slightly cooler in southwestern portion; winds becoming westerly.

For North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama, fair.

For Mississippi and Louisiana, fair, followed by showers in extreme northwest; slightly cooler in northwestern portions.

For Eastern Texas, generally fair, with showers and slightly cooler in northern portions Saturday afternoon.

For West Virginia and Ohio, generally fair; slightly cooler except stationary temperature on the lake.

For Western New-York and Western Pennsylvania, showers followed by fair in the interior; northwest winds.

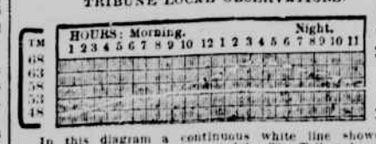
For Indiana and Illinois, fair; slightly cooler in extreme south; warmer on the lake; north and northwesterly winds.

For Lower Michigan and Upper Michigan, fair; slightly warmer in Upper Michigan.

For Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota, generally fair.

For Iowa and Nebraska, fair; slightly warmer.

TRIBUNE LOCAL OBSERVATIONS.



In this diagram a continuous white line shows the changes in pressure as indicated by The Tribune's self-recording barometer. The broken line represents the temperature as observed at Perry's Pharmacy.

Tribune Office, May 6, 1 a. m.—Clear weather prevailed yesterday till evening, when it began to rain. The temperature ranged between 48 and 66 degrees, the average (56¾) being 2½ degrees lower than the corresponding day last year and 7 degrees higher than on Thursday.

In and near this city to-day there will probably be showers in the morning, followed by fair weather.

A DRINK THAT COST $1,900.

Tribes Hill, N. Y., May 5 (Special).—While going from Amsterdam to Hagaman's Mills about 10 o'clock last night, Martin V. Ham drank liquor given to him by a stranger, whom he met on the road and who said he was going to Hagaman's Mills. The liquor was drugged and Ham was soon insensible, when he was robbed of about $1,900 and a watch and chain. Ham drew the money from Amsterdam banks yesterday. It belonged to his wife. Ham is a merchant at Hagaman's Mills.

All desire for liquor permanently removed.

MRS. HARRIS AT SING SING.

SHE TALKS TO HER CONDEMNED SON.

THE TWO WERE KEPT THREE FEET APART—INVITATIONS TO THE EXECUTION SENT OUT.

Mrs. Harris, accompanied by her son, Allan, arrived at Sing Sing from New-York at 11:54 yesterday forenoon. Mrs. Harris seemed anxious to escape the gaze of those who were waiting at the station to get a glimpse of the mother of the condemned man. Allan Harris took his mother's arm and quickly ushered her into a carriage, and started for the prison. When the prison was reached Mrs. Harris was assisted to the warden's office by her son. There she met General Lathrop, Superintendent of State Prisons, Warden Durston having stepped out of his office to look after some repairs that were being made in the prison.

General Lathrop asked Mrs. Harris and her son to be seated, but Mrs. Harris, who began to show considerable emotion, said:

"Oh, please, sir, take me to my poor boy at once!"

General Lathrop assured her that as soon as the warden came in she should see her son. When Warden Durston appeared Mrs. Harris repeated her request and the warden led the way to Chief Keeper Connaughton's office, through which they had to pass to reach the condemned man's cell. Mrs. Harris, although she showed great will power, tottered and leaned heavily on the arm of her son. When the little party reached the corridor in the death house Harris was standing close to the bars of his cell, anxiously waiting to get a glimpse of his mother, whom he had not seen since he was re-sentenced to death six weeks ago.

Keepers Helm and Durnbecker, of the death watch, were on guard at the time. In anticipation of Mrs. Harris's visit the keepers had pulled down the screens of all the condemned cells which were occupied, with the exception of Harris's. Keeper Helm sat between the large screen and Harris's cell. This screen prevented Mrs. Harris and her son from getting nearer than three feet to Carlyle Harris's cell. When Harris learned that his mother was in the death house he arose from his cot and greeted her. He extended his arm out of the door and his mother grasped his hand and shook it heartily. She seated herself in a chair just outside of the cell and there held a long conference with her condemned son, remaining over an hour. During their interview she wept several times, but recovered herself so that her emotion would not break down her son. When she retired from the death house Allan Harris, Carlyle's brother, was taken into his presence by Chaplain Wells. Young Allan was with his brother for over half an hour. When he came out he said to the reporters that his mother had no communication to make.

As soon as Mrs. Harris had rested she and her son Allan took a carriage and, accompanied by Chaplain Wells, drove to the home of H. W. Ambler, No. 26 State-st., where they will remain until after the execution. The invitation to the witnesses were sent out last night by Warden Durston, superintendent Lathrop was with Warden Durston all day and started for Albany on the 3:30 p. m. train.

Mrs. Harris and Allan last night kept themselves secluded and positively refused to see newspaper men. Neither would they answer written questions which were sent to them by the reporters. Harris's father, who is employed as a bookkeeper at Syracuse, is expected at Sing Sing to-day or Sunday to see Carlyle. His young sister, who is at school in Massachusetts, it is thought will not come to say farewell to her condemned brother.

MR. HOWE CEASES HIS EFFORTS.

HE WILL NOT APPEAL TO THE UNITED STATES COURTS FOR HARRIS.

William F. Howe has decided not to ask Governor Flower for a reprieve for Carlyle W. Harris and not to appeal to the United States courts to delay the execution. He said to a reporter yesterday:

"At 10 o'clock this morning a telephone message came from Mrs. Harris, asking if I was in. The clerk said that I was, and I went to the telephone. She said that she and her son Alan were on their way to Sing Sing to see Carlyle, and asked if I had anything to say to her to send it to Sing Sing.

"Twenty minutes after, while called into the outer office, and looking through the window, I saw Mrs. Harris and her son coming. The poor woman came into my private office, and to my surprise she was collected and subdued and very quiet. Her first remark was, 'Oh, you poor man,' and I replied, 'Oh, you poor woman.' 'Well,' she said, 'is there any hope for Carl?' I answered Mrs. Harris, 'There is absolutely no hope.' I had framed an idea of taking the case to the United States Supreme Court at Washington, but on looking over the records thoroughly I could not find anything which could justify me in taking the matter there as an honorable member of the bar. Mrs. Harris, if I could see the faintest ray of hope for success by such a procedure, I would unhesitatingly take it. I can find no such hope, and it would be cruel to Carl, cruel to you and cruel to me to obtain a stay which could only result in the same sad end. It is true that some lawyers have appealed to the Supreme Court at Washington and obtained a delay in the execution of sentences, but their conduct has been condemned by the courts, and I pride myself that I am esteemed too highly by the judiciary to render myself liable to censure for mockery of the law. I can take no further steps in the matter. My sad duty is ended.'

"She thanked me and said she felt that I was right. She said: 'I am now going to see Carl and try to sustain him, but I thank God Governor Flower, in his decision, to my mind, has declared Carlyle innocent, for the Governor says that the evidence demonstrates that Helen was in the habit of taking morphine medicinally. Now, Mr. Howe, who knows but that the woman who takes morphine medicinally may not contract a love for it, and Helen may have caused her own death? At all events, Mr. Howe, I think that Carl's innocence is established, and that he will die a martyr, a resigned martyr and a brave one. Goodby.'

"'Where are you going?' I asked, and she replied, 'I am going to Sing Sing.' 'Will you remain at Sing Sing?' 'Yes,' was the reply, 'until the last is over.' I said, 'Give my love to Carl.' I had Mrs. Harris escorted to the station of the elevated railroad at Grand-st., and from there she took a train to the Grand Central Station. She then started for Sing Sing."

A young man named Montgomery has been working zealously for Harris. He has been trying to find a young woman who wrote a letter saying that she had bought for Helen Potts the morphine which killed her. The letter is not entirely clear in its language, and Mr. Howe didn't think it worth his attention.

HE CONFESSES TO KILLING TWO MEN.

"FRIEDMAN" SAYS THAT IT WAS IN SELF-DEFENCE. STORY OF A FIGHT IN RUSSIA.

"Jacob Friedman," the Russian Hebrew who was arrested on Thursday charged with the murder of two men in Russia, was brought before Justice Taintor in the Essex Market Police Court yesterday afternoon. He was arrested on the complaint of William Kallman who said that "Friedman" had murdered his uncle and cousin in Russia last March. Kallman received the information, he said, from a cousin in Drodney, Dugrowa, Russia. On Thursday Kallman saw Friedman in Essex-st., and accused him of the crime, addressing him as Koppolowitz. The prisoner denied his identity and said that his name was Friedman. The witness proved, however, in court yesterday that the prisoner's name was Koppolowitz.

Captain Devery, of the Eldridge-st. station, testified in court that the prisoner had confessed his guilt to him after telling several conflicting stories. "Friedman," after the confession, said that he had been a prosperous dairyman in Drodney, Russia, until Abraham Lieblipe, a neighbor, cuffed him in the rear for the farm. As a result, he said, they became enemies. According to the prisoner, he and his son were met on a road on March 12 by Lieblipe, who attacked him. In self-defence, he declares, he struck his assailant. While they were fighting Lieblipe's son came along and tried to stop the fight. For his endeavors, his father, "Friedman" says, struck him over the head with a butt end of a whip, knocking him to the ground. "Friedman" admitted that he then struck his neighbor on the head with a stone, but insisted that he did it in self-defence.

When, a few days later, he learned that both the Lieblipes had died, he fled to this country.

"Friedman" says that he is willing to go back to Russia to clear his son, who is now in prison, and show that he himself acted in self-defence.

Justice Taintor held him to await the result of an investigation by the Russian consul.

DISCUSSING THE NEWARK SCHOOL QUESTION.

In the Newark Common Council last night Alderman Stainsby, Republican, moved to refer that part of the Mayor's annual message relating to parochial schools to the School Committee of the Board. Mayor Haynes, in his message, recommended that the Catholic parochial schools be placed on week days, under superintendence of the Board of Education and receive their share of the public school funds, the schools to be used for religious purposes from Friday midnight to Sunday midnight. Alderman Stainsby's motion was voted down by the Democratic majority.

Buffalo Lithia Water.

Nature's Remedy for Gouty and Rheumatic Affections.

VERY COLD FACTS.

Dr. Harvey L. Byrd of Baltimore, President and Professor of Obstetrics in the Baltimore Medical College: "When in a most distressing and alarming condition, evidently due to an inherited gouty diathesis, after exhausting the best medical skill and the most approved remedies of the materia medica without beneficial results, I was relieved by the free use of Buffalo Lithia Water. On several subsequent occasions, when there was some manifestation of unfavorable symptoms, I found prompt relief by the use of this Water."

Dr. J. A. Hanby of Patrick C. H., Va.: "For four years I was afflicted with rheumatic gout to an extent which incapacitated me entirely for the discharge of the duties of my profession, and was finally reduced to such a condition as to subject me for the most part to confinement to my bed. By the advice of one of my medical attendants, and emphatically as a dernier ressort, I determined to make use of the Buffalo Lithia Water. Spring No. 2. I am frank to say, without faith in its virtue, having but little confidence in mineral waters. The use, however, of a few cases of the Water was attended by beneficial results so remarkable that I was soon able to be out of bed and upon my feet, and my improvement has continued until I am now actively engaged in the practice of my profession, meeting, without any unusual inconvenience, all the exposure and hardship incident to the life of a physician in a mountain country. I cannot, in candor, do otherwise than ascribe my recovery solely to this Water, the value of which I regard beyond estimation."

J. C. M'MULLIN HAS A RELAPSE.

J. C. McMullin, vice-president of the Chicago and Alton Railroad, who has been lying seriously ill at the Gilsey House, where he was stricken with apoplexy on Sunday night, had a relapse yesterday morning. He lay in a semi-unconscious state until Thursday, when he became much better, and it was thought he might recover. Last evening his condition had not changed since the unfavorable turn in the morning, and there was slight hope for his recovery.

A FATAL FALL INTO A STEAMER'S HOLD.

PENNSYLVANIA COMPANY TO BE REORGANIZED.

Philadelphia, May 5.—The leading stockholders of the Pennsylvania Steel Company met here to-day for the purpose of examining the assets of the embarrassed corporation, which were found in such shape as to make the outlook favorable. A plan providing for the floating debt will be formulated and presented at a general meeting of the stockholders soon to be held. Steps will probably soon be taken to dissolve the receivership.
