HE DIED WHILE READING HOMER.

SUDDEN END OF THE PROPRIETOR OF A WELL-KNOWN CHOPHOUSE, ONCE A BARTENDER —A TRANSLATION OF THE ILIAD FOUND AT HIS SIDE.

Edward J. Sherlock, the proprietor of the well-known chophouse, the Abbey, at No. 585 Fulton-st., Brooklyn, was found dead in bed yesterday morning. He had been reading Pope's translation of Homer's Iliad before going to sleep, and the book was found at his side. His home was at No. 176 Garfield Place, in that city, but he had a bedroom in the Abbey, where he frequently slept. On Monday he was at the Abbey in the morning, but in the afternoon he went to his home. He took his son, a boy of four years, for a ramble in the park. After returning to the Abbey at 5 p. m. he said that he was tired and would go to bed. He did so at 6 p. m. Yesterday morning his business manager went to his room to call him, and found him dead in bed. Heart disease is supposed to have caused his death.

Mr. Sherlock was a portly man, about forty years old. He came to this country from Ireland when a young man, and was a bartender in the old Clarendon Hotel until about ten years ago, when he purchased a chophouse on the site now occupied by the Federal Building. He sold this when the property was taken by the Government, and secured the lease of the Abbey in 1885 from his father-in-law, Thomas Burke. The property was purchased by Joseph Wechsler last spring for $115,000, but the lease has a year to run. The building has historic interest, as it was built on the Macomber farm in 1790. Mr. Sherlock had many curios in the place, including a collection of firearms. He was a man of literary tastes, and a prominent member of the Masonic Fraternity, being a Knight Templar, a Noble of the Mystic Shrine, and a Scottish Rite Mason of the thirty-second degree.

THE BALTIMORE LEAVES THE NAVY YARD.

The sailing of a naval vessel for a long cruise in foreign waters causes many heartaches, and this must have been felt by the friends of those on board who were present at the departure of the Baltimore for China from the Navy Yard yesterday afternoon. At 4:30 o'clock the ship swung out into the stream, and left the Navy Yard for a long service in Asiatic waters. Yesterday, however, was not the time for the last adieus, as the vessel went to Staten Island, where she will receive her supply of ammunition from Fort Wadsworth. Practically everything else was on the ship before she left the Yard, and she was in fine condition for a long voyage. Captain Bridgman expects to leave Staten Island on Saturday for the Asiatic station. The vessel is expected to stop at the following ports: Gibraltar or Algiers, Malta (possibly), Alexandria, Port Said, Suez, Aden, Colombo, Singapore and Hong Kong. On her arrival at the Asiatic Station the Baltimore will relieve the Lancaster and become the flagship of the station.

The Baltimore carries thirty-one officers and 350 in the crew. The list of officers is as follows: Captain W. R. Bridgman, Lieutenant-Commander J. P. Merrell, Lieutenant H. O. Rittenhouse, Lieutenants F. H. Holmes, A. E. Culver, G. H. Stafford and E. Simpson; Ensigns G. N. Hayward, W. H. Buck, L. H. Everhart, R. R. Belknap, J. H. Sypher and H. G. McFarland; Naval Cadets H. H. Ward, E. L. Bissett, C. J. Long, E. H. Campbell, C. C. Ferrell, G. L. Holsinger and H. B. Price; Medical Inspector J. M. Flint, Passed Assistant-Surgeons P. H. Bryant and R. M. Kennedy; Paymaster D. A. Smith, Chief-Engineer G. W. Stivers, Passed Assistant-Engineer R. G. Denig, Assistant-Engineers W. B. Day and A. Hartrath, Gunner C. B. Magruder, Carpenter J. Cooper, Pay-Clerk J. Schon.

FAINTED FROM HUNGER IN CITY HALL PARK.

A man who gave his name as Martin Kavanaugh, twenty-five years old, fell from a settee in the City Hall Park yesterday and became unconscious. An ambulance surgeon said that he had fainted from hunger. Kavanaugh was removed to the Chambers Street Hospital. He said on being revived that he was out of work and had had nothing to eat for several days.

For Both Sexes—City.

I CAME TO TOWN YESTERDAY MORNING TO help open the fall term of the Packard College, and the first letter I opened read thus:

"Packard's College, City.

"Gentlemen: I desire the services of a young man as general clerk and stenographer. Must be a good penman. Should prefer one who has had some business experience. Salary at first $60 per month. If you know of one whom you can recommend should be very glad to have him make me written application."

This letter is from one of the most reliable houses in the city, and the business with its openings affords a royal opportunity for an ambitious, enterprising young man to get on. Now, why should such a house need such a clerk? And needing such a clerk, why should the agent write to the Packard College instead of advertising in the daily papers, thereby securing within 24 hours 200 written applications?

I will answer the last question. This man knows, as hundreds of others do, that the Packard College makes just this kind of clerks to order; and if it has none on hand, is likely to know where they can be found. He knows, also, that if we cannot send him the right kind of a man we won't send him anybody. He has no time to bother with 200 applicants. It would much rather somebody else would do the bothering. And that is just what we do, and are glad to do. It happens, in this case, that we know our man, and within two days a first-class young man will have secured a first-class position in a first-class house. And all because his friends had the good sense to send him to a first-class school. We have such letters daily; but we cannot always respond to them. We want more young men stenographers.
