THE GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

New-York, September 25, 1893.

COTTON—The cotton market opened 16 to 19 points lower, further declined 6 to 7 points on most futures, recoverED 12 to 14 points, and closed barely steady at a net decline of 9 to 13 points. The total sales for the day were 228,500 bales. The market was unusually active throughout the session, which opened as usual at 11 o'clock, the day being Monday, and at 12 o'clock the sales had reached for the hour 104,300 bales, an unusual business in so short a time, showing the wide speculative interest in cotton at the present time. The early weakness was due to the bearish character of the Liverpool cables, which showed a loss on the future list of 4-64 to 5-64 net at the close of the market, with the feeling still easy. The reaction of 12 to 14 points seen in the forenoon chiefly was due to the reports of threatened frost in the interior of North Carolina and South Carolina, which caused consternation among the shorts, who became active buyers, with a large number of buying orders from the South and reported covering from European account. The midday business was thus attended with unusual excitement and frequent and violent fluctuations. The swing of the market from the highest to the lowest prices was a matter of 12 to 14 points on most months, weakest feeling finally prevailing, resulting from a contemplation of the fact that frost was something threatened, while the trade was confronted with the fact of large receipts at the ports, and likewise a predicted large movement at the interior. The movement for the week is figured as high as 195,000 bales, against 159,672 bales last year. The traders were working this morning on estimates of 36,000 bales for to-day for the ports, against 29,400 bales last year. The feeling on Change respecting the future course of the market is still very conflicting; private cables say there is still a good demand from spinners, which is likely to continue for some time to come, as the Manchester people have sold goods beyond even the recent heavy purchases of spot cotton and are likely to continue in the market for spot cotton in Liverpool, as well as in this country. Advices from the South indicate the presence of spot buyers, chiefly on European account. The New-England spinners are still grumbling about inaction of Congress regarding the silver question and the inference that there is a possibility of equally long-winded discussion respecting tariff matters. New-York spot sales to-day and last night: For consumption, 1,051 bales; contract, 100 bales; total, 1,151 bales; spot market steady; middlings, 8¾c, which is 1-16c lower as compared with yesterday's price. The opening range, and closing to-day, and the closing bids the previous night and last year contract are as follows:

COFFEE—The coffee market at New-York opened with the tone rather steady; the bids at the first call, however, developed a decline of from 6 to 25 points with sales of January before the call was over. Subsequently an advance of 10 points and other active futures in most cases showing no changes when contrasted with the closing prices of Saturday. On the call November sold at 16.25, December at 15.95, January at 15.80, and March at 15.45, but during the call the sales only amounted to 1,250 bags, and up to 1 o'clock only 10,000 bags. The local traders seemed to hesitate about operating, the feeling being lethargic owing to new rooting to hand from Brazil. The weekly report shows the total stock of Santos 192,000 bags, with purchases of Santos coffee for the United States amounting to 53,000 bags, and for Europe to 58,000 bags during the week. Clearances for the United States were 64,000 bags and for Europe 34,000 bags. Two steamers are loading for the United States. On September 23, the rate of exchange was 16½, and the price of No. 7 Cif Exchange Standard was 22@0.9. The market for Rio was firm on that date. On September 23 the Santos receipts were reported at 10,000 bags, the Santos stock at 192,000 bags and the Santos market firm in tone with good demand. Rio, under date of September 23, were given as 5,000 bags, Rio shipments for that date 7,000 bags for the United States, and 6,000 bags for Europe. Only local prices as to Rio shipments were furnished. European markets were generally firm and assisted in the slight reaction that followed the opening of the market here. But caution is the prominent feature on Change at the present time and the volume of business is likely to continue small until the volume of Brazil news is once more to be relied upon.

The market closed barely steady and 10 to 30 points lower. The total sales were 19,250 bags.

A good deal of coffee was sold to-day, mostly to be shipped, at the basis of 18c for Rio No 7 on spot, and the market closes at 18@18¼c. The sales aggregate about 15,000 bags on the basis of 17¾c for No 7 adjust, 17½c for No 7 to be shipped, 18½c for No 7 spot. Included in the above sales were 1,000 bags Rio No 7 in Baltimore by the Good News. Mild coffee was rather quiet and steady. No important business was reported.

FLOUR—There was some improvement in the volume of transactions to-day, although it was entirely a local affair all through. Sales of spring patents were noted at $4 20@$4 40, but the position of holders, despite the bearish conditions in wheat, was still too firm to invite much business. Winter straights and clears came in for a fair share of the business, but in other grades there was very little done. Some holders were inclined to make concessions, but in such instances buyers had also lowered their limits and no business resulted. The general market showed an easier feeling, but, except in a few cases, was not generally lower. Exporters are still too much below the market to admit of any considerable business. The sales to-day footed up about 14,000 barrels, as follows: 800 bbls winter patents, $3 50@$4; 4,000 bbls winter straights, $3 20@$3 30; 3,500 bbls winter clears, city mills, $3 95@$4; 600 bbls extra No 1 winter, $2 80; 600 bbls extra No 2 winter, $2 50; 450 bbls superfine, $2 25@$2 35; 250 sacks Southern flour, $2 35; 300 bbls do, $2 70; 3,000 bbls spring patents, $4 20@$4 40; 350 bbls spring clears, $2 90; 150 bbls rye mix, $2 60; 500 sacks extra No 1, $2 30, for export. GRAIN—WHEAT—The wheat market at New-York opened with something like a bear raid, there being quite an absence of any peg on which to hang a solitary bull idea. The cables were weak, and the weather news was generally considered favorable. The foreigners were disposed to sell. The local statistics were calculated to gild to the depression, showing an increase of over 1,500,000 bush in the total amount of wheat in sight here and afloat and an increase of 500,000 bush in the contract grade. Advices from the West indicated that the ground was generally in good condition for fall work, and during the early trading the operators were relying upon the visible supply to increase anywhere from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 bush. The market sold off 5 cent early in the session for May and had to go to the actual rate up to 1:30 o'clock, either at New-York or Chicago. Fluctuations were small and the volume of trade showed a great lack of speculative interest. The visible supply increase of 1,362,000 bush proved to justify early expectations. The increase of 700,000 bush in the English visible supply only added to the depression. In the afternoon the weakness in wheat became more pronounced under the influence of the big increase in the visible supply and the weakness of late cables. Trading continued to be mostly for local account, and considerable liquidation was noted. At the close the market was heavy and weak at about the low at point for the day. Cash wheat was easier and fairly active, the transactions for the day amounting to 241,000 bush, including 68,000 bush for export as follows: No 2 red, 39½c under December in store; December closed 25 cent 39c under December f o b afloat, 39c under December delivered; No 2 red, 40,000 bush, ⅛c under October and 39⅞c under December f o b afloat, 39⅞@39⅞c under December delivered. No 2 red, 2 Detroit red, 16,000 bush, 39c under December delivery; No 2 hard Kansas winter, 24,000 bush, 5½c under December delivered. No 1 hard spring, 4,000 bush, 1½c over December delivered; No 1 Northern spring, 8,000 bush, 1½c under December f o b afloat; 16,000 bush do, 2⅞c under December delivered; ungraded, 98,000 bush, 69@72c delivered; No 2 red, 35,000 bush, ⅛@⅜c under October in elevator. Local trade CORN—The action of the corn market was a surprise to the traders this morning, who thought that owing to the frost reports they ought to be able to work the market up a little. Instead of that, however, the market broke early in the season ½ cent, but was bulled later on small estimated receipts for to-morrow. Trading, however in corn was quite tame, and the market generally uninteresting. So far as the talk goes, it is bullish enough, but the trade does not seem to be much concerned as to the final outcome. The corn market developed considerable strength in the afternoon on the small estimated receipts of car lots at Chicago for to-morrow. Prices regained most of the morning loss, and the close was steady at a slight reaction from the top. In the cash market the feeling was firm, but there was a light business, sales only amounting to 40,000 bushels, all for local account, as follows: No 2 corn, in elevator, nominal now here; No 2 corn, 32,000 bush, 51½c to 52c delivered; 8,000 bush do, to arrive, 51c delivered.

OATS—The market for oats was tame from start to finish, ruling weak at the opening, following corn and wheat. The feature of the statistics as to oats was the increase of 29,700 bushels in the stock. The Indian shipments of wheat last week foot up 200,000 bushels, making the total for the season 12,720,000 bushels against 23,320,000 bushels last year, a decrease of 10,600,000 bushels. Prices in the afternoon were quiet in a speculative way, showing some firmness in sympathy with corn, and closing steady at nearly the best prices. There was a fair business in the cash trade, the market being 1c higher than Saturday. METALS—IRON—The local market for iron continues dull and entirely featureless in the absence of any considerable business. Advices from the country are rather more cheerful. The Pittsburg iron market, it is said, is showing a little better feeling, which, however, is confined rather to an increased interest on the part of consumers who seem to be shopping around for small lots at lower prices. A few of the mills in the Pittsburg section are running full. Most of them are running in some department. The blast furnaces are very dull still in the neighborhood, which is operating to the disadvantage of the ore and coke industries. However, the general situation is reported as being decidedly improved as to outlook speaking for the country at large. Wheeling, W. Va., reports better financial aspects and an increased consumption of steel blooms and billets. There has been recently some improvement in the price which under the recent pressure descended to $19 50, and $20 50 is now considered a low figure for the same goods. Wheeling, W. Va., reports a moderate demand for nails at unchanged prices and the apathy in building circles makes the outlook dull for nails even at the present low base price of $1 20. The stock of pig iron in the American Pig Iron Storage Warrant Company's yard September 16 was 70,800 tons; put in yard for ten days ending September 20, 700 tons. Total, 80,500 tons. Withdrawn ten days ending September 20, 1,300 tons; net stock in yard September 20, 79,200 tons. COPPER—The market for copper closes dull at 9.75 for lake. It is reported that a New-York banking house has recently shipped a few hundred tons of matte to France; we hear that these shipments are part of the old French syndicates stock, stated to be about 7,000 tons, which was in litigation for a long time, and which will be brought forward now. The shipments of refined copper are still on the increase, and especially heavy of late to Russia. TIN—The market for tin closes strong, with the following prices bid: Spot, 20.90; September, 20.75; October, 20.85; November, 21.00; December, 21.05; January, 21.15; February, 21.25; Tons October, at 20.97½@20.00. Arrivals of tin to-day, 25 tons. LEAD—The market for lead closed barely steady. Spot, 3.05 bid; September, 3.02½ bid. The St. Louis lead market closed easier at 2.85. Exports lead from this port, 109 tons in bond. The St. Louis lead market is reported as follows: Market has been dull and quiet but firm during the week at 3.70, with fair sales. To-day a somewhat easier feeling prevails at 3.65, but large producers decline to accept less than 3.70 for standard lots of 100 to 200 tons. Stocks in both producers' and consumers' hands are small, and with normal demand values would certainly improve materially. SPELTER—The market for spelter closes steady at 3.75. Exports spelter from this port, 75 tons. The following quotations were received from the Metal Exchange: Glasgow, Sept. 25.—Iron, Scotch warrants, 42s 7d. Middlesboro, Sept. 25.—No 3 foundry, 38s 3d. London—Copper, spot, 42l 10s; futures, 42l 15s; spelter, 21l 2s 3d; tin, spot, 98l; three months, 100l 15s; lead, soft spanish, 20l 15s.

NAVAL STORES—Spirits turpentine was dull and easier, owing to free offerings. Rosin dull and lower for high grades, in consequence of lower market at Savannah. Quote: Rosin, 19@24 bbls; spirits turpentine, 395 bbls, 34c. We quote: Spirits turpentine, 27½c in Southern bbls, and 28½c in machine-made bbls. Tar, $2 25@$2 50; pitch, $2 15; pitch, light weight, $1 50; pitch, regular weight, $1 60.

OCEAN FREIGHTS—Business in ocean freights shows no improvement. Rates show very little change, and remain quite nominal. Part of a load of grain was taken to London to-day at 3d, but the rate of the close of the market was lower, to 2½d for any other business. We note the following engagements: To Liverpool of 500 bales cotton, 7-64d; to Antwerp, 1,550 sacks of flour at 15c; to Dublin, 250 head cattle, at 37s 6d. The general market is weak in tone. Very little merchandise of any kind is being offered, and the agents and owners of vessels are disposed to make concessions. Quotations are as follows: Grain to Liverpool, 2d; to London, 2½d; Antwerp, 2d; Newcastle, 3½d; Leith, 2d; Leith, 3½d; Hull, 3½d; Glasgow, 1½d.
