WHOLESALE PRICES OF COUNTRY PRODUCE.

For the week ending November 6, 1893.

BEANS AND PEAS.

Receipts for week—Beans, 3,258 bbls; peas, 15,200 bush. Exports—Beans, 463 pkgs; peas, 2,877 bbls. Imports, 2,200 bags beans. Under continued free receipts, a generally dull trade and strong effort to open a wider outlet for the goods, prices have steadily declined on nearly all kinds. At the close choice marrow are down to $2.45@$2.50, but it seems probable that sellers may resist any further decline at present. Several cars of Canadian medium have arrived within a few days, and $1.85 is an outside rate for best marks. Choice pea have fallen to $1.80. Red kidney unsettled, pending the filling of export orders for this week's steamers; considerable stock has accumulated, and it is not improbably that further concession will be made. California Lima held steady, but moving only in a jobbing way. A fair movement is reported in foreign beans in range of quotations. Green peas dull and weak.

BUTTER.

Receipts for week, 27,061 pkgs. The market strengthened a little on high-grade fresh creamery immediately following our last weekly report, and has since ruled fairly steady, though the close is quiet and not quite so firm as at one time. Demand seems to be of such a character that the market would be sensitive to either increased receipts or weaker advices from the producing sections. The business at the moment in extra Western goods is at 29@29½c, latter for gilt-edge quality. Plenty of nice, useful stock is offering at 27@28c. Most of the State creamery is showing effects of frosty feed, and while an occasional lot of fancy sells at 28c, in exceptional cases a little higher, the bulk of the receipts go in range of 25@27c. Held creamery has had freer movement of late, and fancy stock commands more money. Fancy State dairy, either in tubs or firkins, is fully ½c higher, and the movement is fair; lower grades quiet. Imitation creamery steady. Choice fresh factory is still in fair supply, and small quotations command 21@22c; receipts are generally quite faulty in flavor and these sell slowly.

CHEESE.

Receipts for week, 25,416 boxes. Exports, 3,962 boxes. Business has moved along slowly, but prices have shown no radical change. Possibly for round lots on the docks buyers have secured some favors, fancy parcels of fall make selling in numerous instances at 11½c, but the store trade has been on the basis of 11¼c generally, here and there a perfect lot of large size reaching 11½c. Receipts have been so light that no one has felt like pushing sales, but there is a lack of force to the demand which suggests that home buyers are pretty well stocked for the present, and exporters get no encouragement to do much. Small size full creams are well sustained, special lots holding up to 12½c. Chenango light skims have a quiet trade, but so much of the stock costs high that receivers are inclined to hold steady, even though a considerable accumulation occurs. Liverpool cables, 55s.

EGGS.

Receipts for the week, 855 bbls and 37,032 cases. There was further slight hardening of values following our last weekly report, the best Western fresh-gathered advancing on Thursday to 24@24½, with a few special marks of fancy placed up to 25c. Ice-house goods were raised to 20@22½, and limed to 20@20½c. But since then there has been no further upward tendency. Occasional sales of fancy fresh are still made as high as 25c, but average prices are selling so generally at 24@24½c, that no higher quotation is made. The demand for fresh is pretty good, but on held goods the trade is quieter at about steady prices.

FRUITS AND BERRIES—FRESH.

Receipts of apples are light and the demand continues active at firm prices, fancy red kinds showing further advance. Pears are quiet, but not plenty and prices are steady for desirable goods. Grapes steady for prime table grades, but it requires very choice quality to command outside quotations; wine grapes plenty and dull, especially Niagara, which are greatly neglected. Choice sound cranberries in moderate supply and steady; defective goods are still pressed for sale, but the accumulation of these reduces very slowly. Florida oranges of good color and flavor are in fair demand, but green stock is neglected.

DRIED FRUITS.

Receipts for week, 25,328 pkgs; exports, 2,094. Evaporated apples have had sufficient demand to take up the receipts quite closely, and values have been well sustained. A little fancy fruit is arriving and commands 11½@12c. But the bulk of the stock is of good to choice quality, worth, say, 10@11c. Sun-dried apples have had a moderate inquiry, and prices have held steady, especially on fancy stock, which is in relatively small supply. Evaporated peaches working out fairly, and sundried have rather more inquiry. Raspberries steady. Cherries firm for choice stock. Blackberries and huckleberries firm. California apricots plenty and quieter.

Receipts for the week, 8,601 bales; exports, 4,175 bales. Imports, 16 bales. Exporters have been quite busy forwarding stock purchased in the interior, but have not given much attention to the lots offered here. European advices have continued firm, for choice Americans. POULTRY.

The demand for live chickens has been fully equal to receipts, and prices have held rather firm, the best stock selling to-day at 9c. Fowls have declined to 8@8c, but on that basis the feeling is steady, and there are chances of a slight recovery this week. Turkeys quite plenty and easy. Ducks in demand and firm. Geese steady. Pigeons lower and dull. Western dressed chickens and fowls made further advance following last weekly report, reaching 11½@12c for chickens, and 10½@11c for fowls, but Thursday, with occasional sales of fancy quality even a shade higher. But the full prices curtailed the demand late in the week, and prices eased off a little, and to-day (Monday), with heavy receipts, and advices of liberal shipments in transit, the market has broken quite badly, closing weak as quoted. Turkeys about steady, and while quotations are full high for straight lots, selections of all large would bring a premium. Spring ducks about steady.

Domestic potatoes are in liberal supply, quiet and barely steady. Onions steady for choice quality. Cauliflowers doing a little better under lighter receipts. Choice Charleston string beans in fair demand and steady; Norfolk receipts mostly inferior and selling low. Green peas from Norfolk show very irregular quality and value; few good enough to exceed $1, and inferior range down to 50c.

THE GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

New-York, November 6, 1893.

COTTON—The cotton market opened 6 to 8 points higher, further advanced 7 points and weakened rending quiet at both 1 point net decline to 2 points net advance—about the lowest point of the day. The early firmness was influenced by the better character of the cables, which showed a good demand for spot cotton according to private advices, although as publicly reported the sales reached only 50,000 bales for the day. That the sales were not larger was due, according to brokers' advices, to the reluctance of holders, although the last cables indicated a weakening tendency in this regard. The firmness of the market early in the session was increased by some reports of frost in Texas. But these reports soon lost their force when it came to be considered that previous frost has already done its work, and frost in any part of the South from this time can scarcely mean more to the staple than a trifle. This view, and a tendency to increase the estimates as to receipts at the ports for the week, started quite energetic selling and the market reacted as indicated. Reports from the dry-goods district at the same time were not encouraging, as they showed that there was no confidence in buying beyond pressing want, and, in fact, a large banking firm reported that, after careful canvassing of the business, had invested $400,000 today in securities, not willing to stock up with goods in view of what they regarded as a bad outlook for trade. Their action was ascribed to fears of tariff discussion upon the reassembling of Congress in December, and a belief that votes through the country at large could not be influenced to so wide a change of the moment in favoring stocks. The movement for the week is estimated at 295,000 bales for the port, against 269,727 bales the corresponding week last year. It is purely guesswork to undertake to give an estimate as to the interior movement, it may be called 105,000 to 110,000 bales, against 111,000 bales the corresponding week last year.

COFFEE—The coffee market at New-York fails to work out of its lethargy, and the volume of business continues to be very small. The undertone of the market, however, is rather firm, perhaps, owing to the timidity of the trade rather than to any particular bullish conditions. At the opening of the market there were very few orders at hand. On the call bids November showed no change, while the rest of the list was up 5 to 15 points. At 1 o'clock this improvement was about maintained, but transactions were very slack, amounting to only 2,250 bags up to that time, and including November at 17.10, December at 16.80, January at 16.15, February at 15.90, March at 15.15, April at 15.95, and May at 15.80. The news from Europe was not particularly interesting; Havre showed a dull market with prices from unchanged to ½ lower; London was dull and lower, and Hamburg from 1@2pfg higher. The Rio news was equally featureless, receipts for 5 days, change standard, 15 x 500; exchange, 10 9-16d; receipts, 5,000 bags, and stock, 600,000 bags. The Santos receipts were reported at 18,000 bags, and the Santos stock at 200,000 bags, with the market quiet and 15 x 500 the price of good average Santos coffee. The news from the spot coffee market showed a general destruction of business, with the price of No 7 Rio nominally 18½c, sellers rather wide apart, and buyers at the point. The total sales today were 2,250 bags. The market closed steady and 5 to 15 points higher.

Quinine was firmly held, and outside buyers are making all available offerings. Sellers, however, are not disposed to sell to outsiders. Cash lots are still quoted at 19½c and regular cream of tartar at 19½@19½c. Essential oils remain firm and out of pennyroyal is quoted at $1 for domestic. Mackerel market is quiet; old mackerel are held at $14@$15 a barrel and Norway at $13@$15 for bloaters, $7@$22 for No 1, and $18@$19 for No 2.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The flour market was again almost a blank, as for any volume of business was concerned to-day, with prices on some grades fully 15c lower than at what they have recently been ruling at. For some time past buyers have insisted that $4 was high enough for spring patents, and holders gave way, but buyers became timid and reduced their bids again. The same was in part true of the winter wheat flour, and quotations on straights were reduced to $3.15 for standards. Patents were also reduced to $3.45. Total sales were 5,500 barrels, including 1,000 barrels of Minnesota at $3.75@$4.25; extra fancy at $3.50@$3.75; extra fancy at $3.25@$3.50; extra seconds, 300 bbls at $2.50; superfine, 150 bbls at private terms; fine, 1,000 sacks at $1.90; spring patents, 600 bbls at $4.85@$4; clears, 150 bbls at $2.75; straights, 1,000 bbls at $3.15@$3.25; spring flour was dull. FOREIGN DRIED FRUIT—The dealers in the market report the demand as fair, as there is some call for spot lots at hand on account of the holiday business, most dealers apparently waiting either to get out of buying until after election. Prices continue in only moderate request, and unchanged, except for Valencias. New oranges are selling quite freely at 3¾c, but one great drawback to a better demand is the quality of the goods coming on the market. Currants—Takes place in a retail way, selling quite well at steady prices. Prunes are quiet, but fairly steady, but dealers do not seem to be much disposed to buy beyond the immediate wants of their trade.
