THE MONTHLY DEBT STATEMENT.

Friday, November 3—p. m.

The Treasury statement for the month of October showed a marked increase in the public debt. The aggregate funded debt was increased by $569,917, and the surplus cast in the Treasury was lowered by $4,581,331. The net available balances, including deposits in National banks of $12,817,531, were only $2,294,291. The gold balance was reduced heavily, because the payments were made chiefly in gold coin, but the legal-tender balance was lowered materially. The receipts from customs and internal revenue showed a large falling off compared with the same month a year ago.

The Controller's statement showed an increase of $621,994 in the full amount of bank note circulation. There was an increase of $151,244 in circulation, based on Government bonds, and $470,750 in circulation secured by deposits of lawful money.

The following tables are condensations and comparisons of the official reports:
