THE GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

New-York, September 11, 1893.

COTTON—There was a vigorous bull movement in cotton at New-York this morning, which was directly due to the unexpectedly bullish character of the cable intelligence, the Liverpool market showing at the opening an advance of 4@6d on the future list, and 1-16d for spot cotton, closing strong at a net advance of 7@6d. At the same time the receipts at the ports were very deficient, the estimate for the day amounting to only 9,000 bales against 18,738 bales a year ago, or less than one-half last year's movement. The early market was very excited and active, the call opening at an advance of six points and finishing at an advance of seventeen points, with the sales immediately after the call improving the advance slightly, when an energetic selling movement set in, causing a reaction of about a dozen points, local realizing being the principal factor in the break. There was a vigorous midday rally, however, represented by an advance from 8.48 for January to 8.60, with the rest of the list up in proportion. The market closed steady at a net advance of 13@16 points. The weak feature of the foreign market news is commented on as the small business in spot cotton at Liverpool, the sales amounting to only 8,000 bales. Private cables, however, say that the small business in spot cotton is due to the extreme firmness of sellers, and confirm the report of a hardening market for yarns in Manchester. The local bears are trying to break the force of the small movement by referring to the habit of the planter not to part with his cotton on a rising market, and affirming that this year, in particular, the planter has been educated to believe that the money risk through which the country has passed has depreciated the market for cotton much more than is justified by the crop conditions as indicated by the last government crop report, showing the condition of 73.4 against 76.8 last year and 80.4 last month. The feeling is very much mixed on 'Change, and the local contingent is nervous and operates for the nearest turns. It is now reported that the newspapers of the Southwest, which have heretofore been advising planters to hold their cotton for higher prices, are now advising them to sell their cotton on the advance that has taken place and follow the example of the Atlantic planters, who have been disposed to sell their cotton. Private advices from the South indicate a growing apprehension that the advance may have been overdone, with the New-England mills fairly well supplied with cotton and the mills that are closed in New-England being prompt to start up as expected. Later private advices do not show the great reduction estimated by the Government. The average of sentiment on 'Change is probably rather bullish, but nobody seems to have a very decided opinion as to what the present conditions point to. It remains for the movement of cotton to decide the course of the market from this point.

COFFEE—The coffee market at New-York opened firm, September in particular showing an advance of twenty points, with sales of 1,500 bags for that month's delivery at 13.00, against 15.80 Saturday's closing price. The rest of the list was up five to fifteen points, with sales of 1,500 bags October at 15.95@16.00. The firmness of the market was due in good part to the steady decrease in the visible supply, which to-day amounts to only 981,900 bags, against 1,010,772 bags last year, or less than last year's by 128,872 bags, while the amount of coffee afloat for this country is only 192,000 bags against 164,000 bags a year ago. In view of the small amount of coffee in this country and afloat for this country, holders are very firm, and we note a further advance in the price of spot coffee. No. 7 now being quoted at 17¼c. The talk on 'Change is quite bullish. The feature is the scarcity of sellers. At the same time speculation is timid, prices in themselves being regarded as rather high and the present attitude may not appear to be justified by the proportions of the new crop yet to be indicated by the movement. In the afternoon early the market broke fifteen to thirty points under selling for Baltimore account, but again rallied to some extent, closing irregular with prices finally showing a net advance of five to fifteen points on near and a decline of five to ten points on the distant months. The Havre market closed ¼@1 franc higher, while London was 3@6d higher on near months, lower, while London was 3@6d higher on near months, lower, with January and February unchanged. Hamburg closed barely steady and unchanged, as compared with Saturday's final prices.

The market closed irregular and 5@15 points higher on early months and unchanged to 5@10 points lower. The total sales were 25,250 bags.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The flour market to-day was quite active, with a decidedly firm tone. Spring patents and winter straights were the favorites, a good local trade being put through in both grades. There was also quite a good inquiry in the medium grades of winter flour and winter patents. There was some improvement in prices, buyers paying in a few cases 5 to 10 cents over last week's figures, while in all cases holders were asking fully 10 cents over the figures of a week ago. In the sales to-day there was no export business, shippers still being below the market on nearly all their orders in the local market, although a pretty fair business is reported direct to the mills. Sales to-day were as follows: Winter patents, 2,500 bbls, at $3.50 to $4.80; straights, 4,750 bbls, at $3.15 to $3.35 (for fancy); clears, 700 bbls, at $3 to $3.10; 3,500 bbls city mills at private prices; extra No. 1, 1,200 bbls, at $2.65 to $2.75; extra No. 2, 650 bbls, at $2.25 in sacks, $2.55 in bbls; superfine, 600 sacks, at $2.10 to $2.25; fine, 350 bbls, at $2.10 to $2.15; spring patents, 8,000 bbls, at $4 to $4.45, including fancy at $4.10 to $4.20; clears, 450 bbls, at $2.85; rye mix, 200 bbls, at $3.10 to $3.80; extra No. 1, 150 bbls, at $2.25@$2.35. GRAIN—WHEAT—The wheat market to-day was quite a surprise to the bears, and almost as much of a surprise to the bulls. The opening was strong, with a sharp advance from the closing figures of Saturday night, and prices advanced easily with an active volume of trade during the first half hour. Later there was a slight reaction, but subsequently a decided improvement in tone was seen, and at midday the market was up to 77¼c for December, a rising of 1¾c from the closing figures of Saturday night. The holiday strength was in part due to the decrease in the visible supply, which was larger than anticipated and brought in some outside buying. The crop report, however, was the primary feature of strength, and on this was based the upward movement in all the markets. The report did not show such a serious falling off from last month as was materially anticipated, but it did confirm the previous estimate of damage, and indicated a crop of about 380,000,000 bush. This was about 17,000,000 bush more than the estimated consumption of this country, and means an enormous surplus for export from the new crop, and so that most of the exports of the season will have to be from the old supplies of last year. The encouragement of the crop report brought in quite a quantity of outside buying orders, and as a result there was more general interest in the market than has been seen at any time during the past two months. News from Europe was of fairly good character, and there was a very sharp decrease in the amount of wheat on passage from Europe, while cables were strong and higher. There was also some good outside buying, and cash orders were seen in the market for foreign account. The movement of wheat in the Northwest is increasing quite rapidly, and this proves a drawback to the upward movement of the market. The wheat market during the latter part of the day was strong and fairly active, advancing quite easily on quite a large speculative trade and a material increase in the outside demand. There was also a good trade in spot wheat. Lake cables were strong, and there were good export orders from the other side, but little up to the late advance in the market. Final figures were strong at best prices for the day. In cash wheat the trade was quite active, with sales of 294,000 bush, including 112,000 bush for export as follows: No 2 red, ⅛c over September in store, September closed 72⅝c; 1⅛c over September f o b afloat, October closed 73⅝c; ⅛c over September f o b afloat; ⅛c over September delivered, December closed 77⅝c. No 1 hard winter, 16,000 bush, 70⅞c cash; December delivered, 77⅝c. Rejected spring, 70c. No 1 red, 70c. No 2 red, four cars, 69⅝@69⅞c, elevator. CORN—The corn market was strong and active, as was wheat, advancing sharply during the morning, with a large volume of trade compared with what has been seen during the last month. The crop report, as did wheat, was the primary feature of strength, but added to this were firm cables, a large decrease in the amount offloat to Europe and only a small increase in the visible supply, notwithstanding the large movement at the interior during the last week. There was active covering of shorts and a good demand for outside account, resulting in more public interest in the market than seen for many a long day. While the local demand for cash corn is not large, the interior demand continues very active, and dearer at the last week the inspections at Chicago for shipment eastward were 2,300,000 bush. The crop report, however, indicating a production of 1,800,000,000 bush, is the most important feature in the market, and brings one small crop on top of another. The corn market was quite active and decidedly strong in the afternoon the corn market assumed a very strong undertone, and rose to the highest figures of the day, leaving off firm at the top. There seemed to be a considerable amount of good outside buying, and there was only a small amount of corn for sale on the market at the advance. The demand for spot corn was quite active, amounting to 170,000 bush, including 136,000 bush for export, as follows: No 2 corn, 37,000 bush, 49⅝c delivered; No 2 corn, 18,000 bush, 49⅝c del, to arrive elevator; No 2 corn, 18,000 bush, 49⅝c, to arrive end of September promptly, and 40,000 bush 49⅝c, to arrive end of September; No 2 corn, 23,000 bush, 50⅛@51c del spot, tentative; No 2 corn, canal, 50,000 bush, 50⅝c del. OATS—No 2 corn, canal, 50,000 bush, 50⅝c del. OATS—No 2 cash oats were active and strong, advancing easily with the rise in corn and wheat. The market for cash oats was active and strong, advancing easily with the rise in corn and wheat. The market for cash oats was active and strong, advancing easily with the rise in corn and wheat. The other markets, the principal factor of strength was the crop report, which showed a reduction of only 613,000,000 bush, and as a result of this small showing, there was quite a large increase in the general speculative demand for corn and wheat, so that towards the close the market closed off, and final prices were slightly below the highest of the day. In cash oats there was a fairly active trade, sales amounting to 128,000 bush, as follows: No 2 oats, car lots, 35⅞@36c elev, and 30,000 bush, to arrive, 36c del; 35⅞@36c elev and 30,000 bush, to arrive, 37⅛@37⅜c; No 3 oats, nom 35⅝c; No 2 white, 37⅛@37⅜c; No 3 white, nom 37c; track white, 38,000 bush, 37⅛@37⅜c; track mixed, 3,000 bush, 36@37.

METALS—IRON—The local market for pig iron shows no improvement and is very quiet, with a certain kind of steadiness reflected from the improved conditions seen at other points. Reports at hand from Pittsburg iron market to-day show that in that centre there is some increase in the volume of business, with buyers, however, still confining their purchases to actual wants; the talk is better, but conservatism seems to be the rule in all directions of the iron trade. The Oliver Iron and Steel Company started their Tenth and Eleventh st. mill at Pittsburg this week, and mills in that district are resuming at the rate of one to two concerns a week. A great many of the blast furnaces remain shut down, but production at present quite equals the consumption. There have been sales of 500 tons of wide grooved skelp iron during the last week. In the way of foundry iron business is dull in the Pittsburg district, which reports the following transactions: 4,000 tons wide-grooved skelp, from $1.40 four months; 2,000 tons wide-grooved skelp, from $1.40 four months; 1,000 tons Bessemer, $12.50 cash; 1,500 tons Bessemer, $12.50 cash; 2,000 tons Bessemer steel billets, $20 buyers' mill; 1,000 tons Bessemer steel billets, $19.50 makers' mill; 400 tons grey forge pig iron, $11.70 f o b Pittsburg; 150 tons grey forge pig iron, $11.75 f o b Pittsburg; 100 tons No 2 foundry, $12.50; 3,000 tons Southern grey forge pig, $11. COPPER—The market for copper shows a firmer tone, and there is quite a fair demand for good casting copper at firmer prices. Sales on the Exchange to-day were 25,000 ℔ of November at 9.75. Exports of copper were 400 tons of matte and 550 tons of regular copper; arrivals were 2,000 tons to-day. The Boston and Maine mine produced last month 1,340 tons of copper and the Wolverine mine 77 tons. TIN—There continues a fair to good demand for tin at steadily advancing prices. To-day's market closed at 19.62½ bid; September, 20 bid, October, 20.20, and December, 20.50; sales were 24 tons of spot at 19.90, with an exchange of 30 tons September for October at 30 points difference. Arrivals of tin at London for the week ending September 2 were 8,145 slabs and 833 boxes. LEAD—The market closes strong, the Western markets are also strong, and very firm prices are received from the other side. There was an active trade at St. Louis yesterday at firm prices, and today that market is firm at 3.75. SPELTER—The market was firmer and fairly active, closing firm. Sales on the Exchange were 50 tons at 5.80, and 1 ton at 5.85, and 25 tons September 11 at 5.90, and 50 tons October at 5.90. Arrivals of spelter to-day were 700 tons. Exports of lead today were 100 tons. The imports of tin for the week ending September 5 were 25,758 boxes and 551 boxes of black plates, 20 tons steel wire, 23 tons of tin, 25 spiegeleisen, 35 tons ferro-manganese, 15 tons steel wire, 50 tons steel hoops, 398 tons Swedish iron and 100 tons of bar iron. Copper futures closed £43 2s 0d. SPELTER—£5 6s 0d. TIN—Spot tin closed £78 15s; 6 M B closed £17 7s. LEAD—Soft Spanish lead 2 months closed at £20 15s. The report of the American Pig Iron Storage Warrant Co follows:

OCEAN FREIGHTS—Business in the way of grain freights to European ports continues limited, and agents and vessel owners generally seem disposed to make concessions, but very little grain is offering at the present time. There is, however, larger activity in grain itself, and the hope is the hope that the near future will develop a better condition of affairs in the ocean freight market. In the way of inquiry for steamers on charter for grain there is a better feeling, and we hear of a fair business at 2s 7½d per quarter to south of the Channel, and 2s 7½d per quarter to Cork for orders. There was also a fair business done in grain by sailers, and we quote: Corn, 2s 3d, and 2s 3d, steamer, and 2s 3d, steamer, and 2s 3d, steamer
