AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

A STATEMENT FROM PRESIDENT LEWIS.

HE REPLIES TO CRITICISMS REGARDING THE ABSORPTION OF THE BROADWAY COMPANY'S LINES.

President Lewis, of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, has taken the stockholders of that corporation and incidentally the public into the confidence of the directors in regard to the absorption of the Broadway Company's lines, to offset the criticisms made regarding the transaction heretofore reported. He says that a syndicate purchased the Broadway and associated lines a few months ago in the interests of the Brooklyn City Company and the new corporations formed to control it, the Brooklyn Heights and the Long Island Traction companies. The Brooklyn Traction Company (the Atlantic-ave. system) subsequently made overtures toward consolidation of all these interests. But this fell through, he says. Then the Brooklyn, Queens County and Suburban Company was formed to take in all the Broadway properties, and the consolidation of this with the Brooklyn City system was effected this week.

Mr. Lewis says of the property acquired by his company: "It was not generally understood what the purchase of the Broadway railroad meant. The price which was named for the property seemed very high and would have, in fact, been very high, provided the price only covered the Broadway Railroad Company's property, but this was not so. It covered the properties, franchises, etc., of the Broadway Railroad Company. It also covered extensions, with the right to operate by electricity, which had been procured in the city of Brooklyn, aggregating about forty-three miles. It also covered the right to convert the existing railroads from horse-power to the overhead system of electricity. It also covered extensions, with the right to operate by electricity, which had been procured in the county towns equalling about twenty miles of railroad, so that the mileage of the system aggregated, taking the Broadway and associated companies first at forty-three miles, 106 miles of railroad existing and to be constructed."

"The acquisition permits of the use of the Jamaica Plank road, upon which the Jamaica and Brooklyn Road Company now operates a railroad, by the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, and will allow the branch which was opened a year and a half ago from Ridgewood to Richmond Hill to go on through the Jamaica Plank Road and through the town and village of Jamaica, by laying a double curve only. The route from Ridgewood to Richmond Hill is now operated by steam power, but within a year this will be changed so that cars can be run from Fulton Ferry and the Bridge through Fulton-st., and then Myrtle-ave., and Jamaica Plank Road to Jamaica. No straighter line could be drawn than the line of Myrtle-ave., from the City Hall to Richmond Hill."

The Suburban Company is capitalized at $10,000,000, and $1,250,000 will be spent in putting in the trolley on all the lines.

J. W. Seligman & Co. and H. B. Hollins & Co., of this city, and E. W. Clark & Co., of Philadelphia, have united in a statement to the public regarding the alleged connection of Henry S. Ives with the Broadway (Brooklyn) railroad system. They deny that Mr. Ives had, or has, any interest in the transaction, and say that the property was bought on commission.

DIRECTORS TO BE TRIED FEBRUARY 1.

ADJOURNMENT OF THE CASES AGAINST THE COMMERCIAL BANK OFFICIALS—DOUBT RAISED AS TO THE LEGALITY OF JURIES IN SPECIAL SESSIONS.

When the cases against the directors of the suspended Commercial Bank—Seth L. Keeney, Robinson Gill and Elbert Snedeker, charged with misdemeanor—were called before Police Justice Walsh yesterday, an adjournment was secured until February 1. Counsel for the defendants said he had contemplated a trial by jury in the Court of Special Sessions, presided over by Police Justice Walsh, but on looking into the matter he was uncertain whether the Justice could summon a legal jury. Justice Walsh held that he had a right to summon a jury of six. Counsel for the prosecution said that, as the law now stood, a jury trial could not be held in Special Sessions and that, if a conviction should be secured by it, the trial might be set aside for irregularity. The matter will be carefully looked up before February 1. If jury trials before the police justices are declared invalid, some persons now serving sentences may be released, and others may sue for false imprisonment. It has been the custom to conduct jury trials before police magistrates for years.

HE SHOT HIMSELF IN THE TEMPLE.

ALEXANDER AGAR, A WELL-KNOWN BUSINESS MAN, COMMITS SUICIDE—HIS MIND SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN UNSETTLED.

Alexander Agar, a well-known business man in New-York, committed suicide yesterday, at his home, No. 45 Putnam-ave. His mind is supposed to have been unsettled by business troubles due to the financial depression. He was the head of the wholesale stationery firm of Agar & Hamlen, at No. 292 Broadway, New-York. He went to business as usual yesterday morning, but returned home at luncheon time, somewhat to the surprise of his wife. He said he did not feel well and could not eat. Soon after going to his room, a pistol shot was heard by the family. Mrs. Agar hurried upstairs and found her husband dead on the floor. He had shot himself in the right temple and died instantly.

Mr. Agar was sixty-three years old, and had a family of six children, all of whom are of age. He had been in business in New-York for many years and was a manufacturer of blank books as well as a wholesale dealer in stationery. He was formerly in Nassau-st., near Maiden Lane. Mr. Agar was a member of the Lincoln Club and the Royal Arch Masons. He attended the Church of the Messiah. He was highly respected by a large circle of friends. Members of his family say that financial worry and ill health combined to unhinge his mind.

AN OIL STILL EXPLODES.

THE IRON CAP, WEIGHING SEVERAL TONS, HURLED 150 FEET THROUGH THE AIR.

A loud explosion occurred yesterday morning in the oil works of Bush & Denslow, at the foot of Fortieth-st. There are fourteen oil stills, with a capacity of about 500 barrels each, and one of these exploded. The shock shattered the glass in the windows of houses near by, and caused several chimneys to fall. The iron cap of the still, which weighs several tons, was thrown 150 feet, but fell in a vacant yard. No one was hurt. The fire which followed the explosion was soon put out with chemical extinguishers, although fire engines were summoned. The loss was only $500.

THEY MEET AFTER FIVE YEARS.

A YOUNG WOMAN ACCIDENTALLY FINDS THE MAN AGAINST WHOM SHE SECURED A JUDGMENT FOR BREACH OF PROMISE.

About five years ago judgment for $5,000 was obtained against Peter Duffy by Miss Minnie Perry, a young woman living at No. 73 Powers-st., for breach of promise of marriage, but Duffy disappeared before the judgment was satisfied. Nothing was heard of him until last Sunday, when the young woman met him at Leonard and Devoe sts. She did not accost him, but followed him to see where he lived. At North Second-st., near Graham-ave., Duffy turned upon her, and, it is alleged, drew a revolver and threatened to kill her. The young woman learned later that Duffy lived at No. 176 Meserole-st., and caused his arrest. He was arraigned yesterday in the Ewen Street Police Court. When the magistrate learned that the young woman had followed Duffy, he dismissed the case. Deputy Sheriff Cadmus attempted to arrest Duffy as he was about to leave the courtroom, on the judgment executed in favor of Miss Perry. Considerable excitement followed, and Justice Watson called both Cadmus and his prisoner to the bar. He rebuked the deputy-sheriff for disturbing the court proceedings, and then ordered him out of court. Cadmus waited until Duffy came out, and then took him again into custody. He was later liberated on bail in the Sheriff's office. Miss Perry says she met Duffy a year before she brought the suit for damages.

GATHERED ABOUT THE TOWN.

A conference was held at the Mayor's office yesterday between the Mayor and Controller and the other Brooklyn Bridge Trustees, and the engineers of the Bridge and the elevated roads, in regard to the proposed plans for the permanent terminal station of the Bridge at Tillary-st. All the details were discussed. The result will be reported at a special meeting of Bridge trustees. A number of property owners in lower Fulton-st. protested to the Mayor yesterday against removing the Bridge terminal station from High-st. to Tillary-st.

The suit brought by Mrs. Margaret J. P. Thomas, a private detective, against the Rev. Philip Kenney, a priest, to recover $10,000 as damages for an assault in a quarrel at a boarding-house in DeKalb-ave., has been settled out of court. It is understood that no money consideration was paid.

The new Health Commissioner, Dr. Z. Taylor Emery, has appointed Dr. R. M. Wyckoff his deputy and Dr. George E. West secretary of the Health Department. Dr. Wyckoff was formerly Deputy Health Commissioner under Dr. Raymond.

The Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott gave an address upon "Reading and Reading Circles," under the auspices of the department of pedagogy of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences in the hall of the Adelphi Academy yesterday afternoon.

Not Quite a Fit.—Mrs. Oldtime—I do think these colleges might teach boys a little sense.

Neighbor—Don't they?

Mrs. Oldtime—No, they don't. I sent my grandson a nice, big, soft, warm feather bed for him to use this winter, and what do you think he wrote back? He said he was much obliged for that football suit, but it didn't quite fit.—(Street & Smith's Good News.

NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

MOUNT VERNON.

Mayor Brush, of Mount Vernon, on Wednesday lost his second child within the last three months. On that day Julia, a young and promising girl of fifteen, and his oldest daughter, became ill with severe hemorrhages, and lived only a few hours. The sympathy expressed by the citizens for Dr. and Mrs. Brush was a strong proof of the esteem in which the Mayor and his wife are held by the citizens, regardless of their politics. Dr. Brush was the first Mayor elected by the city, although Jared Sandford, the present Deputy State Superintendent of Public Instruction, was acting Mayor in the interim from the passage of the charter and the installation of Dr. Brush. His administration has been an honor to him and to the interests of the whole people.

NEW-JERSEY.

JERSEY CITY.

Detective John Clos, of Jersey City, was arraigned before Judge Lippincott yesterday, to answer to three indictments charging him with taking part in the scandals and outrages at the Guttenburg racetrack. Abraham Post became his bondsman. Clos says he was at the track on January 16, 1892; that he went there as an individual, not as an officer, and took no part in the police proceedings of that day. He was never there at any other time, he says, and only went then out of curiosity.

RUTHERFORD.

Mayor Shafer has called a public meeting of the residents of Rutherford for next Monday night, to consider means for alleviating the prevailing distress and suffering. A provisional committee of women, with Mrs. Frederick Hasbrouck as chairman, and Mrs. Charles H. Warner as secretary, is already doing effective work, as are various church organizations. In some of the smaller towns near Rutherford, there are keen privation and suffering. The cantata of "Esther," under the direction of Mrs. A. D. Foudray, had two successful representations on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, in the Union Club Auditorium, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Members of the cast and chorus included most of the well-known choir singers in Rutherford. The cantata will be repeated on Saturday night for the benefit of Mrs. Foudray.

ELIZABETH.

A verdict for $1,625 was given last night in the Union County (N. J.) Court against the Central Railroad Company, in the suit for damages brought against that corporation by Alexander M. Runyon, of Plainfield, one of the victims of the Greenville rear-end collision in December, 1887. Judge Van Syckel charged forcibly against the railroad company, and it occasioned surprise that the plaintiff did not get a larger verdict. He sued for $5,000.

RAHWAY.

The funeral of George W. Savage, who died at Dundee, Scotland, where he was United States Consul, took place yesterday from St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Rahway, the Rev. Roderic Pleasant, officiating. The burial was in Hazelwood Cemetery. The pallbearers were ex-Governor Robert S. Green, of Elizabeth; F. L. Stetson and E. L. Rogers, of New-York City; Cortland Parker, of Newark; G. H. Quackenbush and John A. Savage, of Philadelphia; Mayor J. J. Daly, Joseph R. Shotwell, of Rahway, and Mulford D. Valentine, of Woodbridge.

NEWARK.

"Dr." Henry R. Geiger, who was convicted of procuring the death of Lizzie Hill, eighteen years old, by malpractice, was sentenced by Judge Kirkpatrick yesterday to imprisonment in the penitentiary at hard labor for eighteen months. Mrs. Mellville H. Quimby, alias Alice Brown, who employed Geiger to do the work, is serving a sentence of one year in the penitentiary.

LONG ISLAND.

LONG ISLAND CITY.—John G. Johnson yesterday obtained a verdict of $5,000 for the death of his son, who was killed in the accident to the returning race train on the Long Island Railroad at the Parkville tunnel on June 29 last. The case was tried before Justice Gaynor in the Queens County Supreme Court, in Long Island City. The officers of the company disclaimed responsibility for the accident. They asserted that the train was taken possession of by a mob, which the train hands were powerless to control. They also set forth that the train was thrown off the track by the crowd standing outside and overbalancing the cars. One of their witnesses, Chief Engineer Ford, admitted that if the switch detector, which had been removed only a few days before, had been left in place, the accident would probably have been averted.

In the same court, Mrs. Yetta Rich, of New-York, obtained a verdict of $4,500 for the death of her husband, Marcus Rich, who was run down and drowned while out rowing in Hemstead Bay last summer by a vessel belonging to Henry A. Peck & Co., dealers in fertilizers.

FAR ROCKAWAY.—The trial of the charges of assault made by Franklin Norton, against Remington Vernam, growing out of the litigation now going on between the two men over the right of ownership of a strip of land between Far Rockaway and Arverne, was held yesterday, and Justice Seaman decided that Vernam was guilty of the charge, but suspended sentence. Vernam then swore out a warrant for Norton's arrest, charging that while driving by Norton's house recently shots were fired at him, striking his horse and wagon, and declaring that he believes Norton will kill him if the court does not intervene.

A SUICIDE IN THE TOMBS.

HENRY GELSKAU, UNDER SENTENCE TO PRISON FOR FOUR MONTHS, BRINGS POISON IN HIS STOCKINGS AND KILLS HIMSELF.

Henry Gelskau, who was sentenced on Wednesday by Justice Grady to four months in the penitentiary for assault on Annie Hurley, a six-year-old girl, committed suicide in the Tombs yesterday by taking oxalic acid.

About 7:30 a. m. one of the keepers noticed that Gelskau did not come out with the other prisoners for exercise, and he discovered him sick in his cell. The prisoner confessed that he had taken oxalic acid. Drs. Chelwood and Coffey, the prison physicians, after working over Gelskau for some time, declared him out of danger. But about 1 o'clock the man began to grow rapidly worse and died in a few minutes.

Gelskau was thirty-one years old and lived in Twenty-fifth-st. with his wife. The crime for which he was convicted was a most aggravated one, and the Court was inclined to be severe, but gave a light sentence because of Gelskau's wife's pleadings and his former good character.

Warden Fallon says Gelskau was thoroughly searched when brought to the Tombs, but that he secreted the poison with which he killed himself in the bottom of his socks. Up to the time of his conviction Gelskau bore a good reputation and was treasurer in several East Side benevolent institutions. Since his conviction Gelskau had seemed to feel his condition keenly.
